SCOPE OF CIVIL SERVICE BILL

MEASURE WILL GIVE GENERAL SATISFACTION

Land to Be Sold on Settlement and Cultivation

Principles.

Two measures of the first magnitude were promoted in the House of Com- perous home." mons last week, says the Ottawa Free ciple of entry by competitive examination under the control of a commis- good land." sion, removable, like the auditor-genlands act and amend them, so as to enable homesteaders in the dry belt The lead bounties bill continues the of the two new provinces to pre-empt somewhat more advantageous terms to the producers.

civil service bill is a measure which will give general satisfaction. It has the support of the opposition who are almost completely satisfied with it, their only objection being that it is not to be immediately applied to the outside as well as the inside service. But this objection has not much Jack Hickey Pitches Great weight. Great Britain herself never attempted to introduce the competitive system all/at once; and there are still persons doing government work who more have been and never will be boundter it. The completity examples the completity exam never have been and never will be brought under it. The competitive exinspectorships, and such like appointments, where the requirements of knowledge are prietty well known, can be fairly gauged by a number of well directed questions; but in cases where knowledge and experience of a special or technical nature are demanded it is often best to pick up a man who has proved himself in the rough and tum-ble of the busy world outside the clois-tered security of a government office. The general work of the inside service is capable of definite classification; and it, will, therefore, be the first to come is capable of definite classification; and it, will, therefore, be the first to come inder the benefits of the bill. The ex-perience gained in applying it to the finside service will be used to guide the government in gradually bringing the outside service under the same condi-tions. A branch of the outside service will be avelowed as a super service will be over the same condi-tions. A branch of the outside service will be avelowed as a super service wil will be reviewed, so to speak, and sur-veyed preparatory to classification; then the tests to meet the various appointments within the several grade will have to be devised; and, on this being done, an order-in-council will issue bringing the branch under the provisions of the bill. This is the only prudent course; and the adoption of i signifies a more sincere desire to make the bill a success than would a hasty application of it to all branches of the service, with the inevitable consequence of dissatisfaction among government employees themselves and a possible failure of the whole scheme for cutting out political influence in the filling of public offices. The commission is to have a genera certifying duty in the case of all special appointments and all temporary help: and a minister may, at any time, i woke its aid to report and investigate on the organization of his department and the conduct and efficiency of his officers, clerks, and other employees The commission will, therefore, be of great aid to the ministers, and help them to keep the service up to the scratch. A minister is often unable to do this, because of the many calls on JILTED, SHE TAKES MORPHINE. his time. In fact, there is no greater position of minister of the crown; and no one with a weak constitution or a liking for ease should ever aspire to it. The land bill, in so far as the new proposal contained therein is concerned, is a revised edition of the bill intro-duced last session. The land which a miles of rail to Hudgon Bay, which, at took polson upon learning he had gone $30,000 a mile, is estimated to cost $15,-000,000. The total value of the 14,000,-000 acres is over $40,000,000. So that ample provision is being made for the new railroad; and the general treasury will not be called upon to contribute

The land is to be sold on settlement and cultivation conditions. With this policy Messrs. R. S. Lake and John Herron are not one. Mr. Lake thinks cultivation is enough. The purchaser would thus be able to stay on his own farm and send a man to break up a few acres on the purchased homestead which, in the end, he would probably sell. This would be the thin end of that species of absentee landlordism which has brought about all the trouble under which Ireland has been laboring, and sent bill, he throws open only those in and about the country known as the ALBERNI SEEKS dry belt. Messrs. Herron and Lake must, therefore, have changed their opinions; and Hon. Geo. E. Foster, from whom, of course, no one ever expects political consistency, seems to have changed too. He is now a blatant champicn of the pioneer, who, he thought last year, was almost too well off. Listen to this:

"You can go from one end of the west to the other and you cannot find any plea that the poverty and hard-ship and disturbance and difficulty of the settler makes it necessary for this country to say to him: We will give you another large addition by way of benefice, we will add largness to gift. (From Thursday's Daily). Judgment has been rendered by Judge Dole, of the United States District court in the case of the claim made by the Com-mercial Pacific Cable Company against the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for services rendered to the steamship Manchuria by the cable steamship Restorer, Capt. Basil Combe. The claim of the Cable Company for the salvage of the Manchuria, which went on the rocks at Makapun Point in August, 1906, was for 300,000, and Judge Dole awards $61,000.
