CANADA'S BRITONS
AT ANNUAL EVENTA Thousand Strong They Attend Service at Jarvis St.
Baptist Church.

A thousand strong, leaders and the rank and file of Great Britain's representative societies, the Sons of England and the Sons of St. George yesterday afternoon paraded from University avenue and College streets to Jarvis Street Baptist Church, where they listened intently to an impassioned address from Rev. T. T. Shields, pastor of that church, upon the heritage of Great Britain as a nation whose laws and whose ideals had ever been close to those of God. The gallery and the lower floor of the church were filled almost to capacity, and easily 1200 members, and friends attended the impressive services to do honor to the great name of the mother country. Among the many high dignitaries of the two associations present were: Sir Frederick Stupart, president of St. George's Society, with J. W. G. Boyd, W. H. Tippet, James Nicholson, Marmaduke Rawlinson, Magistrate Rupert E. Kingsford, Rufus S. Hodson, all of St. George's Society, and David Proctor, supreme secretary of the Sons of England; T. T. Warrington, Charles Meech, supreme treasurer; T. H. Carter, Halifax, supreme president, and Richard Evans, supreme past president of the society. A large delegation from the juvenile lodges of the S.O.E. lent a fine touch of national significance to the occasion. The Riverside Salvation Army Band led the procession as it made its way to the church. Grand Chaplain George Ball, in full regalia, marching immediately behind, the great society Bible laid open on his outstretched arms. The band, as its usual on such occasions, made a detour, and then re-formed, making a counter-march down the street, and finally returning to the church.

"Don't be afraid of the forces of Bolshevism in that grand old land," addressed the pastor to his audience. "I have the most profound confidence in the innate common-sense of the Britisher. He is an everlasting talker. Indeed, I think it is a profound education to spend a few hours with such opponents in the old-land of all the lands under the sun, but doubt not for a moment that in all the Britisher is governed by the sanest ideals of any races in the world. The speaker then touched upon his conversation in London with a Syrian who had traveled far and wide. "What did you think of Germany?" asked Dr. Shields of this man. "Huh, Germany, too much law," was the quick reply.

"And England, how about that country?"

"Huh, England, no law at all, at all. In England all mind own business."

No professor from any university in the world could have more accurately summed up the characteristics of Britain than this Syrian. "He is broken English, but true perspective," said the pastor, who pointed out that Great Britain had well exemplified that text in the Book of Deuteronomy, which said, "For what nation is there so great who hath God so nigh, and what nation hath judgments and statutes so righteous as this." The speaker pointed to the striking record of the two associations with their thousands of enlistments and hundreds of supreme sacrifices from Toronto alone.

"It is characteristic of the British race that its people are ever steady under fire, and often the fire of criticism," continued the pastor. "He is always ready to talk and generally speaking, he speaks to some purpose. There is really very little unity among Britishers, as much, I suppose, as between husband and wife, but, beware that none comes in between the family in its quarters. The speaker then went on to point out that the wealth of a nation consisted not in its vast resources, nor in its transportation facilities, nor in its great trading facilities, nor in these things, but by its proximity to God. Glance back over the history of Britain, and you will not say that there is no other explanation of our marvelous development than that God has ever been with us? Ask the American, and he will point to George Washington as the founder of his country; ask a German, and he will point to Bismarck as the great founder of his country. Unless we will continue to lift ourselves to God, Great Britain will not remain at the eminence among the nations she occupies today."

'BOY RUNS BLINDLY
INTO AUTOMOBILE

Jumping from a fence and running out on the roadway with his head down resulted in George Pollard, aged 6, of 23 Ruth road, being run down by a motor car and his right leg broken. The accident happened at the corner of Danforth avenue and Ruth street. The automobile was in charge of Cecil H. Fletcher, 105 East Gerrard street. The police stated that when the boy ran directly in front of the car, the bumping bar struck him, throwing him down and the wheels of the car passed over his leg. He was removed to the police ambulance to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, or itching. No an-Pricking required. No special operation required. Dr. Chas. C. McIntosh will relieve you at once and on certain cure you. See a box at all dealers. Ed. Edmonson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

RAILWAYS DO NOT FAVOR BELT LINEProposed New Toronto Service Depends on Commissioners and Local M.P.'s.

Mayor Church has he has done all he can to get Toronto suburban beltline service on the steam lines. He hands out a letter from President Beatty of the C.P.R. to the effect that his traffic experts say the service could be at a loss—that even the best of them on the C.P.R. the one from Montreal along Lake St. Louis to Vaudreuil and Port Fortune, strictly summer suburban services, make a loss. Also that the railway board are against such a service—the cost does not justify it.

The mayor further said on Saturday: "We appealed from the ruling of the railway board to the governor-in-council, and had an interview about the middle of April, with a committee of the cabinet, which was attended by the minister or railways, Sir George Foster and Sir Henry Drayton, who informed us that this was a matter for the board of railway commissioners to deal with. Since then I have taken the matter up again with the chairman of the railway board, and also the chiefs of the C. P. R. and the G. T. R., who say that nothing can be done, as the service would not pay. Mr. Carvel intimates that we could make application for a better service from some particular point, for instance, Mississauga, but we presented all the facts covering the whole ground at the last hearing, and we were turned down."

Continuing, Mayor Church said: "I have done all I can in this matter, and it is now up to our federal members to get something done. We have 15 members for this district at Ottawa, and there is also the board of trade. They all look to the city hall to get something done. If they don't wake up they will find the head office of the National Railways moving to Montreal, and it would not be a good thing for the country to have the headquarters of the two great national systems in one place. Opposition is developing also to the deepening of the St. Lawrence River, and this is something that calls for immediate attention. I intend to present to council on Tuesday a message

PLACE GIFTS ON
ARMY'S ALTARSelf-Denial Campaign in West
Toronto Totals
$914.85.

The Salvation Army Corps of West Toronto had a crowded audience last night, following a vigorous start upon their self-denial campaign. The ceremony of placing their gifts upon the altar was unique to the congregation, the body of the audience doing so while the bland played and the "songsters" took up the music while the bandmen had their turn. The amount of $914.85 was given as the result of tag-day in West Toronto yesterday. The official amount of the self-denial is to be given at the service next Sunday.

"I have not much to give, O Lord, but I owe all to Thee," prayed Capt. Currie of the Citadel. "Whatever we have, may we give God the best of it."

"Will a Man Rob God?" was the captain's text, taken from Malachi III, and answered in the same passage "with tithes and offerings."

"We rob God of time," said the speaker. "Time in which God has given us to prepare for eternity. We rob Him of love, of respect, of reverence. I don't like to hear people say: 'Oh, Gee!' They might as well say: 'Oh, Jesus!' for that is what they meant. I don't like to hear people say: 'Oh, darn.' They might just as well say: 'Oh, damn!' the whole thing, and be done with it, and let us know what side they are on. Side expressions are the curse of our country."

"We rob God of our children by our example," the preacher continued. "We say we will wait until they are 16 and then we will have them confirmed, and this, that and the other thing. The expert criminals of the world are those who were taught when they were young. A man will say that he will break his boy's neck if he finds him smoking, but he himself will not throw away the filthy pipe. So we rob God of our children by not teaching them by example."

The annual picnic will be held at High Park this morning.

PRESENT COLORS
TO BOY SCOUTSFifty-Fourth Troupe Honored
By Catholic Women's League.

Colors were presented yesterday afternoon to the 54th troop, Boy Scouts, by the Catholic Women's League, at their meeting in Columbus Hall. Scout Master Simms was in charge of the boys, who made a smart appearance as they lined up before the platform.

Two beautiful silk flags--the Union Jack and the gold fleur-de-lis on a field of green, together with the regulation scout uniform, were blessed by Archbishop McNeill and presented by the president of the league, Miss Gertrude Lawler, who explained the symbols of the flags. Thanks were given by the scout masters, on behalf of the boys, who added their appreciation by giving three hearty cheers. The newly formed troupe from St. Vincent De Paul parish were present as guests.

The good work expected from the scouts was defined by Mrs. Herbert Moore. Miss Dora Smith also spoke. In a brief address, the archbishop said he approved of the scouts as an educational movement, because such was needed at the present time. "I know of real homes in the country," said his grace, "where parents recognize their responsibility, but in the city homes are in the process of decay." Justice Latchford spoke on the same lines.

Representing Gen. Elmley, Capt. Ackerman expressed his pleasure at the ceremony he had witnessed and exhorted the lads to take pride in membership in the scouts.

Princess Radcliffe of the Normal School, congratulated the boys on their good fortune in having Mr. Simms as their scout master.

Among others present were: Col. H. J. Lamb, Col. Moore Cosgrave, Miss Hughes and Miss Quinn, representing the Montreal branch. His worship the mayor sent regrets at not being able to be present.

It is announced that Nursing Sister Margaret Macdonald, who had charge of all the Canadian nursing sisters overseas, will be the guest of the league at a luncheon at the King Edward early in June. The membership is now 1725.
