

POOR DOCUMENT

THE ALBERT STAR, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 26, 1894.

Locals.

—Portland, Oregon, has been visited by a million and a half dollar fire.

—The Albert Manufacturing Co's plant mill was started again the first of the week.

—A cargo of 2,420 cases of canned blueberries was sent from Lacombe, N.S., to Portland, Maine.

—The body of Fred. Priest, one of the Primrose victims, was found at Chance Harbor on Friday.

—On Monday R. J. Duffy's livery stable and Marks' carriage factory, Moncton, were consumed by fire.

—The Alma Coal Mining Co., last week, struck a twelve inch seam of coal in the shaft they are sinking.

—The Catholic picnic, recently held at Petteducul under the auspices of Rev. Fr. Carson, netted about $250.

—A change will be made on Monday next in the running of the Salisbury & Harvey railway trains. For further particulars see time table in our next week's issue.

—The bark Queen of the Fleet, Capt. Grafton, went ashore at Apple River in a thick fog on Friday morning. She was not off next tide without much damage.

—ORGANS REPAIRED.—Persons having organs that need cleaning or repairing will profit by applying to B. Beaumont, Albert, who attends to this kind of work at low rates.

—An entertainment will be given in the New Hall Hillboro' on Saturday evening Sept. 29th. A very interesting program will be presented. For further particulars see posters.

—The houses of Hon. H. R. Emmerson and Geo. W. Chant, who were broken into on Friday morning and a quantity of provisions stolen. Two escaped convicts are supposed to be the culprits.

—We are requested by the engineer of the passenger train on the Salisbury & Harvey railway, to notify all persons who have cattle (not white ones) grazing on the said railway, to have them painted white or side lights put on them, as it is very difficult for him to see them on dark nights.

—Those who attended the entertainment in the hall at Salisbury Saturday, spent a very pleasant and enjoyable evening. The readings given by Miss Addie Jump were received with hearty applause. The band also favored the audience with several selections of their excellent music.

—The public and particular the musical public will be pleased to note that K. Beaumont has secured the agency of the celebrated "Mendelssohn" Pianos. Those desiring a first-class instrument would do well to call on him or communicate with him in reference to price and terms. Read his "ad" in this issue.

Hopewell Cape.

Alexander Black paid the village a visit on Monday.

The two brothers, Capt. Johanneau sailed on Thursday last.

Miss Sara Rogers went to Halifax on Saturday, for her vacation.

Justice Wright is kept pretty busy issuing summonses and entering up judgments.

R. B. Bennett, barrister, of Chatham, who has been visiting his father, goes to Halifax on Wednesday and thence home.

Rev. Mr. Frame preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening and will return to his studies at Dalhousie next week.

Our village is to furnish the Diocese Court at Fredericton with a case at the October sittings, the papers having been served on Saturday.

Vincent C. King of the firm of V. C. & C. V. King, visited the village on Thursday last looking after the interests of the firm in this part of the county.

The Queen of the Fleet which was reported ashore at Apple River, passed up and is laying in the stream near Stewart's wharf. It is proposed to put her on the blocks for the purpose of repairing injuries received while ashore.

The Teachers' Institute for Albert county met here on Thursday and Friday last and was attended by about forty-three teachers, the largest attendance at any meeting. The sessions were very interesting and the public meeting on Thursday evening was well attended considering the inclemency of the weather.

A. C. M. Lawson of the new school, president and the next meeting is to be at Dawson Settlement on the third Thursday in September next. The papers read and the discussions on them were very instructive.

Alma.

The sch. Clarine, Teare, is loading with barrels for Boston.

Rev. R. A. Colpitts, of Dear Island, spent a few days here last week.

Miss Ullia and Eva Colpitts, of Pleasant Vale, are visiting their uncle here.

Suth. Stewart is making extensive repairs to his house, he has removed the old roof and added another story.

W. Rommel, wife and son Ernest started last Wednesday for a four weeks' cruise through the United States.

The mill of the A. L. & S. B. Co., began sawing on Monday of this week. The Point Wolfe mill has been down for several days, on account of some of the machinery being broken, and new machinery being brought in and installed from the foundries.

Geo. Marven, T. E. Colpitts and Miss Clara Foster, of the Alma school attended the Teachers' Institute at the Cape last week. They report a large attendance of the teachers, and about all of the teachers between Alma and the Cape present, except those of Harvey Creek school.

Meeting of the Teachers' Institute.

The teachers of Albert County met in annual session, at Hopewell Cape, on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 20th and 21st. The following teachers enrolled themselves as members of the Institute:

E. C. Copp, Beaver Brook, J. E. Dean, Albert, L. M. Irving, Riverside, Beatrice Stevens, Salem, Jennie Irving, Hillboro', Belle Dryder, Lower Hillboro', Y. Cliffe Dobson, Curryville, J. G. Dawson, Dawson Settlement, Clara A. Foster, Alma, N. W. Brown, Hopewell Cape, T. E. Colpitts, Alma, A. C. M. Lawson, Hopewell Hill, Frank Milton, Albert Mines, Ella K. Moore, Middle Coverdale, Sophia M. Peck, Lower Cape, Jane Moore, Hopewell Hill, Lillie Stevens, Upper Coverdale, Oceana Crosby, Irving Settlement, Annie Derry, West River, Evelyn R. Bennett, Hopewell Cape, Amy C. Peck, Hopewell Hill, Robert J. Colpitts, Mayfield, Lena B. Atkinson, Germantown Lake, Mary B. Stiles, Chemical Road, Ella Keirstead, New Horton, Nellie A. Stevens, Nixon, Emma Price, Osborne Corner, Horace S. Goddard, Edin' Corner, Geo. H. Marven, Hillboro', W. M. Burns, Hillboro', W. Dawson, Surrey, Eva Downey, Lake Road, Harriet L. Clifford, Lake Road, Mary E. Colpitts, Berryton, Clara A. Colpitts, Edin', Mary E. Bacon, Rosevale, Druella A. Tingley, Harvey, Belle Lynde, Hopewell Cape, Robert J. Colpitts, Mayfield, Annie McAnnesey, Little River, Arthur J. MacNaughton, Salisbury, M. F. J. Fillmore, Waterford, Mary E. Goddard, Coverdale.

The president, Wm. M. Burns, gave an address showing the responsibility of the teachers' work. Prof. Rhodes gave an interesting lesson with black-board demonstrations on "Two Factors and their Product."

At the Thursday afternoon session, T. E. Colpitts, chairman of committee on prizes, reported the following candidates who wrote the entrance examinations in July, as the successful competitors of the prizes offered by the Institute.

Those working first papers are—C. Archie Moore, Hopewell Hill; Carrie L. Anderson, Waterford; Annie L. Keirstead, Alma. Second class—A. Laura Peck, Hopewell Hill; Ella T. Forbes, Germantown; Hattie L. Ramsey, Alma. Third class—Susan Daley, Albert; Louisa S. Colpitts, Alma; N. Tilly Stevens, Salem. Junior Leaving—Karl Duffy, Hillboro'.

A. C. M. Lawson read a paper on "Facts." In this paper, he showed to teachers their duties in regard to school furniture, and how by different means they might improve it. He also pointed out to rate payers their duties. This paper was followed one on "Notes on Teachers" by J. E. Dean, dwelling on what a teacher is, what to teach, and how you are to teach. The paper was discussed by many members of the Institute.

The evening session was not largely attended, owing to the inclemency of the weather. At this session A. C. M. Lawson read that part of the paper on "Facts" that referred especially to rate payers. J. H. Dickson then spoke referring to the emulation arising from the giving of prizes to pupils. He also pointed out the fact that teachers could be the means of many reforms. The next speaker Prof. Rhodes, advised the teachers to become better informed on the different subjects that they had to teach. Inspector R. P. Stevens spoke on his relation to the teachers and the people. He strongly emphasized the necessity of the best teaching possible in the primary grades. F. W. Brown spoke for a short time on practical education.

At the Friday morning session, Robert J. Colpitts gave an interesting paper on arithmetic, with black-board illustrations. This paper was discussed by many teachers. Inspector Stevens now spoke to the teachers, putting out to them the benefit to be derived from taking educational magazines, and carefully reading them.

At the fifth session N. W. Brown read a paper on "Our Schools" showing the necessity of physical education, and the conditions necessary for the development of the intellectual.

The officers for the ensuing year are: A. C. M. Lawson, President; Miss Ella K. Moore, Vice-President; Wm. M. Burns, Secretary; M. F. J. Fillmore, Treasurer; and Sophia M. Peck as additional members of the executive.

The answering of questions was next taken up and proved both interesting and instructive. A resolution, moved by N. W. Brown, seconded by A. C. M. Lawson, was passed in favor of a Teachers' Union, and a committee of three was appointed to place this matter before the next session of the Provincial Institute.

A vote of thanks of the Institute extended to the teachers and people of Hopewell Cape for their kindness and hospitality to the managers of the S. & H. and Albert Southern Railway, for free return tickets; and to the teachers who prepared papers for the Institute.

The Institute is to meet at Dawson Settlement in its next annual meeting.

Albert.

Mrs. S. C. Murray and son went to Sussex on Monday.

J. N. Wood and wife leave for Arizona next Tuesday.

Harry Reid, of St. John, spent Sunday and Monday at his old home, Hopewell.

A horse belonging to Extra Stiles dropped dead on the street, last Friday. Report says that one of our leading young men is about to take a life partner.

The body of the unknown man, that was found at Germantown Lake, was buried last Thursday.

Mrs. J. N. Smith, who has been visiting her parents in Charlotte County, returned home last week.

The Frontier House, Thomas Peck proprietor, has been repainted by Thomas Fullerton which adds much to its appearance.

A True Story of Capt. Kidd's Treasure in New Jersey.

Sixty years ago an old colored man, who lived with a farmer named Sutton, at East Creek, had a dream which seemed to mean something. He dreamed that he was upon Seven Mile Beach, now named Avalon, and that he came to the place where Capt. Kidd had come ashore, and buried a large amount of treasure. The spot was designated by a group of three marked trees beneath which, he was told, there much money lay. The next day he related his dream, and believed if any one would go over to the beach, they would find the treasure just as he described it. Finally a party of men agreed to test the matter, and going down to the meadows at Townsend Inlet, took a boat and sailed down the thoroughfare to the landing on the beach. Arriving in good time to make a search, according to the old man's directions, for the clump of marked trees. These they had but little difficulty in locating, for there they were, three marked trees. Acting on superstitious belief that the digging for treasure must be done at midnight, the men waited for that dismal hour and began their work. Sure enough after digging some three feet beneath the surface on the spot indicated by the dream, (this is the story they told on arriving home), they struck something that seemed like a partially decayed iron-bound box. Whispers went round, and expectancy was at its height, when some supernatural influence seemed to strike them with terror, and paralyzed their minds to such a degree, that in fear and trembling they gave up the search and fled. Whether the money was really there, or has ever been recovered, none seem to know.

Obituary.

Died at Surrey, A. Co., Sept. 23, Deacon R. T. Gross, aged 58. Our brother had never rallied from an attack of his grippe he had last winter, but gradually failed up till last Sabbath when God called him to the rest above. He professed faith in Christ when yet a young man, and at the time of the organization of the Valley church was chosen as deacon. This office he filled with marked ability and Christian faithfulness. By his removal we are caused a great loss, we have during his sickness missed him very much from the social services of the church and from the Sabbath school, for he was one who was ever ready for every good work, and a liberal supporter of the gospel which he loved. By his faithful christian life it was manifest to the world as well as to the church that he lived near God. His funeral took place at his home yesterday, and was a large number in attendance—addresses were given by Pastor S. H. Cornwall and Rev. W. Camp. Reference was made to his faithful christian life, and the loss of the community and church by his death. He leaves several brothers and sisters and widow to mourn for him; but they are comforted knowing he is at home with God.

A Letter From C. A. Peck, Q. C.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Sir: While in Boston the other day I picked up a Maple Leaf, to learn that I was then at home, defending as counsel, certain Scott Act prosecutions before the Special Magistrate, and found an inaccurate report in that issue in the case of Dunville vs. Peck. The order for hearing not having been sent, no argument took place before the judge and the conviction was therefore affirmed as stated. Application was made to enlarge the return of the order, claiming the judge had jurisdiction; the proceedings having been laid before the judge within the statutory limit which is the clear legal right of a party, but the judge expressing some doubt, it was not pressed, the conviction being wholly invalid on many grounds.

Please insert these corrections and oblige yours,

C. A. Peck, Hopewell Hill, Sept. 24, '94.

Hopewell Hill.

Sept. 25.—Mr. C. P. Stevens and Mrs. Isaac Stevens, of Coverdale, were visiting Mr. Robert McCormack. Mr. Stevens leaves October 1st for Montreal where he will resume his studies at McGill Medical College.

Miss Sara Rogers left last Saturday for Truro to visit friends.

Partridges are very plentiful.

The sale of Kinzie & Co's mill property, came off to-day, the mill and wood land was bid in by the Messrs. Prescott.

Bureau! oh! Bureau!

"I seem to have been like a child playing on the sea shore, whilst the great ocean of Truth lay all undivided before me."—Sir Isaac Newton.

"Why do you wait, dear brother? Oh, why do you tarry so long?"

Whilst thousands of your fellows have found out for a certainty that PRUSSIAN OIL is the very thing they need for the quick relief of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Toothache, Lumbago, and in fact for almost any kind of Pain, as well as obstinate Coughs and Colds. Don't doubt any longer. Use it and prove it. Only 25 cents. Large bottle, 50 cents.

Dress Goods.

Our trade in this line is growing fast. We are getting many of the best cash customers in the city. We are gaining the trade of those most competent to judge of the real value. We have received some of our Fall Stock and find them great values. We have a line of Blacks and Plain Colours in All Wool Foulies, double, for 25c a yard, the like of which has never been shown and are not to be seen elsewhere. They sell on sight every time.

J. FLANAGAN, Central Dry Goods, opposite Market.

A Millionaire's Daughter Charged with Forgery for More Than $100,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—A carriage rolled up to the Harrison Street Police Station on Tuesday and Caroline Ellsworth, daughter of the millionaire iron manufacturer of Milwaukee, stepped out and entered the court room. Miss Ellsworth is a sprightly brunette. She is, perhaps, thirty years of age, tall, and rather striking in appearance. She was dressed in a stylish gray street dress. Last night Miss Ellsworth was arrested at 680 Jackson Boulevard on a charge of forgery made by Harry Rommen, manager of Jewell Madison street grocery store. Miss Ellsworth absolutely declined to say anything for publication about the case. Harry Rommen charges that Miss Ellsworth came to the Jewell store in last December and obtained $50 on a cheque to which the name of Dr. James H. Ehleridge was forged. It is alleged that she transferred her operations to other cities, but recently returned and began to swindle other Chicago storekeepers. Miss Ellsworth quarrelled with her father and left home a year ago. For several months she acted as society reporter for a local paper. The case was continued until Friday, and Miss Ellsworth furnished a bond. In the arrest of Miss Ellsworth, the police say that they have got hold of the clearest woman forger in the country, whose operations have extended over a period of seven years, covering four principal cities besides Chicago, and costing her father more than $100,000. Miss Ellsworth's first appearance in this case was about the beginning of the World's Fair. Shortly after her arrival she engaged in newspaper work, she says, and in that way obtained an intimate knowledge of the ways of Chicago citizens. In Kansas City, it is alleged, she obtained money from a number of that city's best merchants. She was arrested and about to be prosecuted when she fled, but for some time she was effecting her release by the payments of sums aggregating $14,000. Miss Ellsworth was next heard of in Minneapolis, where her experiences were similar, and again in St. Paul and Omaha. According to the police, she is wanted also in those cities on charges of forgery.

Attempted Santa Fe Raid.

GORRIS, Mo., Sept. 20.—There were many exciting incidents connected with the attempted holding up of the Santa Fe train Tuesday morning near here. The passengers had a lively time. With the first shot every man near a window opened it and looked out. With the second he drew his head in. And when the volleying commenced he had no time to close the window, but just dropped flat down on the floor of the car. Then for some time the "bees" went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain Thompson, of the Chicago and North Western, stepped in and prevailed upon them to go back to bed. There were, at least a dozen individuals who snored through it all and did not miss a note. Two of the soldiers, who accompanied the train, went through the train, and women fell down on their knees, lifted their hands and screamed as vigorously and persistently as if a mouse were slipping over their heads. It was impossible to walk through the cars without climbing over the seats. When the excitement was at its height the brakeman put his head to the door and shouted: "Keep your heads down, ladies and gentlemen. Train robbers are outside." In the sleeper Seima two women ran, shrieked, g from their berths, and were headed off the danger spot, when Captain