IRISH SYMPATHIZE!

With Krueger and His War With England.

THEY PROVE IT
BY RESOLUTIONS

Irish-Americans Will Hold a Meeting in Chicago.

Minister Tarte Disagrees With the Premier and Departs From the Capital in a Huff. He Would Not Send a Second Contingent.

Chicago, D. C. 30.—"So far as I have been able to observe, the Irishmen in the different parts of this country are in entire sympathy with the Boers in the war with England. This sympathy they have chosen—and I think the movement will not go farther than this—to manifest by passing resolutions and providing money for the equipment for hospital, ambulance and surgical department."

This is the statement of John T. Keating, president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and conspicuous among the Irish-Americans in this city and elsewhere. The action taken by the local order in Chicago and that of St. Louis, has not ended the movement in this matter. The united societies of this city have determined to hold a mass meeting on January 5, at which time there will be speechmaking and a general expression of the feelings of the Irishmen of Chicago toward the people of the Transvaal.

And what is even more important than this, in the eyes of those interested in this phase of the matter, the national officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians are arranging for a special meeting, shortly after the beginning of the year, and probably just prior to the Chicago mass meeting. It is predicted by Mr. Keating that plans will be set on foot by this conference looking toward a united expression of sentiment and co-operation in the raising of funds among Irishmen everywhere in the United States and Canada.

TARTE DISGRUNTLED.

New York, Dec. 30.—A special to the World from Ottawa says:

Mr. Tarte, minister of public works, is reported to be in open revolt against sending more troops to aid Great Britain. He failed to attend any cabinet councils to arrange for the second contingent, and withdrew to Montreal whither the premier journeyed last night to conciliate his refractory colleague.

A large and influential section of French Liberals in Quebec province is strongly pro-Boer. So marked has become the anti-British attitude of many French-Canadian journals that it has evoked a bitter protest from L. O. David, a leading Frenchman of Montreal.

PRAYERS FOR BOERS.

New York, Dec. 30.—A dispatch to the World from Antwerp says:

Two great prayer meetings were held tonight at Rotterdam by Dutch pastors gathered from all Holland. The Transvaal hymn was sung and 6000 florins collected for the Boer wounded.

A resolution was passed to send a circular to all British pastors, asking them to preach and pray for an end to the hostilities.

Amsterdam and The Hague ladies are offering their services for collecting money, and many young men of good families in The Hague have decided to go to the Transvaal to join the Boers in the field.

Wire Is Working.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon telegraphic communication with Bennett and Skagway was re-established, the connection having been broken nine days ago. Owing to the great accumulation in the terminal offices of commercial dispatches, no press matter had been handled at the time of the Daily Nugget going to press.

Weather Report.

Last night the thermometer at the government barracks registered 53.6 degrees below zero.

At 9 o'clock this morning the needle pointed to 51 degrees below, since which time no material variation has occurred.

PERSONAL MENTION.

R. B. Koutz from Grand Forks is visiting the city.

Michael Kinney, from No. 5 above on Eureka, is stopping at the Flannery.

D. McPhail has returned to Dawson and will remain in town for a few days.

John Malone is a visitor in Dawson. He is stopping at the Hotel McDonald.

Francis Grant is in town shaking hands with his friends and acquaintances.

J. D. Hartmann a Dominion creek miner, is among the guests at the Flannery.

Duncan McDonald of upper discovery on Dominion, is stopping at the Flannery.

John Manning and his wife, of 60 below on Bonanza, are guests at the Hotel McDonald.

Charles E. Herron, a layman on No. 1 above on Bonanza, is registered at the Flannery hotel.

Mrs. Harry Woolrich and her son have gone to Grand Forks to spend a week with Mrs. Walsh.

John Essency and C. D. McLain, of No. 3 above on Dominion, are registered at the Flannery hotel.

Fred Breen, who has been in Grand Forks for some time past, returned to Dawson last evening.

J. C. Jenkins, a layman on No. 4 below lower on Dominion, is in the city on matters of business.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A typographical error occasioned a local brevity in yesterday's issue to read that rich pay had been struck on No. 3 above on Sulphur. The claim, of which the item was written is No. 37 above discovery on Sulphur.

A couple of hunters returned to Dawson this morning with the carcasses of five large mountain sheep.

Notwithstanding the fact that business is not just as brisk as it might be, the office of Craden & Wilcox, mining brokers, is always crowded, and while many are there merely for the reason of the sign on the door, "Come in and get warm," others are there for business.

Superior Court.

The case of Purden vs. the A. E. Co. for $2131, which came up for trial before a jury in Judge Dugas' court yesterday is still being heard today. It is thought the conclusion will be reached by this evening.

Sport at the Club Gymnasium.

Another one of Bert Ford's clever athletic entertainments was given last Thursday night at the club gymnasium and the people who gathered there to witness the different bouts were well entertained and are congratulating Mr. Ford on his success in bringing together such a number of clever athletes. Owing to the success attending these exhibitions, Mr. Ford was compelled to build a rising staging for the accommodation of the audience and just as the people were comfortably settled the staging broke, precipitating some 50 men to the floor. Fortunately no one was severely hurt, although several received some slight abrasions and Mulligan, the comedian, got a wound on the head, fortunately a slight one. The seats were hastily repaired and again broke down, after which the aerial onlookers gave it up and were content to stand for the rest of the evening.

The first event was a four round go between Merritt Barnes and Bert Ford which furnished a great deal of merriment owing to the agile lunges of Barnes and the responding swipes of the strong armed Ford. Then followed an exhibition of fancy bag punching by Phil Smith, which was loudly applauded.

Next on the program was another four-round go with Collin Sinclair and George Mutchler as principals.

Sinclair, in the first round, got in a straight arm blow on Mutchler's mouth cutting it severely and it looked at first as though a knockout was in order, but Mutchler in the following three rounds made it warm for Sinclair, reaching him several times at a distance which seemed impossible.

Billy Moss and C. Morrison were next on the mat in a 15-minute catch-as-catch-can wrestling match. During the progress of the match, which, by the way, was an exhibition go, the remarkable agility displayed by Morrison was a source of constant wonder and applause.

Then followed an exhibition of club swinging by Bert Finney, the Hawaiian prince. It is said that Finney has captured many a dusky damsel in the land of one and two finger poi by the same lightning girations of his clubs that he executed last night.

The last go of the evening and the one the audience looked forward to with particular interest was a four round bout between Pat Malloy, the club instructor, and Phil Smith. Malloy unfortunately was not in the best form, as he was suffering from a severe cold, consequently the bout was not as rapid as it might have been otherwise, but both gave and took severe blows, easing up with right and left swings. The knowing ones claim Smith is a wonder if he is turned loose, and should these two come together at any time in a real mix-up it is safe to presume that they will put up a pretty fight.

Doc Wilcox acted as referee during the entertainment and as he decided all the goes as a draw escaped with good wishes and his life.

The Fabulous Richness of the Creeks

the Ruby Sands—Opinion of J. L.
Davidson, Civil Engineer.

There has been so much told of Cape Nome and its wonderful richness that anything which is written now is likely to appear redundant. Nevertheless, there are hundreds of people to whom the story will never grow old, unless perhaps it be nine months hence when they return to Dawson disappointed and disheartened. Notwithstanding, however, the ill-fortune of many who will stampee to the new fields, the fact will be, as it is now, that Nome is extravagantly rich in gold, and offers the greatest opportunities ever known to the poor prospector. Accustomed as the residents of the Yukon are to the rapid development of new countries, yet few who have not visited the Alaskan camp realize the wonderful growth which that new district has had.

Nome is a town two miles long and one mile wide. The city was surveyed and platted into lots last summer, and a charter was drafted and adopted. There are enough buildings in the new city to shelter 4000 people, and 24 of these structures are two stories or more. In fact, Nome is a much better looking town in every respect than was Dawson in the spring of 1897. Speculators who go to Nome next May or June with a big tent and a few barrels of whisky expecting to make a fortune in the saloon business, will be as badly disappointed as they would be were they to bring their outfit into Dawson, for there are as many well arranged liquor houses in the new town as there are anywhere in Alaska or the Yukon territory. Stores of every description are established and are doing a brisk and remunerative trade. Provisions are about as scarce and prices about as high as they were in Dawson last winter. Before the majority of the stamplers reach the beach next summer an electric light system, a telephone system and an electric railway system will be in operation. Franchises—not exclusive ones—were granted for these enterprises last fall by the municipal council. The railway has surface privileges over a right-of-way extending to the creek mines and along the beach. A company
