THE MAYORALTY.

It is understood that the City Clerk will immediately issue his writ for a new election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor Goldie. It is therefore, believed that the Mayor will look about for the best available man for the position...

We hope the citizens will see that Mr. Alexander is brought out, and that a requisition will be circulated at once pledging his support should he allow his name to go before the electors.

NOTES.

When irregularities were discovered in connection with some Dominion contracts, it was held that those in authority, if not cognizant of what was going on, were liable for the same.

"I always entirely agree with Mr. Mercier on whatever course he takes." Hon. Wilfred Laurier. Then it does not matter what course Mr. Mercier may pursue now. He may brazen it out, he may return the stolen money to the Provincial Treasury, or he may sink into deserved oblivion.

Of the new Secretary of State the Toronto Mail says: "The tabling in of Mr. Patterson adds strength to the Cabinet, for the new Minister is a man of executive ability and integrity, bringing with him an important degree of popularity. Mr. Patterson has also a streak of independence in his composition. He has opposed movements in Parliament which he believed to be wrong."

THE GLOBE'S GREAT BLUFF

And How It Strikes the Quebec Wing

MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—Considerable interest was created early yesterday afternoon throughout the city by a despatch from Toronto to the Star setting forth that the Globe had discovered a new man's nest and indicating that the Toronto Star's mission to Montreal had been much more successful from a party point of view than was the same individual's trip to Washington a year or two ago. Long-headed Grita, however, waited for the arrival of the Liberal organ before crowding for they had reason to believe that if any kind of a scandal had been unearthed the Globe's correspondent in the Queen City would have been only too ready to wire the details to his paper in Montreal. The arrival of the Globe's "startling story" has in every way confirmed the wisdom of the Liberals, who decided to await the context before going into hysterics over a badly written and stupid revelation of the Parro-McGreavy scandal.

SIR ADOLPHE CARON INTERVIEWED.

Luckily Sir A. P. Caron was in town this morning en route from Quebec to the capital, and the Postmaster-General, being interviewed by a reporter asked if he had read the "startling story" that Cartwright-Farrer organ had published yesterday. "I have read over very carefully, the alleged 'social correspondence' from Montreal to the Globe, as well as the fac-simile of certain orders given by me on Mr. McCreavy during the election contest of 1887."

"Do you object to giving any information that may be in your possession touching these charges?" asked the correspondent. "Certainly not," replied the Minister. "There is nothing to hide. These orders were signed by me as the Minister of Finance, and I take the full responsibility of the giving of the amounts to the gentleman named in the correspondence in question. They were given under the following circumstances: Friends of mine and myself contributed towards the election fund to defray expenses of candidates running in the interests of the Conservative party. These funds I placed in the hands of Mr. Thomas McCreavy, as I was away from Montreal attending and conducting the campaign throughout the Quebec district."

"Mr. McCreavy was the treasurer, was he not, in 1887?"

"Yes, and I have in my possession at Ottawa his receipts for sums larger than the total amount of the orders which I gave upon him."

"Then this disposes of the Globe lie that you were drawing upon the Larkin, Connolly & Co.'s funds?"

"Assuredly, these orders were not any money given to Mr. McCreavy from any other source, except through me."

In reply to a further question, the Postmaster-General said: "I had charge of the elections in the district of Quebec, and several of the candidates were young men who could not be expected to bear the legitimate and necessary expenses incidental to an election contest. I should likewise say that I did not know what other funds Mr. McCreavy had, nor the source from which they came. If an examination is made, it will be found that the amount of the orders I gave to pay money to the several candidates was only fair and reasonable. No amount was given unless previously agreed to by the committee which had charge of the campaign. So far as I know," concluded Sir A. P. Caron, "this is the plain unvarnished truth relating to this matter."

While the minister and his friends are laughing at the Globe and its cook-and-bull story of Saturday relating to Sir Adolphe Caron, the Laurier party are fuming with what they call "Farrer's stupidity in showing up Tarte," their new Quebec ally.

VIEW OF LIBERALS.

A French gentleman who is a personal friend of Hon. Mr. Laurier and a devoted Liberal, made the following observation to-day: "There will never be any fraternity between the Ontario and Quebec wings of the Laurier party while the Globe is run by Farrer and Cartwright. Here we have Tarte, who is doing most of the party's hard fighting both in Quebec and Ottawa politics, and with a view to establish Caron, the Globe ruins the Empire's view of him, viz.: That he was moved by no patriotic motives when making his charges of last session."

"The Globe," said a second Liberal, "had its managers possessed a grain of common sense, might have known that in putting Tarte in the soup they were paralyzing Laurier's present right arm in the province of Quebec, but as it is always the case with our Ontario friends, they never see further than the end of their noses."

"The general opinion, therefore, in Montreal, is that the Globe people have proved nothing against Sir A. P. Caron that renders the Postmaster-General unworthy of his place in Parliament; that after denouncing the Connolly brothers as thieves and plunderers, they have suddenly discovered them to be honest, hard-working contractors; that they admit Mr. Tarte, who is Laurier's end man in Quebec politics, to be a notorious hypocrite, and lastly that the mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse."

The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, from the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more completely purifying than Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood-purifier. This medicine, when faithfully tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood-poisoning, etc. It vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

STOCK TAKING!

Every woman knows what house cleaning is—a pulling up, a general overhauling and cleaning. Just what house cleaning is to a household, stock taking is to a store, only on a larger scale. Drawer after drawer is emptied, measured and ticketed; box after box is sorted and counted. It may easily be understood that many ends, remnants and odd pieces are met with at such a time, and these are placed on our centre tables or counters at nominal prices.

Here and there at intervals throughout our stock may be noticed—indications that the Spring Season is approaching. A pile of Spring Prints on one hand, New Flannelettes, etc., on the other, point to preparations being made already for the coming season. Advances of the shipment of ten packages of our Spring purchases were received from England this week, and packages after package of invoices are already arriving, pointing out that our buyers have been on the alert to secure the early delivery of their purchases for Spring.

We shall be in a position to serve you better this coming season than at any previous time in our history.
