

PERJURY IN POLICE CASE

And Magistrate Will Try to Find Where It Is.

Detroit Man Caught Robbing St. Lawrence Poor Box.

Fine of $133 For Removing De-stamped Goods.

"There seems to be a lot of perjury some place in this case, and I intend to take some time considering it before I give my decision," said Magistrate Jelfs at the Police Court this morning, when the taking of evidence for and against Lillie King on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences from her aunt had been concluded. The defendant, her sister, father and mother, and also several boarders, live at 200 Hunter street west. According to the story told in court, three months ago Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Durward, of Lockport, New York, arrived in this city with her young daughter, and were taken in. Mrs. Durward had a job at the Hamilton Club. She had left some furniture, which was not paid for, at Lockport, and her son was working there, and he frequently wrote home for money. As Mrs. Durward could neither read nor write she got Miss King, the defendant, to write the letters for her. She said that Miss King wrote the letters and put the money in them and sent them away. She thought everything was going smoothly until her son arrived in the city a week or so ago, and told her he had not received any money at all from her except $10. As the $10 had been sent after his ten, Mrs. Durward said she became suspicious, hence the prosecution.

Mrs. Lewis also employed at the club, said she saw the defendant at the club house several times, for money which was given to her. Once the defendant had said to her, "Come out and get drunk; I've got money." "You would not get drunk?" inquired Mrs. Carpenter. "No, thank you," smiled the witness.

Llewellyn Durward took the stand and modestly admitted that he was a singer at the Orpheum in Lockport. He said that he had not written for any money after he got the $10. "Is that the only time?" asked Mr. Corbett. "What do you mean?" asked the Magistrate, and Mr. Carpenter explained. "I don't like that kind of language," said his Worship, Mrs. King told her story. She said that she had received all the letters from Llewellyn, who told her to answer them. After answering them, Mrs. Durward put the money in them herself, and mailed them, and they did not leave her hands until the money was paid. Her sister, mother and father and two boarders corroborated this, and Mr. Carpenter said that in the face of such unanimous corroboration against the word of a woman who could not read or write there seemed to be only one solution, and that was that the defendant had intended to go over the verbatim report of the evidence and try to ferret out the perjury.

"I'm guilty, and I'll be right here, your Honor," said Bennett, of Detroit, when he was charged with stealing 15 cents from the poor box in St. Lawrence's Church this morning. Detective Coulter said that he was called to the personage by Rev. Father Brady, where the prisoner was being held. He was caught in the act of robbing the poor box by James Carry, the caretaker, who took charge of him, after a struggle, and held him till the detective arrived. He was brought into court as the proceedings were nearly finished, and entered the above plea. The police asked for and obtained a week's remand till they look up his past record.

Bernard Kennedy is a sadder and a wiser man than he was a few days ago. He was charged with removing his goods fraudulently from his house after his landlord had placed a bailiff over them. Through Harry Carpenter he said that he had asked the landlord to let him have a chance to pay, but he lost his job and was in the hole. The Magistrate fined him $12.12, and he was ordered to go to jail for two months. A fine of $10 was imposed on the defendant, and he was ordered to go to jail for two months. Kennedy agreed to a weekly payment scheme to get his money back, and the case stands at that.

Another big fine was imposed in the case of Charlie Ming, who was charged with obtaining $25 on a false cheque from Obey Guey. Gideon Grant, of Toronto, stated to the court that his client had made restitution of the amount, and he thought it was a case for a fine. The Magistrate thought so too, and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, and a fine of $150.90 for the Celestial to pay. He will have to do two months in the jail in default of the fine, but his friends are scurrying around to get the money together.

ANNA GOULD.

Public Appearance With Prince Helie Regarded as Mutiny.

New York, April 6.—The fluctuating love affairs of Mme. Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan, whose courtship of the divorced wife of his cousin, Count Boni de Castellane, was long in the making, have been regarded as a scandal of the Gilded Age. Mme. Gould's brother Edwin joined the other members of the Gould family in opposing the marriage, took a turn decisively in favor of the prince to-day, when Mme. Gould consented to their public appearance together for the first time since their arrival in New York.

After receiving a call from Edwin, and listening to his pleas that she give over the prince, Mme. Gould left her apartments at the Hotel St. Regis at half-past two in the afternoon, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse and J. Edgar Morse, and proceeded to the Hotel Plaza, where she had luncheon with the prince. When she returned to the St. Regis, an hour and a half later, it was in the company of her suitors. The pair remained alone together for several hours. This meeting, occurring only a scant half hour after a long session with Edwin, was evidently pre-arranged, and is regarded as a direct slap at her favorite brother's opposition to Helie's suit as well as that offered by the family in general.

Ex-Warden William H. Johnson was nominated by the Liberals of North York for the Legislature.

"An Hour With Wagner," as played by Mr. W. H. Hewlett, on Saturday afternoon, at his 33rd twilight recital, proved very enjoyable, indeed. The music was taken from different of the great composer's works, and as interpreted by Mr. Hewlett, left nothing to be desired. The assisting artist was Mrs. H. W. Parker, of Toronto, a soprano of ability. She sang two of Wagner's arias, with feeling and expression. The programme was:

Grand March—From Tannhauser. Prelude—To Parsifal. Aria—Elizabeth's Prayer—Tannhauser. Mrs. H. W. Parker. Waldweben—From Siegfried. Funeral March—The Death of Siegfried. Song—Dream—Mrs. H. W. Parker. Overture—To Tannhauser.

Haydn's Passion Music.

The choir of Centenary Church will give a presentation of Haydn's famous "Passion Music" (the seven last words of our Lord, set to music by the great master) on Good Friday evening. This great work, consisting of seven adagios, is recognized as one of the most beautiful works devoted to this sacred subject. The admission for this recital has been placed at the popular price of 25 cents, and a large audience may confidently be looked for.

At the Savoy.

An attractive vaudeville programme will be seen at the Savoy this week, where Okito, the original Chinese mystery, is billed as the headliner. This is said to be one of the most novel and pleasing features in vaudeville. Okito is entirely different from all other magicians. Much of the business he introduces is entirely original and it is all pleasing. A good singing number may always be relied upon to please, and this week another of vaudeville's best singing organizations, the Apollo Quartette, will be introduced. A pleasing repertoire of popular numbers is promised. The comedy feature of the bill will be the clever sketch presented by the Burns-Morris Company, and which has been meeting with much success on the larger circuits. In the States this year, "The Lost Pocketbook," in which he impersonates half a dozen different characters, Mr. Fitzgerald will be favorably remembered by those who saw him here last season. As a lightning change artist he has few superiors. A laughable skit by Ted and Lazell, Finn and Ford, eccentric dancers, William F. Denny, black-faced comedian, and the cinematograph will please a bill that certainly ought to please.

The Music of the Marlowe Voice.

Julia Marlowe's speaking voice is perhaps the most wonderful on the American stage. Its timbre is of music and its soul made of poetry. There is no voice to compare with it in lyric sweetness and quality. It is by contrast that one realizes how far ahead and how much above in its perfection it is over all others.

Viola Allen is blessed with a voice of much charm, and Blanche Walsh once possessed a note of singular sweetness; and so one might go on through a long list.

In no single voice that reaches one over the footlights, in all America, is there such a rare blending of quality, such a perfect method of use, coupled with such purity of English, as that which Mrs. Marlowe possesses. One sits enthralled under its spell, particularly when it is given over to the reading of blank verse, and with the poet, one says:

"Her voice is ever gentle, soft and low—an excellent thing in woman."

It was a very graceful Englishman who, upon the recent London engagement of Miss Marlowe and Mr. Sothern, took occasion to say of these two splendid players, "The English they speak is that which was taken away in the Mayflower and which they now give back to us in its original purity."

The dramatic treat of the season is assured when Miss Marlowe appears at the Grand as Rosalind to-morrow night.

Mr. Leslie Harris.

Remember that the subscribers to the Leslie Harris entertainment can reserve their seats at Nordheimer's next Friday, April 10th. Place to the general public opens on Saturday, April 11th.

Mr. Harris is one of the best entertainers ever brought to Hamilton.

"The Tattooed Man."

A delight to local theatregoers is promised when Frank Daniels, the ever popular comedian, comes to the Grand on Friday night with his inimitable fun, and new opera, "The Tattooed Man." The music comes from the tuneful master mind of Victor Herbert, and the composer of "The Red Mill" and "Mlle Modiste," is said to have provided another source of delight in his new work. "Gypsy songs and pretty dances are said to be not the least feature of the attraction, among the former "Omar Khayyam," and "Take Things Easy," sung by Mr. Daniels and "Nobody Loves Me," are said to be worthy successors to those that have been made such popular successes by him in the past.

In the supporting cast are Wm. Danforth, Gilbert Clayton, George O'Donnell, Harry Creston Clark, Nace Bonville, Harold Russell, Jullit Brewer, Louise Sylvester, Norma Kopp, Montague Melburn and a chorus of sixty of the feminine contingent is said to be of the famous Frank Daniels' standard of pulchritude.

At Bennett's Theatre.

Paul Conchas, who will be the headliner at Bennett's this week, holds the record for weight-lifting. For sheer strength he is the equal of Hackenschmidt, and prides himself on being able to do all the feats of strength that the wrestler can, and a few more. The offering of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Forbes, "The Wild Rose," is a well handled comedy that always meets with favor. No time is wasted in it, and the actors make merry every second that they are on the stage.

The remainder of the bill is made up of good acts. Terley is a European artist who has just concluded a very successful tour. An assistant makes up his face to resemble famous people and the offering is a distinct novelty. Two excellent comedy actors are Barr and Evans. The other act materializing is a girl giggle. The two introduce a very smooth dialogue with songs. One of the leading American prima donnas is Emma Partridge. She has toured the world for some of the best bands, and strengthened in this city, and Belmont and Dupont, who can play anything, will do no doubt prove as popular as other acts in this line of business. Hibbert and Warren have a number of pointed things to say, and some curious points to introduce in their dancing. The motion picture, with a change of films, bring the show to a conclusion.

Between the Acts.

That ambassador of German dialect comedy, golden-voiced singer, Al. H. (Metz) Wilson, will appear at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening, in a new play, "The Picturesque Switzerland." Metz in the Alps. This new play of Wilson's is from the pen of Sidney R. Ellis.

Fair-sized audiences enjoyed the sensational English drama, "Raffles," at the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening. The play was presented by capable people. Mr. Miller Kent being in the title role.

Theatre goers will be sorry to learn that Mr. Richard Carle has cancelled his engagement to play the Grand here. He was to have presented his own musical play, "Mary's Lamb."

OUT OF WORK.

Mayor Reburn has issued a call for a meeting of the citizens' permanent relief committee to-morrow to consider relieving the distress.

New York, April 6.—One man was seriously hurt and traffic was blocked for nearly an hour to-day as a result of a rear-end collision between two empty express trains on the elevated extension of the subway at 174th and Boston road, in the Bronx. John Lippincott, the motorman of the second train, was crushed when the trains crashed. He was taken to hospital.

ONE WOMAN

And 30 Horses Burned in New York Tenement Fire.

New York, April 6.—Fire in a four-story tenement house on Pearl street early this morning caused the probable loss of life of one and the injury of several occupants.

The flames spread to a rear tenement, and from both buildings firemen and policemen carried a number of persons who were overcome by smoke. Mrs. Hannah Hamlin, 30 years old, jumped from the fourth story, fracturing her ankle and receiving other injuries. Michael Cunningham, aged 60, who slept in the cellar, is missing and is supposed to have perished. In the cellar of a stable, 30 horses were burned to death. The damage is estimated at $8,000, exclusive of the value of the horses destroyed.

New York, April 6.—The dead woman was Julia Isola, 22 years old, who lived with her father, brother and two sisters on the fourth floor of the burned building. She jumped from a window after her night clothing had taken fire from the flames which swirled around the window where she and her father, brother and sisters were waiting for aid. Almost before her body struck the stone paved street the firemen had raised a extension ladder to the window, and the other members of the family were taken down in safety.

While the rescue of the Isolas was in progress, Michael Conway, a young fireman only recently appointed, was carrying his mother down from her flat on the top floor to the street. In several more trips the young fireman brought his sisters to safety, and then the father and brothers followed.

The fire started in the lower hallway of the building, and swept upward, cutting off exit by the stairways. From the halls the flames spread quickly to the rear of the house, where the fire escapes are located, and many occupants were forced to jump from second and third story windows before ladders could be erected.

EVERLASTINGS.

Strong Address at the East End Y. M. C. A.

Although the attendance at the East Hamilton Y. M. C. A. Men's meeting yesterday afternoon was not as large as usual, owing no doubt to inclement weather, those present were greatly helped by the earnest address given by Pastor Hugh McDermid, of Herkimer Baptist Church, on "Eternal Everlastings," and amongst others referred to Everlasting Life, John 3:16; Everlasting Strength, Isaiah, 26:4; Everlasting Love, Jer. 31:3; Everlasting Joy, Isa. 25:10; Everlasting Light, Isa. 60:20; Everlasting Good, Isa. 90:2.

Mr. McDermid urged the unsaved present to accept salvation through Jesus Christ. Mr. J. Stephen sang an appropriate Gospel Song. A number of requests for prayer were made in behalf of friends, many of whom are addicted to drink.

SAVES FATHER.

Aged Man In Life and Death Struggle With Negro.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—With deliberate aim, Mrs. Tessie Jones early this morning shot and killed Nelson Groom, a negro who was in a life and death struggle with her father. At 3 o'clock this morning Mrs. Jones heard a noise outside the window of her room. She awoke her sister, who called the father, while Mrs. Jones secured an old revolver.

As the old man opened the blinds the negro grabbed him and tried to pull him from the window. He had the white man well outside when the woman ran to the window, rested her arm and pulled the trigger.

Twice the weapon snapped, but the third time it exploded, the ball burying itself in the skull of the negro.

It is evident that the negro knew that only the young women and the old man were in the house, and he no doubt figured to get the old man out, knock him on the head and then have his own way with the women.

A HIGHLAND PARADISE.

Among the "Highlands of Ontario" there are several districts that appeal to the tourist and summer traveler, but the most popular and probably the most beautiful of these districts is the one known as the "Lake of Bays."

A territory covering many hundred square miles of land and water scapes and where the influx of summer travelers is increasing every year. Many an enthusiast has named the Lake of Bays "Queen of Lakes." It is a place where the cool breezes blow, where groves of spice balsam lift their graceful minarets against the sky; where there are no swamps; where bathing is safe and where the speckled trout, salmon trout and black bass are found, and where the deer abound.

This charming district is situated on the line of the Grand Trunk Railway System and is reached through Huntsville, 145 miles north of Toronto.

A new hotel with accommodation for 200 has been erected and is conceded to be the best of the summer hotels in the northern districts. A handsome book, descriptive of the territory and giving all information as to guides, rates, routes, etc., and full description of the new hotel can be had free on application to J. D. McDonald, D. P. A., Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

COAL TROUBLE.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 6.—Coal operators and representatives of the United States Mine Workers of America in the central competitive field, consisting of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, will meet here this afternoon, to consider a proposition made by the miners' organization, through President Lewis, to issue a call for a joint wage convention to rehabilitate the interstate agreement and if necessary to fix a date for the resumption of bituminous mines, pending the settlement of a wage scale.

"MID NATURE'S REALMS."

New buds, new life, and April showers, And nature's call for me, When oozing sweets and doneyed flowers Woo, too, the busy bee.

O, fruitful fields! Loved happy hills! To thee, my fatherland, I flee from city smoke and whirl, As burst forth life in things.

Alone I muse—no rattling car, Confusions daily melt, Clatter of hoofs, babble of bars, Disturb my peace of soul.

'Tis you, dear fields, who breathe of life in store, To feel thy youth of spring, And learn thy fatherland's wisdom's lore, As burst forth life in things.

Alone I muse—no rattling car, Confusions daily melt, Clatter of hoofs, babble of bars, Disturb my peace of soul.

Below the yellow waters narrow, Meander on through leaves, Where plodding teams tickle with harrow The soil of liberty.

No constant clang for greedy gain Here lead to sunny shores— Girls bound by competitions chains To glad a robber's door.

Nor paltry pay rewards the hand, Field's yield, and nature's cheer, How cruel, O earth! the selfish hand, Tolling ever for gold.

O, sweetest wreck, at any cost, Come learn from nature's seat, Profit, or balance money lost, Soul-treasures wait you here.
