'The Solitudes of the Passion' Sung for First Time in St. James' Cathedral.

DR. ALBERT HAM'S CANTATA

IS A MERITORIOUS WORK

Dr. Albert Ham is to be congratulated upon his latest work, a cantata, "The Solitudes of the Passion," Mrs. R. S. Williams, ir.. is giving a dance on Saturday night for some of the boys and girls home from school, and Mrs. D'Eynecourt Strickland is giving one on Monday night.

The composition, the words of which were selected by Rev. Canon E. A. The Hon. J. C. Crosbie, who was intown from Newfoundland last week, gave a week-end party for his young daughter and her friends at Westminster College. They spent it at the King Edward, with a dinner party and a box at the Grand to see "Chin-Chin" on Monday night. mane, the judgment hall of Pilate, the journey to Calvary and the crucifixion. With the exception of the chorus, typifying the cries of the rabble in and Mrs. S. H. Thompson arrived at the end of the week from a stay at Sea Breeze, Florida. the praetorium, and a number of hymns interspersed, the music is essentially of a subdued character, but at the same time there is something majestic about the various solos and resitatives which bring vividly before the auditor the biblical representation of the resignation of Christ during His sufferings in the garden up till the time of His death.

Opening the cantata is the hymn, "The Heavenly Word Proceeding Forth," by St. Thomas Aquinas, and following a narrative portion are four verses of the 116th Psalm set by Dr. which are sung alternately by the way Marguerite Clark has seldom the solo and chorus descriptive of the been better suited in any part than she is as the little French actress in the most brilliant passage in the cantata. The clamorous shouts of the multitude, "Crucify Him, crucify Him!" are sung with vehemence and the organ accompaniment is equally remarkable. Two well-known hymns, "Throned Upon the Awful Tree" and
"When I Survey the Wondrous
Cross," are inserted at the conclusion.
Both the soloists sang well, but Mr.
Hart betrayed a slight nervousness

when attempting high registers. SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY TO BUY YOUR PIANO.

Commercial Travelers Asked To Aid Production Campaign

Alec Cook, president of the Commercial Travelers' Association, has supplemented the call of his management beard for help on the farm and asks that the association in every manner possible lend assistance to the great patriotic work of increased production. He hopes that the response to the call will be so great that in years to come the board will be able to look back with pride to the part played by the association in aiding the allies to defeat the greatest enemy civilization and liberty ever had. §

The committee that was recently appointed by the hoard of directors will take the earliest opportunity to place before the membership the fullest information regarding the production campaign.

CORKER-WALLACE.

A simple but pretty wedding took place at 30 Fernwood Park avenue when Miss E. A. Corker became the bride of J. D. Wallace, Rev. D. Mac-Intyre officiating. The bride, who was given away by her mother, but otherwise unattended, wore her traveling suit of blue and grey with dainty waist of blue and white ninon and hat to match. The house was brightly decorated with daffodils, and a recep; tion to the relatives and a few inti mate friends was held after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace left for Detroit and will later take up residence in Montreal.
