

THE FAITH OF THE SOLDIER 335

of everything but their self-respect. That remained and it endured to the end. Of such as these a great Englishman must surely have been thinking when he wrote:

This man is free from servile bands
Of hope or rise or fear to fall;
Lord of himself, though not of lands;
And having nothing, yet hath all.

THE END