

THE CUTE CELESTIAL AND THE CAPTURED CANINES;

OR, HOW AH THERE GOT THERE.

I.

Ah There, the Chinese laundryman, hits upon an ingenious plan of replenishing his larder.

II.

With a bone tied to his cue, he sallies forth to attract his favorite game.

III.

By these means some fine and juicy specimens are lured into the Chinaman's kitchen.

IV.

Half an hour later the said fine and juicy specimens are literally in the soup.

One decided advantage in THE LAND WE LIVE IN DIRECTORY system of advertising, is—that nine out of ten of those who see your advertisement are bound to preserve it for reference.

Take notice of the many liberal offers we make to subscribers, new and old. We offer more purely original reading matter for less money, than any other publication in the Dominion.

Send $2 to the publishers of this journal and receive the Dominion Illustrated Monthly and THE LAND WE LIVE IN, for 1892. Present subscribers must pay all arrears.
