

"Nothing Equals Vicks For a Cold."

Manitoba Lady Says This New Vaporizing Salve is Wonderful

The quick direct treatment for colds of children and grown-ups, too, is an application of Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime.

Not only is Vicks absorbed through the skin, but its healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc., are breathed all night directly into the affected air passages. Relief usually comes by morning.

Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises and itching skin troubles. Mrs. Ryckman, 817, 10th Street, Brandon, Manitoba, says: "I have used Vicks VapoRub with the greatest satisfaction, and think there is nothing to equal it for a cold. As soon as I feel a cold coming on I just rub a little of Vicks on my throat, nose and chest when I go to bed at night, and my cold is all gone in the morning. I really think it the most wonderful remedy I ever used, and I will always have it in my home."

THIS IS A POOR REWARD

TORONTO, Jan. 8. — Presented with three shares of Home Bank stock for her coolness in saving a large sum of money when the Home Bank at Melbourne, Ont., was robbed on April 11, 1921, Miss Agnes Campbell, sister of Russell Campbell, who was shot dead in the raid, is now faced as a shareholder with a suit for the $300 value of the shares at the time they were presented to her, and she must pay the double liability.

HONEYMOONING IN A FORD

Last month the two were wedded, in the church across the way; And one of the wedding presents, Was a brand new Ford coupe. The groom he cranked the engine, And the engine ran so good; That the wheels ran out from underneath, And left behind the hood.

But they got it soon together, And were rambling down the road; The first thing they ran over, Was a big fat ugly toad. The bridegroom became nervous, And the bride felt quite faint; When they ran into a hardware store And split a barrel of paint.

The bride spoke out loudly, "Oh dear! What shall we do?" When the groom, whose mind was righted, Says, "We'll have our Irish Stew."

So they hiked off to a restaurant, With hearts that could not die; And the bride ordered lemons, So the groom he ordered pie.

After lunch they struck Toronto, With their car that was of tin; So they rambled down to "Sunny-side,"

To take their evening swim. There the band played The Maple Leaf With the thistle twined around; So they left the gay old city, And struck "Long Island Sound."

There the mosquitoes gave the music, With voices that were meek; And they left their well-known trade mark,

On the bride's and bridegroom's cheek.

He dare not leave her alone, To his bride he sweetly spoke; "Darling, I am growing dreary, And my bank book's nearly broke."

So with love more tightly clinging, They steered the Ford alone; While they started sweetly singing, They struck for "Home Sweet Home." Thus their honeymoon had ended, Both with cheerful hearts they sang; But their cheerful lives were severed, As one tire went off with a "bang."

But now they live in their new house, And never to the club does he go; For he is afraid of his new spouse, Because she might hit him a blow. So after this he stays at home, And never leaves his wife; He dare not leave her alone, So such is "married life."

NEPTUNE TO VISIT WORLD CRUISERS

The certificate as shown above will be issued to all passengers aboard the Empress of Canada who appear before Neptune, as did those passengers on the Empress of France last year, who are shown in pictures 2 and 3.

When to travel upon the sea was to venture in great danger it was usually thought wise by the voyagers to propitiate the god of the waters by making gifts to him before setting sail, and oftentimes, when Neptune displayed his wrath at sea, human sacrifices were made to him. To our superstitious ancestors the son of Saturn and Ops had great power over the waves, especially those of the sea, and had, therefore, in his hands the welfare of all vessels and their human and other freight. The worship of Neptune was early introduced into Rome, and July 23rd, "Neptunalia," was his feast.

As science reduced the terrors of the sea, and education and higher civilization erased the sometimes terrible superstitions from the minds of the world, so the worship of and sacrifices to Neptune ceased, but even to this day he is venerated by many Latin and Scandinavian sailors and no ship crosses the equator without some recognition being made of him. Usually this takes the form of a burlesque performance in which those who are making their first "crossing of the line" are initiated into the mysteries of the deep. The unique photograph reproduced above was taken aboard the Canadian Pacific "Empress of France" while on a "Round the World" cruise last year. Neptune boarded the great liner in the early morning of the day on which the "line" was crossed, and held court. He was attended by the Royal Barber and other high officials who assisted in the initiation ceremony. Most of the passengers were summoned to his august presence and were tried for their misdemeanour, punishment or praise being awarded without favour. Those who produced evidence of having been "initiated" before were, of course, exempt from trial.

This year, when Neptune boards the Empress of Canada, which leaves New York on a Round the World cruise on January 30th, his secretary will issue to all those who pass before the God of the Waters, certificates to that effect, which will be countersigned by Captain S. Robinson, R.N.R., who commands the vessel, and which besides being valuable souvenirs of the trip, will exempt the holder from further trial.
