

increasingly feel that these are subordinate and the Bible supreme; that the points of difference between Churches must be of minor importance, and that the essentials are the truths which all find in the Bible. In conclusion, while it is manifestly a duty of the whole Church to circulate the Bible, so that millions may read in their own tongue the wonderful works of God, this duty is especially incumbent on the English-speaking Churches, for the Anglo Saxon race leads the van of the world in commerce, and in everything that tends to the material unification of mankind. Is it not then our duty to assist the spiritual unification of humanity, and seeing that this continent is destined to be the great home of English-speaking men and women, let us in Canada do our share of the work. Let us, according to the exhortations of the Chairman, follow the tide of emigration into the backwoods, and onward to vast untrodden plains, prairies and river courses in the North-West. With one hand let us do our duty to the pioneers of nations yet to be; with the other hand let us help the Parent Society to send the good seed to the teeming millions of the old world; and while both hands are thus at work, let our hearts and lips so reflect the Word, that all men shall see and hear through us, not a Deity that once manifested Himself in the world, but a present, living God and Saviour, "whose delights are still with the sons of men."

Colonel Moffat seconded the resolution, and it was carried.

After taking up the collection, and singing the hymn "Lord of all power and might,"

It was moved by Dr. Geikie, seconded by Mr. Warring Kennedy, and carried:—"That the hearty thanks of this meeting be presented to the Dean and Churchwardens of St. James's Cathedral, for the use of that Church on Sabbath evening last, and to the Rev. W. S. Rainsford, for the instructive sermon which he preached in the interests of the Society on that occasion."

It was moved by Mr. Herbert Mortimer, seconded by Mr. John Harvie, and carried:—"That the hearty thanks of this meeting be presented to the Pastor and Trustees of this Church for its use on the present occasion, and to the Choir for their valuable services in connection with this Annual Meeting."

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Castle, and the proceedings terminated.
