Another thing he had to complain of was that the inspectors had too many schools to look after and were kept so busy being chased from pillar to post that they did not have the time to properly inform themselves on modern educational methods. They should at least have half their time at their Agitation by Women's Council to Proown disposal so that they could study and keep abreast of the times.

Letters to the Editor.

THE BRYANSTON HOTEL

To the Editor of The Advertiser: About three weeks ago the readers of The Advertiser were informed that "The state of terror of the Jews the license commissioners of East Middlesex had "decided to withhold the license of Henry Lance, of Masonthe large towns of Bessarabia are liv- ville, and of Joseph Goulding, of Bryanston, until they made repairs to their premises. When this has been done the applications will be allowed. The Advertiser of Tuesday, 19th inst., again informs us that on Saturday last the commissioners met and granted a license to J. Goulding, of Bryanston The natural inference is that Mr. Goulding has made the necessary repairs to the hotel premises, demanded by the commissioners or the inspector. If he has done so, the demands were easily met, as the only visible repairs made, if it can be called such, was open shed, with three cords of gravel. We have made inquiries and have not been able to learn of anything further done. There has been no appearance of workmen engaged in any other way around the premises. Several houses are under repair in the village now, and it is very manifest what the owners are trying to do. The hotel is the only place where the repairs are invisible (except the graveling), although every part of the hotel premises is in a most dilapidated state. A more wretched-looking place, under license, could scarcely be found in the Province. We understand that licenses are issued by the commissioners on the recommendation of the license inspector. Perhaps License Inspector Baily would inform the temperance people of Bryanston and vicinity what repairs had been issued to Mr. Goulding. Did Mr. Baily see that the repairs had been made, or did he simply accept the word of the hotelkeeper that they had been made, the finest stock of the island. This ridiculous to withhold a license until is the hardest blow Ireland has to enof gravel in the shed. It was no less ridiculous to demand further repairs, and then issue a license before they were completed, if such were done. Certainly the shed needed the gravel. We have seen men who had more respect for their horses, tie them to a telephone pole rather than drive them into the mud and filth of the shed.

But why is Mr. Goulding let off year after year in this way, when the entire premises are out of repair? Some explanation is due to the people of Bryanston and vicinity, and we ask for it respectfully. Temperance sentiment prevails in this community, as was prohibition, and 74 in favor of it. If gence of the death of John McLaren it appeared to Inspector Baily that the it appeared to Inspector Bally that the hotel premises were so far out of repair as to justify him in recommending the withholding of the license from Mr. Goulding for a time, it he now satisfied with what Mr. Goulding has done in the way of repairs? There is a sort of lean-to stable opening off this open shed—always open, by the way, for the doors are pulled from the hinges, if they ever were on hinges. Is Mr. Baily they ever were on hinges. Is Mr. Baily satisfied that a horse stable ought to be kept close to a hotel, within a few yards of the bar room? As to the old stable to the west of the hotel, the timbers of it have so rotted, and the timbers of it have so rotted, and the pose they can prescribe nothing better to be put under license? Apart from all these considerations, can they perform their duties properly. Apart from all these considerations, it is a well-known fact that there is no need for a hotel in this village. Why should a community that gave so large a percentage of prohibition votes be scourged with a place that has little else in the way of accommodation beyond a bar room? Very reluctantly have we written on this matter; but when public officials are so slack in the discharge of a public duty, the private citizen is under necessity of speak-
