

26. At one point in time, the Chair asked the group whether or not they needed help - all heads rose from the table and said "no", indicating that consensus was close to being reached.