F. G. JAMES, BOWMANVILLE, ONTARIO.

When Sir Andrew Clark, Mr. Gladstone's physician, recommended a patient to drink wine, the latter expressed some surprise, saying he thought Sir Andrew was a temperance doctor, to which Sir Andrew Clark replied: "Oh, wine does sometimes help you to get through work; for instance, I have often twenty letters to answer after dinner, and a pint of champagne is a great help." "Indeed," said the patient, "does a pint of champagne really help you to answer the twenty letters?" "No, no!" said Sir Andrew; "but when I've had a pint of champagne, I don't care a rap whether I answer them or not!"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

THE MENDEL THEORY.

I saw in "The Farmer's Advocate" a year or so ago, an article on the "Mendel Theory of Breeding." Refer me to the number and date in which it appeared.

W. W. C.

Ans.—See "The Farmer's Advocate" of October 18th, 1906.

SCRATCHES.

Please publish what is the best cure for scratches on horse. I have been feeding him sulphur for about six weeks, but find it a very slow cure.

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Feed lightly on grain, and give regular exercise when not at work. Keep the parts dry and clean. Curative treatment in cold weather consists in purging with six to ten drams aloes, according to size and weight, and two drams ginger, following up with one to one and a half ounces Fowler's Solution of Arsenic, twice daily, for a week. Local treatment consists in applying warm poultices of linseed meal, with a little powdered charcoal, every six or seven hours, for a couple of days and nights, and then applying, three times daily, the oxide-of-zinc ointment, composed of one dram oxide of zinc to six drams lard. To this ointment carbolic acid may be added at the rate of 20 drops carbolic acid to the ounce.

BLOODY EGGS.

Some of fowls are laying eggs which are bloody. Could you suggest a cause or remedy? They are fed grain and dry bran, and cut bone and oyster shell in the way of grit, with milk to drink.

JOHN.

Ans.—Eggs containing blood clots, or small quantities of blood, are not infrequently met with, and the best authorities attribute the cause to the continued feeding of rather stimulating food, and rapid laying, which perhaps means that the oviduct is to a greater or less extent inflamed. A change in rations is to be recommended, with the addition of green food. It is presumed that the cut bone is fed in proportion of one pound to every fifteen fowls, three times per week. This may be cut down to twice per week, until hens run out. Cooling food, and a liberal allowance of green food, are requisite. Meat, pepper, or any sort of irritating food, is to be avoided. If treatment is found necessary, Dr. Salmon recommends 20 grains of Epsom salts and bicarbonate of soda 2 grains, to be followed by one-half drop tincture of acetic acid three times per day. The fowls in this case have evidently been well cared for, and nothing serious is expected if recommendations are carried out.

LETTING CROPS ON SHARES.

I live on a farm about four miles from town, in a good farming locality, and not being able to get help, I would like to rent, or let on shares, part of my land.

1. What rent should I get per acre for fall-plowed land? Oats here yield about fifty bushels per acre.
2. What share would be fair to a renter taking off the crop of grain? I do the seeding and threshing.
3. What share should I get to let my hay on shares; hay yield about two tons per acre?

This land is all tile drained.

W. A. L.

Ans.—1. The renter has to take chances. In most localities, about $10 to $12 per acre would be enough rent for him to pay for plowed land, ready for spring seeding.

2. Merely harvesting and hauling in a crop of grain requires but a small part of the total expense and labor, and should be done for about one-sixth of the crop.

3. The labor involved in haying is sometimes much greater than is required for harvesting grain. You might well claim, however, about two-thirds to three-quarters of the crop. Considerable depends on the local value of hay, the kind of hay, and the method of making.
