A TUMOR OF THE MEDULLA OBLONGATA.

BY J. E. GRAHAM, M.D., M.R.C.P. LOND.,

Professor of Medicine and Clinical Medicine, University of Toronto; Physician to the Toronto General Hospital and St. Michael's Hospital.

THE following case of angeiosarcoma pressing on the restiform body on the left side of the medulla oblongata, I thought of sufficient interest and rarity to be reported in detail.

I am indebted to Dr. Howitt, of Guelph, for the greater part of the history of the case, as well as for the specimen which I now present to the association.

L. B., æt. 52 years, a cattle dealer, first consulted Dr. Howitt with regard to the illness now under consideration on March 7, 1895, and was referred to me by Dr. Howitt on March 27. Many of the notes of this case were obtained by Dr. McCrea from Dr. Howitt, as well as from friends of the patient.
