The statement in last evening's Star that Rev. Mr. deSoyes is still living in his study in the school house of St. John's (Stone) church was incorrect. Mr. deSoyes is at his home.

Three boys, Clarence McCarthy, William McCarthy and Joseph Morrison, have been reported by the police for throwing stones on Pitt street on Thursday night. Another boy in Carleton has also been reported for the same offence.

A few days ago Mrs. Fannie Stewart, of Sheffield street, was bitten on the finger by a dog and since then the wound has proved a most serious one. Her finger has become greatly swollen and it is said that on it can be seen the exact likeness of the dog's head. It is probable that amputation will be necessary.

Many reports have been made to the Carleton police in regard to the conduct of boys on Halloween. It appears that all the time honored customs were indulged in, such as over turning sheds and wood-piles, stretching ropes across the streets and breaking windows. The police are on the lookout for the culprits.

The 52nd Regiment had a battalion drill in the drill shed last night, under command of Major Sturdee. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights there will be company drill and on Friday night another battalion drill. The annual inspection will probably take place during the week commencing Nov. 11, but the date has not yet been announced.

Two prisoners in the jail at Kentville and five members of the jailor's family have had smallpox. They were mild cases. There are cases in several other parts of the county. Another case has developed at Kentville this week. The patient is H. Taylor, who works with T. W. Cox. Mr. Cox's place has been quarantined.

The Designer for November, which is on sale at Dykeman & Co's pattern counter, is a very attractive number. Many handsome conceptions for evening dresses and street costumes are shown, and the number is particularly complete in its description of dresses and cloaks for children's wear. Some excellent stories fun in this number, such as The Minister's Turkey, by L. O. Lenart; and A Fair Heart and a Fair Lady, by Henry Cleeland Wood.

THE SMALLPOX.

No New Cases—General Vaccination Begins Monday.—Notes.

Although no more smallpox has been definitely reported, the health has under supervision a suspected case in the house of Solomon Brown, No. 10 Pitt street. The patient is Mrs. Charles London, a daughter of Mr. Brown. Dr. Morris was called in last evening to visit the young woman, whom he found showing some symptoms of the disease, though differing somewhat from the previous cases. Under the circumstances, he has made a definite diagnosis until today. Meanwhile the house has been quarantined and guarded. There are six of the family included in the quarantine, among them being Charles London, the husband of the sick woman. Mr. London's home is on St. Patrick street, and he and Mr. Brown are workers in Paterson tannery, where young Parker of Marsh street, who is now in the epidemic hospital, was also employed.

This morning Dr. Morris again visited the London house and examined the suspected victim. He reported to the Board of Health that he was still uncertain as to whether Mr. London has small-pox or not.

The board of health met as usual at noon today and ordered that the house to house vaccination be commenced on Monday morning.

This forenoon the schoolroom of St. John's (Stone) church, in which the Rev. John deSoyes remained for a day or two was thoroughly fumigated by the officials of the board of health.

Miss Munro, one of the patients at the hospital, whose attack was more serious than the others, is reported somewhat better today.

Mr. C. E. Debooy of City road, the mother of the girl who died last Tuesday, is seriously ill in the quarantine house. She is a sufferer from gastritis, and is almost prostrated with the strain of the past week, but has as yet developed no symptoms of smallpox.

A supply of vaccine has been ordered and the house to house vaccination will commence probably Monday. Everyone not producing a certificate of recent evidence of recent vaccination will be compelled to undergo the operation under a penalty for refusal of not more than $40, under the Public Health Act of 1888.

All the patients of the epidemic hospital are doing well with the exception of one patient, who has developed serious symptoms. She was, however, reported last night to be resting much easier than during the day.

The hospital authorities have not yet been able to find anyone willing to undertake the duties of cook at the epidemic hospital.

At the regular meeting of the board of hospital commissioners, held yesterday, the proceedings of the previous special meeting were ratified. No bills were passed, owing to the absence of the superintendent and matron of the hospital, who are detained by the quarantine. It was announced that the epidemic hospital will be ready for the accommodation of twenty more patients if necessary.

C. P. R. STRIKE OFF.

The strike among the C. P. R. laborers at Sand Point is declared off, the men having accepted an offer of $1.35 per day made by the company.

There were in all seventy-two strikers, and most of these live some distance from the work, but all have relinquished their demand for $1.50, and have accepted $1.35 per day. Twenty-five of the men resumed work this afternoon, and the others will be back on Monday morning.

THE SARDINE SEASON.

The sardine canning season up to the present time down east, has been a big success for the working people, and there has certainly been more work than in recent years since the season opened in May. Two of the St. Croix factories have already closed, and others will probably close today. It is now expected that all the Eastport and Lubec factories will shut down before the close of the season, which is December 1st.

The funeral of the late Cameron Clifford Blair, son of Andrew Blair, took place this afternoon at half-past two o'clock. The usual services were conducted at the house and grave by the Rev. L. G. MacNeill. Interment was made in Fernhill.

The cars of the royal train came to the city on the C. P. R. express at noon today and will remain here until Monday morning. They will not be open to the public.

The fine new jail building in Woodstock is nearing completion. It is a very substantial structure, and the offices, cells, etc., will be of modern design.

The thermometer at the Star office registered above 55 degrees in the open air today. Overcasts are a burden. November is treating us with great consideration.

Returning.—Bad pennies and swallows always return, and cats are apt to come back. Umbrellas are different, they are never returned. Returning means going back, but it is poor return to go back on a friend. There are different ways of turning; a pretentious person who turns around, but if she turns up her nose, you get turned down. To turn down the light is a sign of affection; to turn up your pants is affection; but to turn to our subject: We are going to put on sale tomorrow, Saturday, 20 doz. Florence Linde Underwear, with a "pure wool fleece," at 60c. a garment. This lot was bought for a Saturday special, and anyone making a purchase is sure to return to us for other goods, as they are the best value ever offered in this city at the same price. Wm. A. Wetmore, 158 Mill street.

President Roosevelt today issued his proclamation fixing Thursday, Nov. 2, as a day of national thanksgiving.

Empress of China sailed from Yokohama for Vancouver yesterday.

POLICE COURT.

A Heavy Family—Stealing Coal and Groceries—One Drunk.

As a result of information given to the police by J. B. Gibbon & Co., a seventeen year old boy, James Lowell, employed by them as a driver, was last night arrested on suspicion of stealing coal. The story is that Lowell, assisted by another man, has been in the habit of taking coal from cars in the I. C. R. yard and selling it to parties about town, one of the principal buyers being a restaurant keeper on Germain street. The prisoner was brought before the magistrate this morning and remanded till Monday.

Yesterday forenoon a squaw by the name of Jane Ackman, who was accompanied by two young children, fell asleep between the rails at the I. C. R. depot and was removed by the I. C. R. police. She joined her husband a short time afterwards, and together the family paraded the streets until shortly after noon, when they found themselves on Brussels street. Here the squaw, feeling fatigued, composed herself to rest, leaving the brave to attend the children. In a few minutes Sgt. Campbell appeared on the scene and had the squaw conveyed to the central station. Ten minutes later she was again sound asleep. In the meantime her husband, who was amazing celerity and two papposes had maneuvered to Wellington Row, and, finding a suitable spot on the pavement had followed his wife's example and gone to sleep. The children were in a state of agitation, having no one to care for them, but were along with the father lifted into an express wagon and given a cell in the central next door to their mother, whose snoring could be heard throughout the building. This morning in the police court Gabriel, the husband, explained that his wife was not drunk, but that she was subject to fits and always took them after having had a drink. And, worst of all, he had to keep giving her drinks every few minutes. The family was released without a fine.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Harrington, who keeps a grocery store on Gilbert's Lane, reported to Officer Greer that a bottle of pickles and a quarter gross of matches had been stolen from her establishment. Greer instituted an enquiry, which this morning resulted in the arrest of a twelve year old boy by the name of McElhinney on suspicion of having done the stealing. By a number of children in the vicinity of the store the officer was told that McElhinney had taken the articles and stowed them away inside the blouse worn by a four year old child by the name of Northrup, and had got them away in this manner. The boy McElhinney was brought before the magistrate this morning and remanded.

William Taylor, for being drunk on British street, was fined four dollars or ten days and paid.

An assault case between two employees of the Victoria hotel was settled, the parties agreeing to call it off.

D. A. R. STRIKE.

The annual fall strike on the D. A. R. steamship line is now in progress, but it does not in any way interfere with the running of the Prince Rupert. The company has offered two scales of wages, one for summer and the other for winter, and the strike is the usual result of the adoption of the winter scale. During the summer the deck hands receive $25 per month and the firemen $30, which amounts are in winter reduced to $22 and $27, respectively.

On Thursday evening upon the arrival of the Prince Rupert in St. John the stokers and deck hands immediately quit work, but started again, being paid by the hour.

They refuse to go back at the lower rate of wages, and the company have engaged other men. The Rupert sailed this morning with almost her usual number of hands and the company have in Digby all the men they want to attend the boat while there. It is expected that as has previously been the case, the men will all return through the winter. One man applied for a job on Thursday night, but shortly after signing articles disappeared. He will probably be given in charge of the police when the steamer returns.

NELL GWYNNE TONIGHT.

The Bohemian Girl drew a very large house to the York Theatre last evening, and the Robinson Opera Co. scored another success. The singing, the stage effects and costumes were very attractive, and the performers were heartily applauded. The principal parts were admirably taken, and the tuneful music was greatly enjoyed. This afternoon Said Pasha is being produced to a large house, and this evening the present engagement of the company ends with the production of Nell Gwynne. The company expect to return to St. John soon, and they will be heartily welcomed.

A regrettable feature of last evening was the conduct of the youths in the gallery, which was crowded. They kept up a racket, for which they should have been summarily ejected from the house. They paid to see the show, not to annoy those who wanted to listen and watch the performance.

RECENT DEATHS.

Amos Mott of Central Cambridge, Queens County, is dead, aged 91 years. Dr. Mott and H. H. Mott, of this city, are sons.

Samuel Leuckery, of Norton, died on Thursday, aged 66 years. He leaves a wife and three small children.

Joseph Kaye died last night at Halifax, aged 82 years.

John Patrick Cahill, a former baseball player, familiarly known as the "White Wings," and the original "Casey at the bat," is dead at Pleasant Cal. His death was due to consumption.

Captain John Lowway, a well-known citizen and former ship owner of Sydney, is dead, aged 75 years. One son is in South Africa.

The death is reported of Mrs. Bridget O'Neill, widow of Philip O'Neill, which occurred yesterday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Patrick McBrice, on Lombard street. Mrs. O'Neill was eighty-seven years of age. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Patrick McBrice, Mrs. Philip Geary, and three sons, James, of Coldbrook; Dennis, of Main street; and Felix, of Water street. Her funeral will take place at half-past two o'clock tomorrow.
