REDUCTION OF TAXATION

Sir Edward Morris, as we learned the other day, had the assurance to refer to Bay Roberts, to his efforts at reducing taxation, and to give the suspension of duty on hay as an illustration of what he had done. We pointed out yesterday, that in his Manifesto of 1908, he had made it a plank in his platform to place tea, sugar, pork, and the other prime necessities of life on the Free List, and that he gave the same document an assurance to the people that it could "be easily accomplished," without jeopardizing the maintenance of the necessary public services. A reference to the statement of General Imports for the year ending June 30th, 1911, which was tabled in the House of Assembly at its session last year, will show that for the year named something in the neighborhood of $350,000 was collected on tea, sugar, pork, and salt beef, without taking into consideration any other prime necessity of life. We may therefore fairly state that nearly a million and a half of revenue has been collected by the Morris Government of taxes which Sir Edward Morris gave the country to understand bore inequitably on the working classes.

Now we find Sir Edward Morris had the assurance to set forth the suspension of the duty on hay last fall as an example of his effort to redeem his pledge in reference to a reduction of taxation. He did this, in face of the statement of policy, made by his Minister of Finance in his last Budget Speech, which must be taken as the settled policy of the Government, inasmuch as it represents not only the opinion of the Minister responsible for the financial arrangements of the Government, but that opinion is in full accord with the deeds of the Government. This revenue has been raised by a tariff, which Sir Edward said bore unjustly on the working classes, and no proposal whatever has been made to the Assembly by the Government to change it. Here is what the Finance Minister said in part in his Budget Speech:

"Personally, under these circumstances, I should hesitate to assume the responsibility of advising a general reduction of taxation at the present time, contending rather, that such reduction, whenever made, should be gradual, and should depend upon the state of the revenue and of the public service, so that it might not dislocate our economic and industrial machinery."

Yet in October, 1908, Sir Edward Morris gave a pledge to the country that it should be done, because justice demanded it, and that it could be accomplished easily!

BROKE HIS RIBS.—While at work on a concrete wall at the Ropewalk, a few days ago, Mr. Ben. Taylor, carpenter, slipped and fell off the scaffold and was seriously hurt. He broke two of his ribs, was seriously hurt internally and was driven home where he was attended by a doctor. It will be several weeks before he can resume work.

THEY ALSO HELPED.—Messrs. Moore, Angel and Cantwell, of Franklin & Co's., besides those mentioned yesterday, also took up a collector for the Wickham family, and from the employees of the premises got a liberal sum. Councillor Mullaly, Inspector Bambrick, Jas. Norris, Roy Phipps and T. McCarthy contributed, and with characteristic kindness I. G. Sullivan was the first to attend to the sufferers, sending them clothing and food for their immediate needs.

Message of Thanks.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
 Captain Greatorex, commanding the British armored cruiser Natal, which brought the body of the late Ambassador Field from England, to-day sent a wireless as he was leaving American waters, following a farewell message directed by Secretary Meyer. "On sailing from your hospitable country I wish to thank you on behalf of myself and officers for your very great kindness extended us on our visit to Washington, and assure you that our regrets on leaving are sincere and real, and we shall never forget the kindness and good-fellowship shown by officers of your splendid army."

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
 Gentlemen.—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of LaGrippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of Inflammation.
 Yours,
 W. A. HUTCHINSON.

That a Bayonne, N.J., cat was responsible for a diphtheria epidemic in the Bergen Point section of the city came to light recently when it was despatched by an agent from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prendergill, took the cat into his home and shortly after was taken ill. Three neighboring children became ill with diphtheria, and in each instance, it was recalled, the children had played with the cat.
