BLACKVILLE NOTES

Sept. 27—A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Raphael's Church on Wednesday morning at 5.30 o'clock when Miss Mary Cripps, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Cripps, became the bride of Mr. Burton Davis, son of Mrs. Henry Lipsett. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk embroidered net over Jap silk, white satin slippers and white hat, with white willow plumes, and was attended by Miss Bridget Layton, who also wore white silk. Mr. Duncan Davidson, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony which was performed by Rev. S. J. Crumley, the happy couple motored to the groom's home, where a very sumptuous breakfast was partaken of after an absence of several years. They left on the seven o'clock train for Fredericton and St. John. The bride's going away dress was a navy blue tailored made suit and white hat.

Latest War News.

London, Sept. 29—An official communication, just made public, dealing with the operations in France Tuesday, says that in the heavy fighting around Loos the British have taken two exceptionally strong German lines of trenches and bomb proof shelters several hundred yards in extent. Having taken the Germans' second line, the statement says, the British are now after the third line of trenches. In all, more than 3,000 prisoners have been taken and twenty-one guns and forty machine guns have been captured and others destroyed.

The statement says: "The following has been received from Field Marshal Sir John French: 'Severe fighting has continued today around Loos and to the north of that place. We now hold all the ground north of Hill No. 70, which the enemy retook on the 26th. We have made further progress to the south of Loos and captured another gun. The total number of guns captured by us is now twenty-one. There are several more between us and the enemy which have been abandoned by him. Our number of prisoners now exceeds 3,000. The number of machine guns captured is forty. Many more have been destroyed by our bombardment.'

A Big Surprise in Submarines

Since the beginning of the war, the submarine and the aeroplane have been the two most important developments in the expectations and interest they have created in all informed military circles. The submarine has been longer known and its capabilities were thought to have been more completely known. For that reason, it was expected that there could be more surprises in the development of the secret than in the case of the under water craft. As a matter of fact, from what has thus far been made public, there have been some more surprises from the submarine, possibly this may be due in a measure to the fact that the submarines are kept in darkness whereas the aircraft is much more prominently in sight. Therefore, any new development in the submarine is made known through some mysterious attack of the new form of the boat and is therefore much more deeply impressed. Then, again, the Allies navy are of course, very jealously guarded and never appear in print, whereas, every possible development of the enemy's boats is widely spread. Needless to say, the under water craft in many important ways to so adequately cope with the "many" under water craft.

The first important development that has been publicly mentioned, tells from the enemy submarines, seems well on its way to completion, though only general information is available. Henry Ford, who seems to be a perfect genius in reproducing on a reduced scale is reported to have completed a submarine which is very much smaller than the smallest of the present submarines but possesses all the desirable abilities of the best submarine. The cost of its manufacture will be but a fraction of the cost of the smallest of the present submarines and it will be able to sink, with ease, the largest dreadnought about. Mr. Ford claims that his submarine will be the greatest death blow ever delivered at the armor plate men as it will make the instant destruction of the most powerful armored vessel a matter of comparative ease. Next, of course, will come the discovery of some means of coping with this little Sea Ford, as it might more or less be called.

In this connection, it should be borne in mind that Henry Ford is a member of the Naval Advisory Board recently established by the Secretary of the United States Navy. This board is headed by Thomas A. Edison who has been reported to be busily developing a wonderful submarine of his own. Sometime before the European war broke out, he was at work on it and the Secretary of the United States Navy was reported to have had several interviews with him about it at Edison's laboratories. It is most likely, of course that any really important inventions brought out by such a board will be kept entirely secret, for the use of the United States Navy. There is one thing beyond question, the present war has done more to produce really wonderful inventions than any other war, and the number of such inventions is multiplying rapidly. Both England and Germany have organized a board of scientific research and development, composed of the greatest scientists in their respective countries. The United States has done the same. It would seem a good idea if Canada would do the same. Much might be gained.

If you would stop to think of the one hundred small things you could advertise through the classified ad column that are not important enough to warrant a large expense, you would find it to your financial benefit to patronize the Advocate Classified Ad. page.

If the farmers would adopt this style of advertising, which entails a very small expense, they would work up a good business among the townspeople who would be glad to know of them.

"THE BROKEN COIN"
AT THE HAPPY HOUR

The Photo-play Serial Supreme

The coming new serial picture at the Happy Hour will surpass any serial photo-play yet made. "The Broken Coin" is a Universal masterpiece, the producers of The Troy O'Hearts, The Master Key, etc. Swift as light, powerful as fate, thrilling with action and brimful of exciting incidents. The Broken Coin fairly carries the spectators right off their feet into the realms of breathless romance. "The Broken Coin" will commence at the Happy Hour Wednesday Oct. 20th. We are not the first to secure this great serial in this Province by any means. The cost of a serial of this description for first run in New Brunswick makes it impossible for a town of this size to secure it before other larger cities. We never buy a pig in a bag, we secure the assurance of the quality of the films from the managers of such up-to-date theatres as the Imperial, St. John, The Grand, Montreal, Franklin Park Theatre, Boston, etc. where the above production has been running the last few weeks to capacity houses. Remember the opening date and watch for advts.
