Chick Gandil Tells of Some Stirring Times in Land of Strife.

First Baseman Chick Gandil would like to be one of the Funston's troopers plunging into Mexico to chase Villa and his bandits. It isn't that the Cleveland first sacker is naturally bloodthirsty. But he has vivid memories of riots and near-riots in which Mexicans of the Villa bandit type made things hot for him back in 1907 when he first began his protessional baseball career in the Mexican mining country.

These stories all came out during the training period in New Orleans when Dr. F. J. Schmoldt of Cleveland sat on the bench with Chick at the Pelicans' Park and renewed an acquaintance that dated back to Chick's days as pitcher and first sacker for the Cananea team in the Mexican copper district.

Dr. Schmoldt's brother. Ray, also a Clevelander, was chemist at the Cananea mines in those days, and also played third base. A throw from Gandil and broken his finger just before the doctor came to visit him.

Newspaper extras announcing the campaign to take Villa dead or alive had just been brought into the ball park as the doctor and Chick shook hands. "Hemember the day you fought Mexican Pete, winner take all?" asked Dr. Schmoldt.

"How could I ever forget it?" answered Chick. Then Chick spun as follows:

Five bouts have already been arranged for the professional boxing tournament to be staged at the Arena next week by the Irish Patriotic Association. That he will be seen at his best there can be no doubt, for he will have opposed to him one of the best heavies in the business in Mike Fitzgerald. Hardly had it been announced that Levinsky was coming here when "Tommy" Ryan was swamped with applications for reservations, and indications are that the greatest crowd that ever attended a boxing tourney in Toronto will gather at the Arena next Wednesday night. There will be a delegation from New York and Philadelphia accompanying Levinsky, while a delegation from New York and Philadelphia accompanying Levinsky, while a bunch of Kansas fans will come along with Fitzgerald. Hamiltonians by the score will follow Pete Scott, who is the idol of the Ambitious City, while already two hundred Buffalonians have wired applications for seats. They are coming to see Halftown beat Cyclone Scott. At least, so they say. The latter, however, has the backing of every man in the 97th Batialion and is confident that he can take the measure of the redskin. Next Wednesday night will decide. Altho a newcomer in the National League, Manager Callahan of the Pittsburg Club is not averse to offering criticisms, writes David J. Davies in The Pittsburg Dispatch. Recently he declared that the coaching rules in baseball are too strict and that they should be modified. He believes the coacher should be given more leeway and that the rule which calls that player out who is touched or held by another member of his team, is a "foolish one." Said Callahan:

Under the existing conditions the officers of the Cance Association are likely to follow in the footsteps of the Cance and suspend for this acason. However, this will not be deason. However, this will not be described in Montreal, and to have been held in Montreal, and as the Easter regatts with success a year ago, it is hardly likely that they will endeavor to hold the annual regatta. Speeding towards him that backstop is guilty of interference, for the runner has no chance at all to touch the plate.

Hank O'Day has been in wrong several times in his long career. But once he was right. That was when he advocated, recently, a condition which would prevent the basebail backstop from squatting between the runner and the plate, while the ball speeds toward him, making it impossible for the player to reach the coveted scoring pan, writes Ed Wray in The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Ed Wray in The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The general public has rather exalted the catcher who pulls such stunts, on the theory that any player showing such devotion to his team that he is willing to incur injury, if he can halt the enemy, deserves a reward.

On the same theory, the boy that robs a bank to help a starving brother ought to be exalted.

In the instance of the backstop no new rule is really necessary, if officials would enforce the existence of regulations against interference. For interfering is precisely what Mr. Dead-Game backstop is doing, when he interposes his body, without the ball in his possession, ready for a bonafide attempt to tag an opponent. an opponent.

The rules should entitle the runner to a chance to touch the plate or the base; any condition which prevents this is illegal.

trator why Rousch was not sent to second.

"Git off the field and stay on the bench," said the umpire, pulling his watch on the Little Napoleon.

This performance gave McGraw the best laugh he had while on the training trip. Before the umpire had a chance to make any further breaks Hughie Jennings ran onto the field.

"Say, young man, send Rousch down to second," said Jennings. "If you give any more exhibitions of your ignorance in trying to show anybody up we'll throw you out of the park and Mac and I will ampire the game ourselves."

Chick Gandil was given quite a shock during one of the games of the Cleveland-Cincinnati series at New Orleans. Reaching second on a Cleveland player's hit, Chick was surprised to have Buck Herzog, manager of the Reds, say: "Chick, I just missed you by an cyclash this spring."

I just missed you by an eyelash this spring."

"What do you mean, missed me?" queried Gandil.

"As soon as I found out you were on the market I tried to buy you, but Cleveland beat me to it," answered Herzog.

"Well, I'm mighty glad that eyelash was in the way." said Gandil. "For, between you, that weather and those knockers in Cincinnati you'd have worn me down to a frazzle."

Which wasn't quite a compliment for Herzog, who has the reputation of "riding" his players.

Joe Benz, who was the first of the White Sox to report at Mineral Wells, was the hero of the town for many days. In fact, he had the honor of having a special kind of waltz named after him. The colored beliboys at the hotel, unaccustomed to being tipped when they took ice water up to the rooms, soon learned that Joe was good for a thin dime on such occasions.

So when the colored waiters staged a big dance one evening, the following was printed on the handbill used to advertise the entertainment:

"Joe Benz Weltz and Jelly Roll."

"That is certainly one I'll have to put into the book," said Benz when he saw it in a store window.

The Beaumont club of the Texas League thought it was signing a pitcher named May, who had played with Macon in the South Atlantic League. A player reported and showed nothing. Manager Jim Delahanty put him on the grill and he confessed he wasn't May, or not the May expected, at any rate. The can was immediately attached. Whether the real May was in on the deal or not does not appear.
