Mr. Frankland's speech was very short, he practically contenting himself with asking "Has the National Policy made you rich?" Powerful Sermon by a Notable Chicago Preacher.

Church Parade of the R. C. R. I.-N.tes.

Like all good things, the jubilee services of the Talbot Street Bajtist Church had to come to a conclusion.

Last Sunday morning the attieth amiversary of the church's existence was begun with a process of the church's existence was begun with special services, at which Rev. W. H. Porter, of Brantford, and a former pastor of Talbot Steet, preached. Every night during the week, Saturday excepted the church rest the Saturday excepted, the church was the scene of large meetings, in which bading Baptist workers of this city and other places figured. Yesterday was the concluding day, and no less ditinguished a clarge and no less distinguished a guished a clergyman than Rev. W. M. Lawrence, D.D., occupied the pupit, from whose addresses an intellectual treat was assured. Dr. Lawrene is pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Chicago Chicago, which has a membershi of 1,700, and actively connected with which are several ex-members of Tabot Street. He is an orator of the first rank. Possessed of a rich, ringing voice, he held the close attention of two large audiences to his remarkable discourses. interpersed at intervals with beautiful illustrations. His sermons were eninently fitted to mark the fiftieth anniverary of the church's birth and to launch it past the turning post and start it on the second half century of its

In the morning the weather was bright and springlike, the occasion was necessarily one of rare occurrence, and all the conditions were favorable for a large attendance. The jubilee decoration still marked the recess in which the platform and baptistry are situated, while a number of flowers lent their bloom and beauty to the sene. When the five ministers had taken their places services were begun by singing "Praise God From Whon All Blessings Flow.' Rev. Ira Smith, the pator, lead in an earnest prayer; then came a hymn and responsive reiding of Psalm ciii.; Rev. W. M. Walker, of South London Church, read from I.Cor., xiii.; Rev. T. W. Charleswortl, of Grosvenor Street, offered prayer and Rev. D. M. Mihell, of Adelaide street Church, gave out another hymn. Pastor Ira Smith then spoke a few words of kindly welcome to the numerous tepresentatives of other churches present, and introduced the peacher of the day, Rev. W. M. Lawrence, D.D., of Cheago. Much had been said of Rev. Dr. Law-rence's ability as a preacher, and his clear, logical and eloquent discourses yesterday justified all that has been spoken in his favor. The preacher took for his text II. Cor. xii., 14—"I seek not you but yours." In strong and vivid lines the speaker pictured the apostle of the Gentiles, both before and after his conversion. "Great minds," he said, 'sometimes evidence themselves in a single sentence," and so the text was an index of Paul's character. Then he pointed out the apostle's striking traits -his indemitable courage, his wholesouled devotion, and his thorough disinterestedness. In the depth of his love for his Saviour, he wanted to present to Christ that gift which was the most valuable—a human soul; and his love for those whom he addresed he wanted to present to them the Christ-God's greatest gift to humanity. In the course of the reverend gentleman's remarks a murmur of applause passed through the audience as, in reference to Sabbath keeping, he said that he had come to the Dominion of Canada to see Sunday observed. Good music was rendered by the choir, who were materially strengthened by singers from the other Baptist churches of the city. In the afternoon Dr. Lawrence and Mr. P. A. Rowe (the latter an old-time member of Talbot Street, but low of Dr. Lawrence's congregation) gave interesting addresses to the Sunday school children.

The sudden change of weather about church time in the evening did not appear to affect the attendance to any extent. After the usual singing and Bible reading Mr. Wilfrid Blaikie sang "Hosanna." Rev. Ira Smith urged a liberal collection so that all expenses in connection with the celebration could be met. "It has been a remarkable week, indeed," he said. I want to thank God and every one who has nelped in these services. I want to thank my brethren who have come from a distance to help us. I want to thank the newspapers for the part they have taken in the celebration, and also the deacons and members of this church; ho have aided in the extra work which has necessarily fallen upon the pastor."

Dr. Lawrence took as his text Luke xv., 8, 9, 10, in which is recited the parable of the woman who, losing one piece of silver, searches diligently until she finds it, and then calls ner friends and neighbors to rejoice with her. Dr. Lawrence first called special attention to the significance of several points, and in speaking of the Holy Land, said that the ordinary abode there was lacking of windows. The coins used in those days were not representative of investment, but were used as ornaments. They were tied about the waist, neck or forehead, and used as bangles about the wrist, which barbaric practice was in vogue among the women of a few years ago. The speaker next explained the meaning of "lost" as used in the text, and stated that a very wrong idea existed about the word. Then he gave some beautiful illustrations aptly adapted to his text, and speaking of souls, he said it would take the third person of the Trinity to convince some of their condition. "I want to make an allusion," said Dr. Lawrence, "to the experience which I had this afternoon, as I saw throngs returning from church. I said to myself that this was a city where churches were held in some degree of respect. But we are living in an age when it so ns right with some to say everything against the church. If anything goes wrong in social life, the church is blamed; anything wrong in political life, the church is in fauit; or any derangement in financial life, the church is hit." In con-clusion, Dr. Lawrence spoke with eloquence of the great rejoicing which would result over the recovery of one lost soul. "Do not be angry at the truth,' he said. "Do not reel that because the truth is brought close to you that you are the insulted person; do not feel that if the truth is held up to you that you are the aggrieved person."

At Ngandu, the headquarters of Congo Lutete, we found that the chief had gathered 10,000 cannibal brigands, mostly of the Batatela race. Even parents are eaten by their children on the first sign of approaching decrepitude. FIVE MEN DROWNED. VICTORIA, March 23 .- The tug Velos, with the barge Pilot in tow, left this city last evening for Haddington Island to procure a cargo of stone for the new Parliament building. On board the tug were Contractor Adams, Capt. Anderson, Mate Christensen, Engineer Low and three others, members of the crew. When passing Trial Island the tug was dashed by the strong tide against the rock. The barge had 25 stone cutters and laborers aboard. The barge drifted, breaking the hawser, and went ashore or Trial Island, all who had been aboard of her escaping to shore. The men who had reached shore had no boat and could do nothing to assist the unfortunate six left aboard the tug, of whom Capt. Anderson is the only survivor.

He enters a hospital, speaks encouragingly to the patients, leaves money to be spent in wine and tobacco for their use, and frequently goes into the kitchen to taste the food served to the inmates. He was a familiar figure in Stratford, and he seemed in a special sense appropriate to the place. He was a man of venerable aspect, gentle disposition and quaint man-He moved about the old church in a slow, decorous way, he knew its history, and he loved and venerated its antiquities and its hallowing associatons. He impressed the beholder as a part of its traditions.
