dressed meat ever shown in the Dominion

Among the important dead meat industries which have come into existence in Canada the last year, none is of greater importance than that of the Levack Dressed Meat Company, located at the Union Stock Yards, Toronto Junction. William Levack, the founder and head of this enterprise, is one who has established a well-earned reputation in Canadian live stock circles. For over twenty years he has been interested in developing the export cattle business between Canada and the British Isles. The on occasions he has met with reverses, Mr. Levack has steadily persevered to success when many others have failed. In his latest venture the same spirit of enterprise is shown. The Levack abattoir, at the Junction, is a model of perfection in its line, and the central figure in its establishment has frequently asserted that nothing short of the highest type of machinery and methods in conducting a dressed meat business would satisfy his ambition. The firm, altho as yet scarcely out of the embryotic stage, have made great strides in establishing a clientele to meet which 600 Christmas cattle and 500 sheep and lambs have been procured. The animals selected are only such as the expert knowledge of Mr. Levack would consider as satisfactory to meet his desire to put up the finest article available for the trade. Many of the animals now dress-ed are from prize exhibits at the Junction Fat Stock Show, held a short time ago. Among the purchases made at that time were the first prize load of export heifers; second prize load of butchers' heifers; third prize butchers' steer; second prize two-year-old steer, and second prize threeyear-old steer. The exhibit made by this firm is praiseworthy from any standpoint, and will doubtless receive the recognition that it deserves Those interested in witnessing a display of unusual merit should not fail to see this, which many judges pronounce as among the finest array of Grass to horses is the same yearling, a fine mover that should detion that it is harmful is idiotic and cruel. Grass to horses is the same as fresh vegetables and fruit to us. Their craving for it proves their need of it. Yet, ignorant, unfeeling driv-ers yank them away from it as if it was poison instead of the life-giving medicine it is, designed by their Maker for them. When they gnaw the bark of trees or eat leaves it is because they crave grass and can't get it. Millions of bushels of grass go to waste yearly by the wayside which should be utilized for our noble, faithful, helpless, dumb servant, the horse, thus making him healthy and happy. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's show horses are to be shipped to England early in March, to be prepared for the Inter-national Horse Show. Mr. Vanderbilt is contemplating an all-summer cam-paign abroad, and may exhibit his stable not only in to add may exhibit his
