LEGITIMISTS PUZZLED.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE DUKE OF ORLEANS A PLEA.

Report that He Will Be Tried, Convicted and Executed Out of the Country.

Paris, Feb. 10.—The Legitimist party has been greatly bothered over the little dilemma presented to them by the scrap into which the Duke of Orleans has precipitated himself, and is unhappy at the ridiculous spectacle of a prince who has provoked a foolish agitation at a moment when there was no good reason for any agitation whatever, and nothing to be gained by making one. Yet, while they feel that they are restrained from giving vent to any such sentiment by the thought that it would be less majestic for them to admit that the heir of all the Bourbons is not the wisest of men. In their frame of mind they have been led in vain of somebody to blame for the prince's adventure, and are now inclined to come out strongly, as they have found at least two persons upon whom they can lay the fault. These persons are the Duchesse d'Uzes and the Duke de Lorraine. The Duke de Lorraine is the comrade of Orleans, and the Duchesse d'Uzes is the mother-in-law of the Duke de Lorraine. It is admitted that a foolish ambition to figure as an organizer of events inspired the duchesse, and that, working upon the younger pretender Duke de Lorraine, she set him on this folly. The moral that the Republicans draw from this is to point to the trouble-some times when more famous Bourbon princes were puppet attached to strings pulled by some intriguing and ambitious woman, and to reflect that the Bourbons of today are the same as those of other days.

It is admitted though that M. de Pradine's motion in the Deputies was a foolish step, because it has made the imprisonment of the young duke a party question. If the case had been left to the general good nature of the people, there would hardly have been a harsh thought about it. Opinion had already shaped itself. Even if a plot had been shown to exist, it would have been laughed at like the plot of a comic opera, and the government would have been solved of responsibility for anything more than a formal conviction, to be followed by a pardon. But the motion and vote in the deputies have changed all that. It presents the duke as the thin edge of a movement for repeal of all the laws that restrict the Bourbon pretensions in Canada and elsewhere. Consequently, the government will not, it believed, pardon the duke immediately after sentence. He must undergo at least part of the sentence assigned by the law, and may, perhaps, be amnestied with other offenders on July 14.

It is reported that the government has decided that the Duke of Orleans shall be sentenced to two years' imprisonment whereupon President Carnot will immediately pardon him, and he will be escorted to the frontier and shown out of the country. The Duke d'Amale will provide conduct to defend the Duke of Orleans at his trial.

UNDER SECRETARY FERGUSON SPEAKS.

The Relations Between the British and Portuguese Governments now Friendly.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—In the House of Commons today, Sir James Spence, under secretary for the foreign office, stated that the papers concerning the Anglo-Portuguese dispute, relative to the territory of Olivenca, which will soon be presented to parliament. They would serve to affirm that the dispute was largely dispelled in the apprehension which is causing the hostile feeling now manifested against the English by the Portuguese. The relations between the British and Portuguese governments, he said, are friendly. Portugal had suggested the arbitration of the questions in dispute but England was of the opinion that the subject was not one for arbitration.

A LOUD RUSH.

SCHEMEL FOR SITES IN THE GREAT ROCK RESERVATION.

Mr. Tamm and Buildings Staff Set the Covered Territory at the Filing of a Gas-Money Completion.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 12.—A floorer special from Chamberlain, S. D., says that report of a canon this afternoon started the crowd of people camped here, awaiting an opportunity to get upon the Sioux reservation lands, which turned out to be the signal for a crowd of town site boomers, who were secured in the heavy timber on American land, to get upon the covered bottom on the west side of the river. Teams, with loads of lumber, were at once started on a dead run on the ice across the river, but it was plainly evident that the local town site boomers had secured an important advantage by reason of their close proximity to the bottom lands, many other boomers, who were nearly 100, had been placed as a guard to prevent any premature invasion, but they stood dumbly on the river bank, watching the great and irresistible rush for the reservation. A small vessel sighted the moving of a large building, under which had been placed the other organized boomers, like the other wagons, was pulled across the river by galloping horses. It took the forces at the bottom for the entire sections on the valuable bottom to be literally covered with claimants, and it will take a score of Philadelphia lawyers to solve the problem as to who are the rightful owners. The local town site boomers undoubtedly secured an advantage over the other organized boomers, as a number who intend to secure home-stead filings, if possible, which, if persons will, will complicate the matter to an extent as to result in a protracted legal struggle.

The Ice Boomers.

A despatch from Kennebec, Me., says that the ice houses along the Kennebec are more than half filled, 600,000 tons having been harvested to date, and the work is being pushed forward with all possible despatch. In anticipation of the shortage additional ice houses are being built up and all the large and small companies will stock ice, while every available spot and field along the river is being taken up by ice-men. Operators from New York and other points are here by the score, holding privileges so as not to be entirely left out of the business.
