One of Yesterday's Jurors, Called Again, Says He Could Not Vote Conviction

MURDOCH EVOUNG was again arraigned in the Circuit Court this morning for trial on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the fatal injury to Police Constable Stephen P. McCavour on New Year's Day in the Seaman's Institute, the jury in the first trial having disagreed yesterday afternoon, standing 11 for conviction and one for acquittal, and having been discharged.

The new jury was selected and Hon. Dr. John B. Baxter delivered the Crown address. At 12 o'clock the jury was taken to the Seaman's Institute to inspect the premises. On their return to the Court House, the trial was adjourned until 2:30 p. m. today.

THUNBERG AT LAKE

Thunberg was on his way to Lily Lake before 10 o'clock. Charles Gorman, local skating champion, was out and his workout amply demonstrated that he will be a powerful factor in the great battle coming next week. Gorman is in fine shape, according to observers, and is skating fast to observe, and is skating fast to observe, and is skating fast to observe.

CITY GIVES WATCH

It was announced this morning that the city would give a watch, suitably engraved, to the winner of the big meet here. The watch is a costly one, being a split second one as well as a time watch, and will prove very useful to any speed-skater.

HOTELS FILLING UP

Local hotels are rapidly running out of reservations for the big meet, and citizens who have lodgings for use are requested to get in touch with the skating headquarters—Main 336—and notify them of their capacity. A list will be made up and sent to the various hotels and in this manner any overflow will be handled. The skaters will stay at the Royal.

MASSUR SECURED

Thunberg has secured the services of an expert massur, in the person of a Mr. Jaspersen, who is in the city at present. He carries credentials from the Danish government and Thunberg is well-satisfied with his work. Jaspersen was a medal student in Holsten and came out to this country looking for work to put him through college. He is an accomplished linguist as well.

PAPERS WILL CENSOR

BUCHAREST, Jan. 21.—The government and the newspaper publishers have concluded an agreement whereby the publishers will do their own censoring in the spirit demanded by the government. In the event of this failing to work, the censorship will be re-established.

CANADA'S TRADE SHOWS GOOD GROWTH

Total in 9-month period $296,000,000 Ahead of Same Span Last Year

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—Total Canadian trade for the nine months, ended December of the fiscal year, was $1,758,000,000, or $269,000,000 more than in the corresponding nine months of the previous fiscal year. Export trade again showed the greatest increase. Domestic exports totalled $1,030,000,000, an increase of approximately $202,000,000. Imports were $728,000,000, an increase of $67,000,000. Foreign merchandise exported was $934,000,000, practically the same as in the previous nine months period.

NEW JURY NAMED TO TRY EVOUNG Market For Maritime Fish In Prospect In Britain

Suggestion To The Ladies

Oh, ye who would brave the tempests of oceans and journey great distances to view the art of masters; come ye with me and gaze in silent awe upon a masterpiece of color, unattainable to the brush of a Raphael, beyond the fondest hopes of a Whistler; a living, pulsing, natural masterpiece of the great outdoors. Close your eyes and travel with me a few days hence. Stand beside me here on the snow-covered ice of Lily Lake. Turn your eyes towards the eastern banks. What a sight!

In the background the varying greens of the wooded hills, mottled here and there with the brown tints where the reckless hand of Autumn tore from the deciduous giants and saplings their verdant summer mantle. The virgin snow, nestling around their roots, stretching its fleecy blanket down to the crystal surface, shielding from view the dun, rocky slopes.

In the middle foreground an animated galaxy of color, ever changing, ever growing, glowing by the simple richness of the natural background and greens and yellows and purples of Milady's out-door attire—spreading across the quiet landscape the joy of living, the irresistible magnetism of red-blooded sport.

Nearer still, set in an elliptical frame of another rainbow-tinted mass, the hard-frozen space of tourney; the graceful, swift passage of the contestants, matched, one against the other, in hard-fought battles of speed, endurance, strategy.

Hear the staccato bark of the pistol! They're off! The massed humanity on the slopes stirs, alert. Every eye follows the fleeting figures. The chaotic scramble of the get-away, swinging into the long, easy stride as the skaters gain momentum. The fine spray of carved ice at the turn as the keen blades grip the glass-like surface and the well-trained muscles guide stretch in long, gliding strokes and again the turn. The thinning out, the leaders maneuvering for advantage and then—climax of climaxes—the final dash to the tape with inches only separating the speediest, and the thrill of victory—and sporting resignation of defeat.

See now above; the color scheme breaks into a living, weaving tumult as the cheers rise and rise and go echoing and re-echoing across the immaculate snows to the tree-topped slopes and back again.

That, friends, is my masterpiece—and yours if you will. Three times will it be painted and three times will it be wiped out by itself. Yours is the hand to help paint it and treasure in memory the image of its splendor. Won't you?

Ladies, please! Put on your glowing colors—your reds and blues and purples—get into the rainbow and be part of it, so that the scene will be one of vivid picturesqueness.

Speech Debate CONTINUED IN COMMONS

A. J. Doucet, Kent, N. B., Resumes This Afternoon ACCUSES KING

Declares Premier Evaded Maritime Issue in Pleading Ignorance of Rights

OTTAWA, Jan. 21.—The debate on the address in the House of Commons will be continued this afternoon by A. J. Doucet, Conservative for Kent, N. B., who had not concluded his speech when the House rose at 6 o'clock last night. The debate followed along the orthodox party lines yesterday. It was confined to Conservatives and Liberals, the tariff and Maritime rights presenting whatever features there were.

Mr. Doucet accused Premier King of evading the issue in connection with Maritime rights by saying he did not know what these rights were, whereas Mr. Meighen gave the people of those provinces to understand that he knew what those grievances were and proposed to meet them.

CANADIAN GOAL

Mr. Doucet argued that if Canada could spend $115,000,000 on anthracite coal from the United States, it should be possible to devise some scheme whereby Canadian coal could be brought to the Central Canadian markets.

The tariff had long been made a political football by the old political parties, F. G. Sanderson, Liberal for South Perth, Ontario, told the house. He thought the cities and towns had been stampeded in the last election by the "higher protection" slogan. Agriculture was the basic industry and if the export of natural products increased so that the farmers prospered, the manufacturers and others would automatically benefit. The proposed advisory board would bring this question down to a sane common sense basis.

PERLEY SPEAKS

Sir George Perley, Conservative for Argenteuil, Que., recalled that it was his first speech in parliament for twelve years. He supported the Conservative policy in the tariff and asked why Premier King had not run in Bagot, Quebec, instead of Prince Albert, Sask., when the Quebec seat became vacant.

J. P. Howden, Liberal, St. Boniface, Man., stated that if the transportation problem of Canada could be solved so that the primary products of the Dominion could be advantageously moved to the central markets of Canada, a great deal of this country's difficulties would be removed.

CANADIAN FURS IN DEMAND IN EUROPE

Buyers From Old World Bid High For Pelts at Montreal Sale

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The popularity of Canadian furs among buyers from many parts of Europe, was again in evidence yesterday in the rooms of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, when representatives from large commercial houses in several old world capitals bid high for stone and baum marten and for silver fox. As compared with the sales of last September, the prices offered yesterday on other, Russian sable and ordinary marten were unchanged. Today red fox, fisher and mink will come under the hammer.

There are the last collection of pelts to be put up during the January sale.

NELSON MAN HURT IN LUMBER WOODS

Logs Break Away at Landing, Striking Him in the Chest

Special to The Times-Star. NEWCASTLE, Jan. 21.—Guy Handley of Nelson was badly injured about seven o'clock this morning while at work for the Wm. Sullivan Lumber Co. in the woods about two miles back of Nelson. The injured man was working at a landing. The logs broke away, striking him on the chest. Dr. R. J. Dolan of Nelson was rushed to the scene and has taken the injured man to the Hotel Orieu at Chatham where the extent of his injuries are not yet known. Mr. Handley is married with one child. He is about 23 years of age.

Sent To Prison

Dr. Helmut P. Heller, president of the Oriental University, of Washington, D. C., was sentenced to serve two years in prison and fined $1,000 on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Dr. Heller was head of an alleged "diploma mill."

Shoots Friend After Losing Rummy Game

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Jan. 21.—Ignorant, it is said, at losing a friendly game of rummy for a cent a point, William Hillier, a 62-year-old blacksmith, hurled a water pail at Thomas Norton Manley, in the latter's shack, secured a shotgun and fired at close range. Manley ducked when he saw the gun barrel, but the charge hit him in the right shoulder and he fell unconscious to the floor. He may die.

Hillier was kept under observation of the townspeople until the arrival of the provincial police, who placed him under arrest. He will be held pending the outcome of Manley's wounds.

DEATH VERDICT FOR WARTIME SPY'S SON

Ignatius Lincoln Found Guilty of Murder of Brewer's Salesman

DEWIS, Wiltshire, England, Jan. 21.—Ignatius Lincoln, 23, said to be the son of the wartime spy, Triblich Lincoln, was found guilty today and sentenced to death for the murder of Edward Richards, a brewer's salesman at Trowbridge on Christmas eve. Lincoln, who was a bombardier in the Royal Horse Artillery, with a fellow soldier, Ian Stewart, was alleged to have shot Richards, while he was on his way home from the Christmas festivities. Lincoln emptied his service revolver at him. Richards was known to carry large sums of money frequently.

Lincoln testified at his trial that he had been drinking and in a letter to his fiancée from prison said he had needed money to buy Christmas presents.

Lincoln gave his full name as Ignatius Amanuel Naphthil Triblich Lincoln, but he enlisted as John Lincoln. Stewart was acquitted on the murder charge but rearrested for burglary.

Buried in Snow and Gravel Slide; Dies

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Edinburgh Royal College of Physicians has removed the suspension from the register of the college which was imposed 18 years ago on Dr. Asham because the doctor acted as an amateur in the case of Herbert Parker when the medical profession had defamed an unqualified practitioner.

Contraband Moonshine Grows Horns; Lizard Found In Jar

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—There may be something after all in this notion that liquor is a concoction of the devil. Two half-gallon jugs of moonshine held a valence in the prohibition laboratory here have grown a pair of horns.

Authorities think the liquor was found a pickled lizard.

Brig. - General Garnet Hughes, Announces Plan in Ottawa

1,000 TONS A WEEK

Former Canadian Officer, Now of London, Sees Great Possibilities in Plan

Special to The Times-Star. OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 21.—Another evidence of the possibility of establishing a profitable trade in fish between the Maritime Provinces and the United Kingdom is furnished in the presence here of Brig.-General Garnet Hughes, now of London, England, and until a few months ago associated with Hugh Green.

General Hughes, convinced of the big future for fish trade across the Atlantic, is seeking arrangements whereby he can be assured of 1,000 tons of fish weekly for shipment to England. He states that he has about completed negotiations for a line of four vessels suitable for the carriage of fish in cold storage across the Atlantic.

POLICE SLAYER IS TAKEN IN ST. LOUIS

Martin Durkin Admits Killing Government Agent; Denies Two Other Crimes

CHICAGO, an. 21.—Martin J. Durkin, police slayer, captured in St. Louis with his 18-year-old bride yesterday, was in the hands of his prosecutors today and the Government has joined with the state authorities to bring him to trial as possible.

His relatives were reported making an effort to obtain Clarence Darrow, noted criminal attorney to defend him. Durkin freely admitted killing Edward Shanahan, Government agent, on October 11, but said he thought he was a robber. The death of Police Sergeant Gray and of Lloyd Austin, in whose flat the trap was laid, he attributed to police bullets in the wild shooting that ensued when he appeared with Betty Werner.
