If a plump, jaicy man weighing one hundred pounds, were squeezed flat under a hydrualic press, seventy-five pounds of water would run out, and only twenty-five pounds of dry residue would remain. Now, such an experiment would not be very agreeable, especially the property of the proper experiment would not be very agreeaute, expecially if the man was alive when put under the press; but the fact is interesting, as showing us of what stuff we are made.

No pills can be taken for any length of time with the same safety to the constitution; for, instead of debilitating the system by powerful and drastic parging, they act pleasantly upon the bowels, and impart strength to every nerve and tissue of the body.

One of the REGULATORS, taken on going to bed, will insure a regular and healthy discharge from the bowels in the morning. In cases where eight or ten of the common pills are used for free evacuations, two or three of the REGULATORS are sufficient.
