OFF AND ON GOES MANAGING BOARD Kew Beach Presbyterian Internal Strife Ends Amicably. EXONERATE PASTOR

Board Resigns in Body, Only to Be Reinstated.

The internal strife and disruption last week seemed imminent to the Kew Beach Presbyterian Church, yet with the annual meeting which was held last night all troubles and cares were ironed out, and the church once more continues on its placid way. The recent troubles which have of late beset the church came to a head last night when over 700 members of the congregation attended to hear the and of whom Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon had been chairman In the report the commission entirely exonerated the pastor of the church, Rev. J. A. Stewart, because as the commission pointed out in its report there was no evidence to show that he had not performed his duties in a proper manner.

The meeting got off to a lively start when the chairman, Rev. James Wilson, ruled that no votes would be allowed the church adherents. This brought a storm of protest from the assemblage, and the matter was put to a vote, whereby the chairman's ruling was thrown out. An investigation the blue book, later, showed that adherents were entitled to a vote, and that Mr. Wilson had acted without authority in his first ruling

Big Overdraft

As was expected the report of the managing committee showed that the church was not in good financial condition. According to the report the funds were overdrawn, $1,686.39, and after this had been shown to the congregation a long and acrimonious debate followed.

Finally unable to bear the flood of ed in a body. However, the matter was remedied when Rev. Mr. Stewart asked that the managing board be reinstated in a body. This was unanimously carried out, and this step along the path of conciliation inspired the congregation to further efforts, and votes of confidence in the pastor and the local church session were duly proposed and passed.

The reduction of pensions beyond a certain point is considered false econ-omy, as it results in the man having

An aviator's certificate issued by the Aero Club of Canada will now be recognized in every country of the world. Capt. James P. Beaty, acting president of the Aero Club, states that nearly 400 temporary aviators' certificates have been issued, and that the club, now having direct control for the entire Dominion, will replace the temporary certificates with permanent ones at once. The commercial future of aviation in Canada is something to which the directors of the club are giving serious consideration, and according to A. F. Penton, honorary secretary of the or-ganization, the club desires in every way possible to stimulate and encourage commercial flying in Canada; including aerial mail service;, the carrying of passengers and express, forest patrol, and the opening up of the north country. Already several aviation companies have been formed, and 1919 will doubtless see many enterprises of this character under way.

will, tonight and Saturday afternoon and evening, make a house-to-house canvass on behalf of the Salvation Army Fund.

This in itself is a magnificent tribute to the cause, because the Veterans know what the Salvation Army has done for them.

But isn't this voluntary work of theirs magnificent evidence of the calibre of the Veterans?

To go tramping around from house to house after a hard day's work is no sinecure, but they are doing it in the same unselfish way that they did their "big job" in France.

Be ready when they call at your house. Give them a generous subscription, and give in a good-natured way.

DURING POLICE STRIKE

Further evidence of the number of places that were entered by thieves during the police strike was brought to light last night when Harry Feldbrin. 109 West Dundas street, and Samuel Niarman, 205 West Dundas street, were arrested by Acting Detec-tive Koster. During the police strike the clothing store of Hodgson & Quinn, 361 1-2 Yonge street, was entered and between four and five thousand dollars' worth of cloth was stolen. Two men are already in custody charged with stealing the cloth, while Niarman and Feldbrin are alleged to have received the stolen property and are held on charges of receiving stolen goods.

SHIPS AND SAILORS

At the regular meeting of Bond Street Congregational Church held at the men's club an illustrated lecture on "Ships and Sailors of the British Empire" was given by George S. Laing, a master mariner who has voyaged the world over. The lecturer convinced his large audience that on the British merchant marine had depended to no small extent the outcome of the war. Dr. G. W. Milarr presided.
