

OUR HOME CLUB

We envy our city friends during the summer months when they visit us, as day after day the steady routine of farm work must go on. Their dainty toilets and their repose make us discontented and we think them lucky. The kitchen seems hotter, the farm, as they see their friends in idleness.

Wait until the rush of summer work is over. Return the visit of your city friends, and you will find the other half of the world works too. You will know the meaning of contentment when you are home again and find such rest and quietness, nature in repose and you realize you are nature's child, just where you are fitted for and where you are happiest. The best luck that can come to us is to be in the right place, the place we were intended to be.

There is a possibility of thinking our precious one hundred acres means the world, and there is a danger of growing into our farm.

Don't smile and say there is no chance to get away. There is no calling when men have so much spare time. The only way to do is plan so that each member of the family has a good holiday.

In June or September when the weather is perfect and the rush over, prepare for a trip, not a visit. Equipped with one suit case and a neat comfortable suit, let the farmer and his wife go for a delightful lake trip away to the Soo, or down to Montreal or the Thousand Islands, or up the Saguenay. See something of this beautiful Canada of ours, away from the sound of reapers, mowers, separators, etc. The coming home will be as a tonic for the whole family to see the happy joyous light on their faces.—"Aunt Faithie."

The Summer Boarder Question

I lived once in a beautiful town in Ontario where many Americans spent their holidays. Some of them played tennis and cards all Sunday morning and afternoon. Occasionally if the evening was cool they attired themselves in sporty costumes and attended the most fashionable church. They were a jolly party. What was the result? Why the young people flocked to see them, and their influence was soon manifested by the falling off in attendance at church. After they left the town some of the country boys and girls came back, but a few had drifted out too far to ever take the same interest again.

The very arrival of summer boarders gives a new impetus to trade, and arouses the people. There are instances where congregations have been aroused by the promise of a "boarder" to do his part towards reducing the mortgage, if the members would do their share. I heard of a party of summer boarders last year who took such an interest in the little mission that they raised money, purchased paint, etc. Together with the young people of the church they cleaned and decorated the building inside and out. When they returned to their homes in the fall, they left the student with a full purse and a glad heart with which to come back to college. They provided new hymn books, collection plate and a splendid library for the school, and all the while while enjoying their library and their cozy little church, that community will bless the day summer boarders sought out their pretty village.—The Pastor's Wife.

Well Worth the Trouble

Have any of our housewives thought of replenishing their china closets, by earning for themselves one of our 95 piece dinner sets? It will not take long and the satisfaction of having a nice new English semi-porcelain dinner set, up-to-date pattern, will well repay your efforts. Here is what Miss Ada Flintoff, of Wentworth Co., Ont., says regarding the set she won.

"I received the set of dishes last Wednesday and not one was broken. I am much pleased with them, and I think the dishes are very pretty and well worth the trouble of the little work I had to do for them. I thank you much."

Perhaps the children could help out, by securing one or two new subscriptions for your club. Remember only nine new subscriptions at $1 each, are required for this fine dinner set.

You can remove rust stains from a white dress completely by soaking the dress in pie-plant juice secured by boiling the pie plant in a quantity of water. It makes the dress pink at first, but this comes out at the first washing, and the stains will be effectively removed.

To take inkstains from linen, dip the spotted part in pure tallow melted; then wash out the tallow and the ink will disappear.

Be up-to-date. Renew your subscription to Farm and Dairy.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutrient and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD" PURITY FLOUR

You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels

Purity may cost a little more than some flours but you'll find it's more than worth the difference. To be genuine, must bear the Purity trade mark.
