Another Big Success.

The dramatic and musical enter ainment given by the pupils of Littledale Academy at the Star Hall last night was such as to reflect the highest credit on the teachers and the pu- the affected parts can bronchitis he pils of the institution. Morris, who took the role of Shylock the Jew Money Lender, made a "hit"-a very palpable tarrhozone. "I suffered twenty years, "hit." Miss Morris had a splendid conception of the character and showed histrionic talent of a very high degree. Miss Mollie Mansfield the best known cure for Bronchitis made a charming Portia and rendered on the face of the globe, pleasant to the character in a very clever manner that won the warm plaudits of the audience. Miss Thompson filled the role of the Duke admirably. As Antonio and Bassnio, Miss O'Brien thousands it has cured say so. and Miss O'Donnell did very clever acting which suggested much latent talent. Miss Mifflin did ample justice to Gratiano and is evidently bound to be heard from again in this line. Miss B. Kennedy was a charming Nerissa and inherits the family talent. As Clerk of the Court, in grace and natural demeanour, Miss B. Davey charmed the audience and showed herself to be a young woman of talent. Miss M. Hearn, though having only a minor part of Salerio, made the most of it and made a very pleasing impression on the audience. In the operetta, the "Queen of Roses," Miss O'Donnell shone in the title role and performed the part in a charming manner. She certainly deserved the enthusiastic applause that greeted her clever acting. Miss Jackman as Saint Elizabeth also starred and brought rounds of applause, particularly in the duet rendered by herself and Miss Mansfield. Miss Jackman possesses a voice that will no doub

Prince Ludwig, Miss Mary Morris

A good friend of Littledale furnishes us with words of warm appreciation of the charming display last night. He writes:-

An exhibition of a very high class order was predicted, and, indeed,from what was seen of Littledale in their performance of last year, when they astonished as well as charmed a large and enthusiastic audience,expected; nor were those who had the good fortune to be present disappointed. All that carnestness and ess could do was done. How horough clearly, distinctly and accurately was enunciation executed. Indeed this in itself was a striking factor in the evening's exposition, and proved most clearly and conclusively that our girls need not leave our native shores to obtain proficiency in any branch of a complete and thorough ducation—this in passing. being overdone, and without adopting any non-dictionary affectation, recise and distinct delivery was in itself quite a prominent and successful feature of the evening.

That the large audience was delighted was very evident from the panner in which each successive item was so enthusiastically applauded; and it must be most gratifiyng to the superiors of Littledale to know that the great worry and labour entailed in preparing their young charges so thoroughly and so perfectly, were so nagnificently repaid and rewarded; for assuredly no pains were apparently spared in bringing to such perfection the rendering of their pupils last night. The pity is that we in St. John's don't see more of this class of performance—the tone so superior the earnestness so apparent, the finish so marked, the whole so ennobling, so elevating, so beautiful.

Among those present was His Grace the Archbishop, under whose distinguished patronage the entertain-ment was. The following priests were also present: Rev. Frs. McDermott, Pippy, Gough, Sheehan and O'Callaghan. A number of Christian Brothers were also present, as were Sir Edward and Lady Morris. unable to be present. Mr. Hutton Congratulations to Littledale-superiors and pupils alike. Success every way was theirs, and the hallmark of excellence was stamped on the evening programme and its performance.

The selections played by the C. C. C. band enhanced the pleasure of the evening. Following is the program-

We were lately told an amusing item in connection with the telephone, not, of course, on our system. A gentleman was unable to make his wants known at a certain store, and at last in disgust he asked if he was speakng to a man or woman. When told t was a woman he merely said:-Go to heaven."

Some of our friends are inclined to saddle us with sending that item to your columns relative to the man Hayden who was blamed for selling iquor. With your permission I would like to disclaim all knowledge of that item.

TO-NIGHT.

The Acker Vaudeville Company arrived by today's express, and the long awaite dengagement of this really good attraction bids fair to prove record breaking one in every respect. Mr. Acker and his business manager, Mr. West, both know what the public want, and they are to-night offering a programme which for variety could be hard to equal. A little for everything for everybody, and that is probably the chief cause for the great craze for vaudeville the world over of recent years. Variety is the spice of The Duke Miss Thompson Shylock Miss M. Morris the Star Theatre to-night you will get
