IN THE CHURCHES

The services at the Waterloo Street Baptist church on Sunday were conducted by Rev. Dr. P. R. Hayward of Toronto. The pastor, Rev. F. H. Wentworth, has been absent on his vacation the last two Sundays and the congregation has been very fortunate in being able to secure so eloquent a preacher as Dr. Hayward. Rev. Myles McCutcheon was the preacher at the morning and evening services at the Main street Baptist church yesterday. The subject of his morning sermon was "Not of this World," and of his evening sermon, "The Church of God." Both sermons were listened to with much interest.

Rev. James McGovern, S. J., was in the city over Sunday, a guest of Bishop LeBlanc in Waterloo street. Father McGovern was a former St. John man, having been born here. His father, James McGovern, will be remembered by the older residents of the Cathedral parish. Father McGovern delivered two eloquent sermons in the Cathedral yesterday, speaking at the 9 o'clock mass and again at 11:30. Father McGovern was listened to with much interest.

Rev. Gordon Kierstead, formerly of this city, preached at both services in the Central Baptist church yesterday. He left St. John some thirty-three years ago, and is now connected with St. Peter's College, a famous Jesuit institution in New Jersey.

Rev. Robert Burgess Fraser, who was ordained in the cathedral recently, celebrated his first mass in the cathedral yesterday morning.

In the course of his sermon in the mission church of St. John Baptist, yesterday, Rev. H. E. Bennett paid a tribute to the memory of Edward Lee, the naval cadet who was drowned near Goudville Point last week.
