

My doctor says, "Drink all the 'REGAL' LAGER you want. A bottle at mealtime helps digestion—and there's nothing that brings a better night's sleep."

After a day's shopping—or sewing—or housework—you can't imagine how quickly a glass of KUNTZ "REGAL" takes away the tiredness.

ROLLERS ARE POPULAR.

Victoria Rink Has Large Crowd Daily.

Roller skating, if one may judge from the fervor with which its devotees are entering upon the spirit of the game, bids fair to become the most popular of old-time popularity. A visit to the handsomely appointed quarters of the Victoria Roller Rink on Huron-street will serve to enhance even the most skeptical concerning the zest and pleasure together with the health-giving virtues to be derived from an evening on the roller skates. At great expense the present management have installed double floors, which in smoothness and ease of motion are said to be unrivaled in America; and in many other ways, notably in the providing of courteous attendants and capable instructors, nothing is left to be desired. At the opening night, on Saturday, the attendance altogether numbered considerably over a thousand, with 500 skaters on the floor, while last night the attendance was especially gratifying. Music was supplied by the band of the G. G. B. G. The management are determined that the rink's high standard which has hitherto characterized the Victoria Roller Rink will be maintained by the Roller Rink Co. and patrons are assured of an exclusiveness not otherwise obtainable. There will be three skating sessions daily, morning, noon and night.

MOULTON-COLLEGE CLOSING

PRIN. HARDY INTRODUCED

Gives Address to Graduates and Others—The Prize Winners of the Term.

At the graduating exercises of Moulton College, held in Castle Memorial Hall last evening, E. A. Hardy, the new principal was formally introduced by Chancellor McKay and Mrs. Wm. McKay, founder of the institution.

The idea of a male principal had been repulsive to her, she said, but after a few weeks of meditation, and an acquaintance with Mr. Hardy, she had become quite reconciled and wished him every blessing.

Mr. Hardy, addressing the graduates, laid stress on characteristics which the educated man or woman should possess. Open-mindedness—absorption of the world's progress round about them—nobility of character; opportunity in service—making the most of possibilities in life. Miss Thrall, vice-principal, gave an address to the class of 1906, and Miss Ruth Denovan read an essay on "Characteristics of the Graduate."

Diplomas were presented to the following graduates in matriculation course, English and music by Chancellor McKay:

PHILIP WAGNER—HIS RECORD

sued in one sentence of two months and another of three months. He "hung" the jury in two other cases brought against him for stealing money from Gelatins. Mr. Oliver became minister of the interior. This led to Wagner getting not one office, but two. He stepped into a salary of one hundred dollars a month.

When Mr. Oliver went on the stump in Alberta the audience cried, "How about Philip Wagner?"

The minister affected not to know him, beyond stating that he was advised that Philip Wagner was a competent officer and presumably was engaged in the proper discharge of his duties.

He added, however, in response to another interruption that if Mr. Wagner had been sent to jail "it was not for any worse offence than for devotion to the Liberal party."

Other Replies.

Mr. Oliver said he expected to have this attack to be made by Mr. Foster, who rejected in "gutteral" politics. However, he had selected a "worthy deputy" for his dirty work.

Mr. Foster had bitterly complained of newspaper criticism. The house had been compelled to bring a journalist to the bar for doing a word of criticism. Yet tonight the house had sat for two hours listening to libels against a plain citizen, who could not run to the house for protection.

"These are brave men dragging themselves against an insignificant newspaper man and then attacking this poor man who cannot arrest them for libel," cried the minister excitedly.

Mr. Wagner, when appointed in 1905, was a respectable merchant, a tailor by trade, but he had been convicted of theft. "Very well," he was punished," Mr. Oliver repeated, "he was punished, not for stealing money but for supporting the Liberal ticket."

Aylesworth's Crawl.

Mr. Foster resented the reference to the Aylesworth case and said he expected to see the minister of justice. The house had decided that case in favor of Mr. Foster. Mr. Aylesworth did not succeed in "laughing the case out of court." He had thumped his desk and made a great speech, and been very brave, indeed, but after receiving his public sub from the prime minister, he had better to-night as he spoke on the Cinqmars resolution.

Mr. Foster called attention to Mr. Wagner's activity in the recent provincial elections.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the convictions of Wagner had occurred four years ago. He had lived five years since then a respectable life. Could a man never live down an offence? Besides, there were but few men in the country who were better to-night as he spoke on the Cinqmars resolution.

R. L. Borden said that Wagner had repeatedly defrauded his wards, the inmates of the St. George's hospital, of the opportunity of further political activity.

On division Mr. Foster's amendment was lost; yeas 41, nays 88.

Mr. Fielding announced this afternoon that upon the advice of his majority's counsel-general at St. George's, the government had sent $80,000 to James D. Phelan, president of the Red Cross Society, for general distribution.

In answer to an enquiry by R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that a bill would be brought down at the present session, dealing with pensions for ex-cabinet ministers.

The house passed Sir Frederick Borden's bill to amend the Militia Act.

Several other government bills were passed, including Mr. Fielding's bill to redeem worn silver coin and to change the fiscal year. The minister stated that $280,000 of American silver had been returned to the United States.

he is not to be dismissed from the calculation in so cavalier a manner.

Reverse the corridors of the university, knock at the door of every professor and get his ear, and you will hear this reply to your query, "Search all Canada." That is the way to begin. If he is not to be found in Canada, go abroad, go anywhere, but find THE MAN.

In the meantime if any man thinks he is called, let him file his claim and it will be considered.

Methodist Conference Sees No Reason Why It Should Be Exempted.

The last night session of the Methodist conference at Euclid-avenue Church for this year was attended with much discussion on reports and recommendations, and resulted in accomplishing nearly all detail business of the conference and settling questions of importance to the general conference and to the church.

The long discussion law and its mission was the most interesting subject of the evening. Dr. Potts said the Dominion government had dealt generously with the resolution forwarded by the religious organization. "The labor unions," he said, "are in sympathy with our advocates, and the arch-bishops
