PAGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength is gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

In the Dining-Room.

TUESDAY, AUG. 24.

BREAKFAST.—Peaches with sugar and cream. A Spanish delicacy. Duchesse potatoes. Grahamuffs. Coffee.

LUNCHEON.—Salted walnut sandwiches. Sliced tomatoes. Moonshine. White cake. Iced tea.

DINNER.—White soup. Crackers. Cutlets a la duchesse. Mashed potatoes. Corn timbales. Rice and apple pudding. Coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

A Spanish Delicacy.—Heat an earthen dish over a moderate fire and melt in it a piece of butter the size of an egg; add a small onion, minced fine, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, teaspoonful of minced parsley, and as much minced Chile pepper or a tablespoonful of sweet pepper; break six eggs, one by one, into the boiling butter, and turn them as soon as they are set, using great care not to break the yolks. Serve very hot in the same dish.

Salted-Walnut Sandwiches.—Spread very thin slices of Boston bread with butter; then chop walnuts rather fine, mix with salt, and put a layer of the nuts between two slices of bread. One and one-half cups of nuts will be required for ten slices of bread.

Moonshine.—Beat the whites of six eggs in a bowl with a wire whip; then add gradually twelve tablespoonfuls powdered sugar, beating for not less than twenty minutes; then beat in three large peaches, which have been pared and cut in tiny bits, and set on ice until thoroughly chilled. In serving, pour in each saucer some rich cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

Cutlets a la Duchesse.—Two pounds of lean steak, one large cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of onion juice, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one of four, more, two tablespoonfuls of finely-chopped ham, one of lemon juice, one teaspoonful salt and one-quarter teaspoonful pepper. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying-pan. Season the cutlets with some of the salt and pepper, and when the butter is hot put them in it, fry gently for five minutes, set away to cool. Put the remainder of the butter in a small frying-pan, and when hot stir in the flour. Cook one minute, being careful not to brown. Stir in the cream. Have the ham, the yolks of eggs and the onion and lemon juice beaten together. Stir this mixture into the boiling sauce. Stir for about one minute and remove from the fire. Season well with remaining pepper and salt. Dip the cutlets in this sauce, being careful to cover every part, and set away to cool. When cold dip them in beaten egg and bread crumbs. Fry in boiling fat for one minute. Arrange them in a circle on a hot dish and have green peas in the center and cream sauce poured around.

Corn Timbales.—Beat six eggs just enough to mix, add one-quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, two cupfuls of grated corn. Stir well and fill the greased molds two-thirds full. Set in a pan, pour boiling water around them, cover and bake in a moderate oven until the centers are firm. Serve with cream sauce.

Rice and Apple Pudding.—Two heaping tablespoonfuls of rice, half a pint of milk, two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, six sour apples. Boil the rice in the milk, when quite soft, add yolks of eggs and sugar, and let it cook three minutes, stirring rapidly. Take from the fire and line a pudding-dish with it, and fill up the center of the dish with the cooled and pared tart apples, which have been stewed soft in sugar and water with the rind and juice of a lemon. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and spread them over the apples and rice; scatter sugar plentifully over the top, and brown quickly in the oven.

SCALPING PORT STANLEY TICKETS.
It is much to be regretted that the officials of the L. E. and D. R. find it necessary to call attention to the fact of many persons scalping tickets at Port Stanley, this being in direct violation of the act, which reads as follows: "The sale by any person of the unused portion of any ticket otherwise than by the presentation of the same for redemption as provided for in this section is an offense against this act and shall be punished, etc." A number of cases are now on hand, and unless discontinued stringent measures will be taken.

"A GARRISON FINISH."
A reader of The Advertiser asks the meaning of the expression, "a Garrison finish," as applied to a baseball match. Garrison was a noted jockey, who usually kept his horse back until near the finish, when he would make a dash and win the race when everybody expected to see him lose it. In this sense a game won in the last inning may be said to have had "a Garrison finish."

The slip cost him $2 this morning, or in default seven days in jail. He paid.

Rev. M. P. Talling
Has Formally Announced His Resignation

Of the Pastorate of St. James' Presbyterian Church—Good Work of the Past Seven Years.

St. James' Presbyterian Church contained a much larger audience at both services yesterday than ordinarily. The statement in Wednesday's Advertiser that Rev. M. P. Talling, D.D., pastor of that church, had placed his resignation in the hands of the managers and that this would be formally announced from the pulpit yesterday attracted a large congregation to hear the popular pastor's ultimatum.

The reverend gentleman chose passages of scripture, hymns and text peculiarly adapted to the occasion. The first lesson was St. John's Gospel, chapter xvii, which was the final prayer of Christ for his disciples before leaving them. He referred to the preceding chapter as being full of solace to the soul. The second lesson was Hebrews, xiii. In making the announcements, he wished to say to the congregation in the city that should feel grateful it is St. James' Presbyterian. With its small congregation and small number of families it stands at the head of the list of churches in the city of London, and stood second in the list of churches in the Presbytery of which it is a member.

Forty-two families had contributed for church purposes $42.84 each. He wished to say to you that regarding the turn of events that would occur during the next few weeks, "Last week," he said, "I called a joint meeting of the church managers and congregation and laid before them my request to be relieved from the duties of pastor and the church. The edict will be read next Sunday, which is necessary before arrangements can be perfected. Mr. Talling drew the attention of the congregation to the fact that the engagements for that church, and much heavier than any other month in the year, and that on Sept. 2 a managers' social would be held to help raise the sum necessary."

"Our subject this morning," continued the preacher, "is a pastor's wish to his people. You will find the text in Hebrews, xiii, 20—'Now the God of peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, unto whom be glory for ever and ever.'"

"Every day, no matter how joyous," said the preacher, "must have a close; every night, however dark its shadows, must break again into the light of another day; every life, however great its vicissitudes, must come to a close, and every pastor's term, however great its usefulness, must come to an end." The speaker went on to enumerate the good wishes from the Bible and said he had chosen one, which was the wish of Timothy to the Hebrew Church. He referred to the perfection of the peace which he wished them, as individuals, and said that as a congregation he hoped that they would be blessed by that type of harmony which would make its work doubly as great as it had been, and that its work would be carried on by much larger congregations. "I have been discouraged sometimes," he said, "that I have not been able to do more for you. As a man, I have endeavored to be manly and honest. I have endeavored to be courteous. I have endeavored to govern my powers, and prayed that if my life has been marred by any act that seemed unmanly that God would take away the evil impression and present the truth to the minds of the young. As your pastor, I have visited you under all circumstances of all kinds; I have visited you, perhaps, a little too much. If our congregation had been larger I could not have done it. I have shared your joys and shared your sorrows. I have rejoiced with you in prosperity and sorrowed with you in adversity. The interest I have felt for seven years
