

PREFACE.

The publisher by persevering in an annual issue of the Quebec Directory, believes that he is pursuing the only course that can result satisfactorily to those who use the work for reference.

He has only to remind his subscribers and the public, that such annual issue entails a considerable amount of labor and expense, and he trusts that in succeeding years he will receive a rather more liberal support than has this year been accorded to him.

Quebec, July, 1862.