Teddy had met, on his way down street, one of the boys, had stopped to play for a time, and then gone on to school without once thinking of his mother's order. So that day they ate a "picked-

After dinner Mr. and Mrs. Johnston sat long talking over what could be done to correct this bad habit in their son. Mr. Johnston said : was "Really that boy ought to be taught the to remember and obey when he is told to do a thing.

"I have a plan," said Mr. John-And he proceeded to unfold the bureau, and the dog ran after her his scheme. Mrs. Johnston agreed to try it.

The next day being a holiday Teddy was to go to E- to the show with his father.

His mother got his things in readiness the night before, and he went to bed a very happy boy, to dream of the next day's pleasure.

Teddy was an early riser, and in the morning was wide-awake, anxious for the 8 o'clock train, which was to take him to the city. While he was eating his breakfast his mother discovered that his shoes were not suitable, and, as she had forgotten to order any others, Teddy was sent to the shop for a new pair, with the inunction to come back at once.

He ran out of the house with good intentions, but down the street Paul came to show a new gun which had just arrived, and the two boys were so busy trying to hit a bull's-eye in the target that no note of passing time was made until the train whistled at the station.

Poor Teddy was nearly heartbroken when he found his father had gone without him. "Why didn't papa come after me?"

he asked. "He must have forgotten you," replied his mother, who was just going out to his grandfather's. That afternoon grandpa was going for a sail in his new boat, and sent word for Teddy to go with him. On Mrs. Johnston's return home she said nothing about the matter to Teddy. As she was on her way back she met one of the little boys, who asked her to tell Teddy they were going down to the shore for a picnic, and he must come at once, for they could only wait 10 minutes. When Mrs. Johnston arrived home he found Teddy still crying over his disappointment, but did not think it would be wise to offer any comfort or tell him of the picnic.

In the alternoon Teddy felt better.

DEAR SIR,-I have great pleasure in recommending the Benedictine Salve as a sure cure for lumbago. When I was taken down with it I called in my doctor, and he told me it would be a long time before I would be around again. My husband bought a box of the Benedictive Salve, and applied it according to directions. In three hours I got relief, and in four days was ab. to do my work. I would be pleased to recommend in to any one suffering from lumbago. I am, yours truly,

DEAR SIR,-After trying several doctors and spending forty-five days in the General Hospital, without any benefit, I was induced to try ycar Benedictine Salve, and sincerely believe that this is the greatest remedy in the world for rheumatism. When I left the hospital I was just able to stand for a few seconds, but after using your Benedictine Salve for three days, I went out on the street again and now, after using it just over week, I am able to go to work again. If anyone should doubt these factor send him to me and I will prove it to him.

DEAR SIR,-I am deeply grateful to the friend that suggested to me, when I was a cripple from Rheumatism, Benedictine Salve. I have at intervals during the last ten years been afflicted with muscular rheumatism. I have experimented with every available remedy and have consulted, I might say, every physician of repute, without perceivable benefit. When I was advised to use your Benedictine Salve I was a helpless cripple. In less than 48 hours I was in a position to resume my work, that of a tinsmith. A work that requires a certain amount of bodily ac-tivity. I am thankful to my friend who advised me and I am more than gratified to be able to furnish you with this testimonial as to the efficacy of Benedictine Salve. Yours truly, GEO. FOGG.

12 Bright Street, Toronto, Jan. 15, 1902. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,-It is with pleasure I write this word of testimony to the marvellous merits of Benedictine Salve as a certain cure for Rheumatism. There is such a multitude of alleged Rheumatic cures advertised that one is inclined to be skeptical of the merits of any new preparation. I was induced to give Benedictine Saive a trial and must say that after suffering for eight years from Rheumatism it has, I believe, effected an absolute and permanent cure. It is perhaps needless to say that in the last eight years I have consulted a number of doctors and have tried . large number of other medicines advertised, without receiving any benefit. LOVELESS MARRIAGES.

Is there anything in the wide world that sounds desolate, dreary, or miserable than a "loveless marriage?" Marriage without love is like the world without sun. Love is the one thing that could make a dungeon like Paradise, and without it a palace could be like a prison. Yet ambition burns so strongly in some people that they will sacrifice the thought of love and marry tor other gains that after marriage they realize are but so much dross.

When a beautiful woman, one of the most brilliant leaders of society, was asked what was the best wish for ner daughter, she answered quickly: "To be the obscure loving wife of a man who loved her.'

Feted, courted, as she herself was, she knew more than others how impossible it is ever to still a woman's natural craving for love. Ambition may please and cheer, but it is only love that can satisfy at all times, that has the power of smoothing away difficulties, and which will compensate for all losses.

A loveless marriage is the sorriest fate that can befall any man or woman whether it be their own fault or not; their hourly misery is hardly less acute, and they have for ever shut themselves out from the glorious surshipe that floods its golden radiance into the humblest peasant's coltage.

BLOOD POISONING

Corner George and King Streets, Toronto, Sept. 8, 1904. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

Dear Sir,-I wish to say to you that I can testify to the merits "of your Benedictine Salve for Blood-Poisoning. I suffered with blood poisoning for about six months, the trouble starting from a callous or hardening of the skin on the under part of my foot and afterwards turning to blood-poisoning. Although I was treated for same in the General Hospital for two weeks without cure, the doctors were thinking of having my foot amputated. I left the hospital uncured and then I tried your salve, and with two boxes my foot healed up. I am now able to put on my boot and walk freely with same, the foot being entirely healed. I was also treated in the States prior to going to the hospital in Toronto, without relief. Your salve is a sure cure for blood-poisoning.
