

Clauses 11 and 12: The repealed sections read as follows:

"69. (1) Every penalty or forfeiture imposed by this Act or by any regulation, may be recovered or enforced on parole complaint, before any fishery officer, stipendiary magistrate or justice of the peace, in a summary manner.

(2) Three days shall elapse between the service and the return day of the summons to any defendant served within fifteen miles, and one day more for each additional fifteen miles of the distance between the place at which the summons is issued and the place of service; but where it is expedient to proceed against a defendant without delay, any fishery officer or justice of the peace may issue a summons, returnable immediately, to compel the defendant to appear before him forthwith or may issue a warrant for the apprehension of such defendant simultaneously with the summons."

"71. Where any defendant has goods and chattels whereon the costs may be levied, the complainant may, under the warrant of any fishery officer or other justice of the peace, distrain for the amount thereof, notwithstanding the imprisonment of the person convicted."

The sections being repealed no longer have any practical application.

Clause 13: Sections 76 and 77 are new and their purpose is to extend the application of certain provisions of the Act and the regulations to the High Seas in order to confer on courts in Canada jurisdiction with respect to offences that occur on the High Seas.
