Overwork in our Schools.

With the steady enlargement of the course of study for the young in our schools and colleges, it is hard to see how to avoid laying too heavy tasks on our children and young people. It is difficult for any teacher to so adjust the work to be done, among children and the demand increases. It is the most popular book on years principles ever published by our people. to all. The child of moderate ability is expected to do as much as those who are more highly gifted. But it is not only the dull children that are in danger of being overworked. It is generally found that the brightest and most promising boy is most likely to work at too high a pressure, and if it be not checked in time his life may he the forfeit. Headaches, restlessness, irritability, inability to fix attention, are the signs which usually show commencing overwork. This problem requires wisdom to prevent mischief. It is possible the best course will be found by each pupil being required to take a more limited range in the ordinary branches, leaving those who are preparing for any of the professions to pursue such apecial studies as are necessary for them.

LECTURES ON THE APOCALYPSE. A Complete View of the Book of Revelation.

By B. W. JOHNBON.

When I began the study of Revelation no stught of the present work had entered my nd. The apleudor of the imagery and the illimity of its descriptions had always attractime, but I have read as one who walks ough an unknown and mysterious country. The many others, I believed that the book could not be understood, and was ready to pronounce the man a visionary who sought to interpret John's visions, several years have passed since I entered seriously upon the study of the book. I was led to do so by the reflection that the Word of the Lord was not composed of enigmas and dark sayings which no man could understand; that it was all written if we detirine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness," and hence must be written in such a way that it could be understood; that a special blessing was pronounced upon those who bear and keep the words of the prophecy, which would certainly never have been done if it was impossible for mento fathom its meaning; lastly, that a great part of the prophetio porilon must have been fulfilled before this last quarter of the intercentic century, and therefore be explained by the corresponding events of history. In my studies I ever kept in mind that the book is a series of symbolical pictures; a panorama of great events until the end of time; and by a careful comparison of the pictures, in their order, with history, beginning at the date of John's exile to Patinos, I have been enabled to evolve what is to me a satisfactory view of the whole scope of Revelation.—

ON THE ROCK;

Truth Stranger Than Fiction. THE STORY OF A STRUGGLE AFTER THE TRUTH AS IT IS FOUND IN CHRIST. By D. R. DUNGAM.

This volume discusses no new themes, nor does it present novel ideas upon the old theme of Christianty. Its novelty is found in protesting against not eites in religion, and insisting upon the usage of the primitive Church. It adopts a method for the discussion of salvation from sin which is, it is hoped, adapted to the popular education on the religious issues of the day. It was written for the benefit of, and is dedicated to, the People, with the prayer and hope that it will be widely read, and that it will do them good.

The author has carefully avoided technical supressions and obscure phrases, in order that it might meet their wants. He has endeavored to take these questions from the exclusive hands of the theologians, and place them in the hands of the people for their own adjudication. Will they, like the Bereaus, examine the Beriptures 12 see whether these thines ha so?

A certain slave-holder who traveled a great deal, always took a pious slave with him. When preparing for another journey, he suddenly died in a fit. A few days after, a brother, who had not heard of his death, came to visit him. The slave who had travelled with his master, was standing at the gate. The brother inquired of him how his master was.

"He is dead," said the slave.

"And gone to heaven, I trust," replied the man.

"No, he certainly has not gone to heaven," said the slave.

"No, he certainly has not gone to heaven," said the slave.

A SMOOTH EXTRA-HARD STEEL WIRE FENDE,

FARMERS.

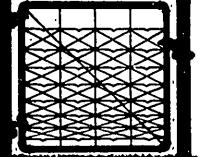

We beg to draw your personal attention to our Perfection Fence, which will commend itself to the judgment of all intelligent and exterptiding men. We claim for it supericrity over all other fences made. This may seem a surprising as well as a sweet ing statement but a careful examination will convince you of its merits. It is correctly named the Perfect for Fence, fulfilling the old Adition of being Horse High, Bull Strong and Fig. Tight, as well as heing ight and practically indestructible. Its points of superiority:

131.—It is made of the best material known for fencing, viz., extra hard steel wise, and.—The horizontal wires are crimped every foot to allow for contraction in winter and expansion is summer; whilst frost and best have always been so destructive to all other wire fences.

other wire fences.

3rd.—The upright wires are composed of No. 14 Galvan'sed Annealed Wire 1 this is wound three (3) thates around each horizontal wire alternately in opposite directions, thus making it absolutely impossible for the horizontal-wires to say or shift.

4th.—It will not injure your stock in the least. It is needless to mention instances in which valuable animals have lost their lives, while others have been nearly ruined, and thousands are scarred, by the barbarous Barbed wire fence. We claim that the object of a fence is not for mutilation or
