This change is due to the expectation that Irishmen will soon obtain that justice which they have long demanded, and is that the Liberal party under Mr. Glad stone's leadership have promised justice to nner. Another lesson may also be learned from the history of the Fisheries Treaty and the Retaliation Bill, which is that the termination, a great work, which renext time England desires to negotiate a flects on them the very highest honor. Treaty with the United States, she should | Comparatively few, and not possessed of the not choose for her representative a man who has rendered himself thoroughly ob. noxious to the Irish. The choice of Mr. of the finest churches in America. We Chamberlain as chief of the British Commissioners is now acknowledged to have been a gross blunder which only a bungling and self sufficient Government could have committed. The Daily News warned the Government of this from the beginning, and is now able to say : "The re jection of the Treaty is another of the many evils the disunionists (the Conser vatives) are bringing on the country.' But even the Pall Mall Gazette acknowledges that "It was a mistake to appoint Chamberlain to carry on the negotiations."

It is time the Coercionists should learn that if they wish England to be respected abroad, the must cease to exercise a Turk. like despotism at home. If English statesmen would only derive this know. ledge from what has occured in the United States, the retaliation episode will not be without its good results.

PROFESSOR SMITH AND ANDREW JACKSON.

Professor Goldwin Smith makes a virulent attack, in the Nineteenth Century magazine, on an illustrious American, Andrew Jackson. The professor seems to have acquired a special hatred of Ameri cans since he received the well merited drubbing given him by Chauncey M. Depew. It has been said that he would like to try his hand at castigating Mr. Depew too, but he finds it less dangerous to tackle some one like Andrew Jackson, who cannot talk back. Mr. Smith learned to his cost that Chauncey M. Depew can do this effectually.

COLLEGE OF OTTAWA.

Those who visit the capital city of the Dominion are not a little astonished at the vast improvements taking place on every hand, as well as the extension of the city proper into the surrounding neighborhood. There is no other institution, however, in Ottawa, it may be truly claimed, which has made such rapid strides as the College of Ottawa. Additions, many and of large proportions, have within the past few years been made to this renowned seat of learning, but it seems that each addition is no sooner opened than every foot of room is occupied by young men who seek a training at the hands of the good Oblate Fathers. The never had a church since their existence number of students already registered is as counties. The counties are Leslie, Rell Harlan Perry Knott and Latcher when informed that the bankrupt in young men who seek a training at the Ontario, and are of Irish origin. The English course is second to none in Canada, a very important feature for considera tion by those who come from the west We trust this great institution will ever continue on the road to prosperity, imparting a sound Catholic education, as well as a thorough secular course, to the Catholic youth entrusted to its care.

LOFTY CLAIMS.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Pan-Anglican Council has decreed that the ministry in Protestant Churches which have no claim to Episcopal ordination or apostolic succession, is to be recognized as a true Christian ministry, there are still Anglican clergymen who keep up the old fiction of the existence of an Apostolic and exclusive ministerial succession in the Church of England: The Rev. D. J. White, Vicar of Burgh-le Marsh, in Lincolnshire, says in a tract which he has issued, "Why should we go to Church? Because we cannot get the grace which is conveyed through the means of sacramental rites except at the hands of the duly ordained ministers of the Church. We cannot take the sacrament at chapel, simply because the dissenting preachers have never been ordained; and, therefore, they have no more power to give people the sacrament than the youngest child in a Sunday school class would have." The italics are Mr. White's own.

It is true that the Anglican doctrinal formularies seem to authorize Mr. White's lofty position, but as the Pan-Anglican Council has manufactured divine truth anew, does it not seem that Mr. White is now teaching a dangerous heresy for which be ought to be brought to task? More. over does it not sound very much like rank Popery to assert that grace is con.

THOSE who delight in upsetting old and universally accepted theories will find a grim satisfaction in learning that the common belief that America was named from the Italian navigator Amerigo Ves pucci is now denied by a number of investigators who have been writing pamphlets and magazine articles on the subject. They say that the name existed in the country when it was discovered by Columbus. There is a range of mountains in Central America called by the natives "Amerigues," and in the same neighborhood a tribe of Indians bears the same name. Also in many parts of Central and South America the root is found as in the names Amarca, Caxamaraca, Audamaraca. It is also asserted that Albert or Alberico, and not Amerigo, was Vespucci's name.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION.

The Parnell Inquiry Commission held its first session on Monday last to settle the mode of precedure. Almost all the available space was occupied by lawyers and newspaper men.

Judges Hannen, Smith and Fay, who composed the commission, entered the countroom at eleven o'clock. Sir Charles

Sir Charles Russell made application for the release of Mr. Dillon on bail, in order that he might appear before the commission. Mr. Graham made no objection to the granting of the application. He said two persons now in penal servitude for connection with the penal servitude for connection with the Pronix Park murders would also have to be brought before the commission.

It would be desirable also to obtain the court would order his attendance when the luquiry proceeded, on condition that he abstained from taking part in public maters and entered into a recognizance in the sum of £1,000 After an order had been made for an inspection of the bankers books containing the accounts of the National League the commission adjourned until Ost 22 Both sides profess to be satisfied with the preliminary tussel before the commission. The Parnellites are able to claim an important success in enforcing the production of the Tin e' letters, in cluding those of Parnell and Egan, and one written by Campbell, Mr. Parnell's secretary. Sir Coarles Russell demanded the production of all other letters connected with the inquiry that are in possession of the Times. This wide demand has been met by arranging for the inspection of only those letters that may only those letters that may be specified by the Parnellites' counsel. The Parnellites again scored by getting the court to instruct the Times to formulate the definite charges it is prepared to prove as well as allegations falling short of definite charges. The decision relating to the discovery of documents, combined with the court's expression of its determination to make a thorough inquiry into the whole matter, tends in favor of the Times The first result of this decision was Mr Graham's getting power of access to the bank books of the League, involving the right to inspect the accounts and minutes of the Land and National Leagues. The court's declaration that the wildest scope will be given to the inquiry opens up an interminable vists of contention. The question of the appointment of a com-mission to examine Egan and others in America was only touched open. It will be raised definitely when the commission resumes. Probably the suggestion of Mr. Graham that Egan London will be approved. Sir Charles Russell stated that Mr. Parnell deemed Egan's evidence absolutely neces-sary, and in this view the Times concurs. As soon as the commission resumes both sides will apply to the court to grant a certificate of indemnity to Egan and other matter of very great importance, and he delegate that he was a little Americans under the ban in order that they may be heard as witnesses. CATARRH.

CATARRH.

A NEW HOME THEATMENT FOR THE CURE OF CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

AND HAY FEVER.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parssites in the internal libing membrate of the upper air passages and custactian tubes. The eminent scientists, Tyndail, Huxiey and Beate, endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases is to apply an Irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, accompanied by violent sneezing, allowing it 10 chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one perimaneu, cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasite in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by nim seven—ears ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease.

Bo highly are these remedies valued, and so great is the demand for them, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy a parssite of which they know nothing, by remedies, the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases. These remedies are a specific for catarrhal troubles peculiar to females.

Mr. Dixon sends a pemphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of ten cents in stamps. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, 378 King street west, Toronto, canada.—Scientific American
