The idea of the maternity pension, as I understand it, is to supply state aid that will make it unnecessary for any woman to work directly before or after the birth of her child and to insure proper care and comforts at this time to the poorest mother in the land. In at least one state we already have a law making it illegal for a woman to work for a certain number of weeks before and after her child is born, and this maternity pension is surely the logical and inevitable corollary to such a law. Now, don't you think these are two
