MONDAY. MONDAY.

Monday the Nickel will enter upon another week of absolutely refined entertainment, something the most exacting parent would unhesitatingly allow his or her child enjoy. Miss Ray Hope, the clever little elocutionist, will give a rich interpretation of Robert Browning's charming story, "Pippa Passes," a tale of a little Italian girl and her magic violin. The pictures by the Biograph Company that will illustrate this number are of a high class. The chief of the pictures for Monday and Tuosday is the Biograph's "The Englishman and the Girl." This film starts out to be a joke on a typical slow-going Briton, but one who proves a here when needed. There will be two other fictitious pictures, and an educational feature of the special "Urbanora" class. The Nickel has also engaged a new male singer in Mr. R. F. Bragg, who comes from the Bangor house of the Nickel circuit and possesses a rich baritone. New orchestral numbers as well.
