"In his youth the author of the following letters made several unwise choices and false starts in life. . . . When he became editor of a religious and literary periodical, read in many families and schools, and within the reach of a large number of young men, letters asking advice upon various subjects frequently came to his table. As he answered them, the recollection of the vague ideas which he once had, kindled a strong sympathy with those who sought his counsel. From this arose the conception of a series of letters, in which the principles of business and the characteristics of the great leading branches should be explained"—Extract from Author's Preface.
