Young-Adams Co'y.

Popular Presentation of "The Butterfly on the Wheel."

The opening engagement of the Young-Adams Company, so long awaited, began at the Casino Theatre last night, with the presentation of that great Society Drama, "The Butterfly on the Wheel," in which Miss Marjorie Adams starred, supported by Mr. H. Wilmot Young and the full company. It would be detracting from to-night's enjoyment of the play to give the plot and theme in detail. To see it is the only way to get at the insidious manner in which innocent women, though with a tendency to flirt, are traduced and persecuted by false friends, who are also society rivals. Peggy Adamston, "The Butterfly," was ably sustained by Miss Marjorie Adams, who is an emotional actress of no mean ability, her portrayal of a difficult title-role being true to life. Miss Gladys Butler, as Pauline, Mrs. Adamston's French bonne, was particularly good, whilst Jacques, the waiter, acted by Mr. Donald Mack, was a perfect delineation of the French Hotel servant. Collingwood, the man over whom all the trouble rose, was played by Mr. Perry Norman, who omitted no portion of either acting or dialogue, and carried through a very intricate character with much acceptance. Mr. John Gregory, as Lord Ellerdine, was there to the last button; and Miss Vivian Mayo, who took the part of Lady Atwell, was the incarnation of the modern society woman, ready to prey upon her kind in all cases where her own advantage was concerned, without compensation and apparently without contrition. The Hon. George Adamston—Mr. H. Wilmot Young—those Parliamentary duties left him no time to devote to Peggy—his wife, the wronged husband almost too well, giving the lady no chance whatever to explain away the web of circumstantial evidence in which she was involved, but "all's well that ends well" and he eventually made up for his doubt and disbelief. Mr. Young also took the part of Sir Robert Fyfe, K.C., as counsel in the divorce proceedings for the petitioner Adamston vs. Adamston and Collingwood. Mr. George Denton, as President of the Court and Mr. John Simmonds, as attorney for Mr. Adamston, played minor parts in a manner which demonstrated their capability to handle larger roles. Miss Marjorie Young and Mr. George Caruth, had walking on parts, thus completing the cast. Altogether "The Butterfly on the Wheel" is well worth seeing, and patrons to-night are assured of something out of the line of the usual stage plays put on by visiting companies. A novel and thoroughly interesting feature, and one which captured the whole audience, was the introduction of just enough vaudeville between the acts to give a soupçon of real comedy and juggling skill to the theatrical appetite. The hoop performance was a masterly exhibition and has to be seen to be properly appreciated. The Irish and Scotch characterisations were thunderously applauded and judged by last night's reception, the Young-Adams Company, have already climbed into the hearts of St. John's audiences.

Bonavista Methodists Support Prohibition.

A resolution passed at a packed Sunday evening congregation at Bonavista on Sunday evening, March 28th and forwarded to Hon. R. A. Squires, K.C., Premier of the Colony and the members of the House of Assembly.

Having heard with regret that there is a movement on foot for revising the Prohibition Law, enacted by the plebiscite of Nov. 4, 1915, and recognizing the great benefits of this measure to the Dominion in general and Bonavista in particular, at a large and enthusiastic gathering, the following resolution was carried by a standing vote and ordered to be forwarded to you and the honorable members of your government:

WHEREAS: This community of more than 2100 Methodists, recognizing the great benefits of the Prohibition Act, having heard of the movement on foot to secure a modification of the said Act, so as to permit a more liberal and frequent supply of alcohol than is now permitted, which would practically nullify its beneficent object, desire to place on record our firm conviction that the measure is alright if faithfully administered or carried out, and we strongly oppose any alteration, and most emphatically declare that the remedy for the manufacture and sale of "moonshine" and the abuse of scripts issued illegally is to be found in the legal machinery already in existence. Any modification to permit the use of alcohol as a beverage would have a demoralizing effect on the whole Dominion. We strongly recommend no interference with the Act, but urge enforced vigilance on the part of those whose duty it is to properly administer the law.

Moved by Herbert J. Swyers, Esq., seconded by Henry J. Abbott, Esq., and carried by a standing vote.

This is the verdict of the Methodists, who form more than half of a population of over 4,000. Other papers please copy.

No Second Trip for Seal.

The captain of the Seal, yesterday, called the crew together and asked them if they would prosecute a second trip if such arrangements with the Government could be made. Five only of the steamer's crew volunteering, it is not likely that she will sail, as from 80 to 100 men, at least, would be required.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—In your issue this evening (Monday) referring to the big profits made by the meat dealers of this City who it is reported buy fresh meat at the cold storage for twenty-two cents per pound and retail it to the people for as high as sixty cents per pound, you have brought to light something that is indeed of great importance to the workman. When Hon. Mr. Squires was addressing us in the Majestic Theatre before the election, he spoke out very forcibly about the People being fleeced by profiteers and made a promise, fair and square, that if his Party were elected no stone would be left unturned to set matters right. Since his Government came back I understand that a Food Control Board has been appointed and, as an humble workman, I hereby call upon that Food Control Board to make an investigation into this fresh meat business and let the People know just how much we are getting fleeced. All winter there have been rumours around the City that the People were

Sable I. Arrived This Morning.

HAILS FOR BUT 225 SEALS.
S. S. Sable Island, Capt. Murley—the second sealing steamer to arrive from the Icefields—made port at 3 o'clock this morning. She brought 225 young and old seals. Her luck was not actually as bad as that of the Seal, but in substance it amounts to the same thing—a blank voyage. Jammed in heavy ice for the greater part of the time, she missed the main patch, as all the other ships did. Shrinking bunker coal caused the return to port. The few whitecoats taken last week and since were from a patch of about 15,000, which was first struck by the Thetis. The entire fleet was north of the herd on the 20th, is the opinion of the Sable I.'s crew. Capt. Murley reports the Thetis, Neptune and Eagle working their way home, short of coal, and that they would probably give up the voyage after to-day.
