DROPPED FLY BALL

Two Runs When Schultz Dropped Bentley's High One in Eleventh.

Larry's Leafs had a 24-hour stay at the top of the league over Saturday night. Despite the fact that Baltimore turned in a victory over our boys on Saturday, Providence's double defeat at Rochester put us on top.

Dunn's flock entertained Richmond on Sunday and put over a win. This boosted Baltimore over our heads into first place by a margin slightly over a point. The Grays fell away by losing a long overtime fixture to the Bears.

The Leafs play two games in Buffalo today and may again lead the league by nightfall.

Pitcher Gould let Baltimore down with five hits on Saturday and should have scored a shutout. The battle went eleven innings, and the Birds gathered in three runs. The Leafs got one tally.

It was an afternoon of misfortune, and errors lost the game. Baltimore's first run was given to them early and the two counters that they secured in the eleventh inning to win the contest were also a present.

It was in the second that we got liberal and gave Dunn's men their first run. Bentley and Lamar dropped singles over the infield. Bues forced Lamar at second. Shannon tapped to Blackburne and the throw to head off Bentley at the plate was good. Mickey Lalonge dropped the throw and the run scored.

The Leafs tied the count in the eighth. After Murray died Lalonge got on free, but Gould rolled out, Schaefle tried to nip Lalonge off second and headed into centre-field, Mickey taking third and counting on Truesdale's double.

It went into overtime and the blow-up came in the eleventh round. Thormahlen walked and Acosta singled. Lalonge gathered in Fewster's foul and Truesdale threw out Barber. Schultz dropped Bentley's fly and both runners scampered home. The Leafs could do nothing in their half and the old game was tossed away.

CHAMPION LEONARD BOXES HERE TODAY

Champion Benny Leonard, the world's best lightweight, conqueror of Freddy Welsh and Johnny Kilbane, will make his first appearance in Toronto this afternoon when he will defend his title at the Island with Young Rector of New York as his opponent. They will box at 133 pounds over the six round route with the winner the third man in the Major Lou Marsh the third man in the ring. The first preliminary will be called at 3.15. Both Leonard and Rector are in the city, and look to be in the best of condition. Returned soldiers will be admitted free. The indications are that a large crowd will be in attendance, and Manager Solman has promised to provide the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association, under whose auspices the show is being held, with a special ferry service. Because of the fact that the receipts over expenses will be devoted to patriotic purposes no war tax will be charged.

STRUCK A SNAG.

The Marco, owned by J. W. Commeford, in the fast motor boat races Saturday afternoon at the exhibition, hit a log just after the start and drove in a plank. The Marco is fitted with a self boiler and this was set in motion and the boat completed one round of the course, 5 miles, with water above the floors, and as the water was gaining on the boiler, the Marco quit the race. Marco and Porcupine would have made a good race but for the accident.

NEW RECORD BY GOULDING

St. Louis, M.O., Sept. 1.—The championship meet record for the three-mile walk, made in 1883, by G. E. Baird, was lowered by George Goulding, Toronto, Y. M. C. A., who made the distance in 21 minutes, 50 1-8 seconds. The old record was 22 minutes, 8 3-5 seconds. The record made today does not equal the A.A.U. record made in 1883, by E. P. Murray, at New York. This was 21 minutes, 9 1-5 seconds.

DURNAN RETAINS SCULLING TITLE

Toronto Oarsman Wins Match by Quarter of a Mile.

HACKETT'S STEERING

Beaudette Man Went Long Way Off the Course.

Eddie Durnan of Toronto, the champion sculler of America, was an easy winner over the American, John L. Hackett of Beaudette, Minnesota, in a three-mile sculling race on the bay Saturday afternoon for a $500 side bet. The time of the race was 24 minutes 25 seconds, and Durnan finished approximately a quarter of a mile in the lead and three minutes five seconds ahead of his opponent.

The course was between Hanlan's Point and Ward's Island. The race began at 6.40 p.m. and Durnan immediately took the lead, increasing it at every stroke thruout the course. Durnan rounded the turning buoy 28 seconds ahead of Hackett. The water was in perfect condition, a light fair south-westerly breeze stirring the water into slight ripples. Hackett, who was unacquainted with the course, got into difficulties at the outset. In the toss-up, he secured the inside course, but apparently lost his way before proceeding half a mile, as he crossed the course of Durnan and was heading toward the city, and a detour was necessary before he returned to his proper course. He was troubled by the slight waves on the water, and lost many strokes during the race.

On the return stretch he again lost his direction. He was forced to cease sculling in order to get his bearings. As he was already a long way behind, this action made spectators believe that he had given up the race. But he immediately started in again and headed for the island.

A large crowd of spectators were on hand and many motor boats accompanied the scullers over the course. Durnan started strong, making about 32 strokes to the minute, and later when he had secured a safe lead, lengthened his stroke to 28 to the minute. Hackett tried to keep up a pace of 34 strokes thruout.

Joe Wright was referee, Harry Dibble judge at the finish, and James W. Barry, of the Argonauts, judge at the turn. John Guinane and Francis Nelson were the timekeepers.

Have a Point Margin Over the Leafs—White Sox Increase Lead.

Newark, Sept. 2.—Newark defeated Providence in an exciting eighteen-inning game here today by a score of 1 to 0. Gregg fanned 20 batsmen, but lost the game in the eighteenth by his wild throw of Enzmann's sacrifice, which allowed Egan to score. During the first 13 innings Enzmann held the visitors to two hits, pitching eleven straight no-hit, no-run innings. Gregg passed five men and Enzmann two. The defeat caused Providence to lose first place in the league race. A second scheduled game could not be played owing to darkness. Score: R. H. E.

Chicago now is leading Boston by four and a half games. The easterners did not play today. Cicotte had the visitors baffled in all innings except the fifth, when bunched hits with a base on balls in between netted two runs. Erratic fielding on the part of Young and Veach, with opportune hitting, gave the locals the lead in the sixth inning of the second game, but Russell blew up in the ninth inning, after holding Jennings' men to three scattered hits, and was nit for four runs. Chicago made its winning run when E. Collins walked and stole second and third, after one was out. Jackson then flied to left and E. Collins counted the winning run. Scores:

Common Errors

It is supposed that the commonest of all the errors so painfully common to golf is failing to keep one's eye on the ball or its equivalent, moving one's head in the act of making a stroke. Important as these admonitions may be, there are numerous other things to be avoided in the game of golf. Indeed, following every direction for playing a shot might be a table setting forth the errors to be avoided in the making of that particular shot, for it is not sufficient to tell a man what to do; he must also be told what he should not do.

A very common error is selecting the wrong club for the work it is expected to do. It is generally agreed that each club works normally within a certain range, and we speak of a mashie-distance and so on. Use the proper club for its proper work. The driver is for the greatest distance, the brassie next, and the irons go down a gradually diminishing scale. Sometimes a player can manage to make a short-distance club do long-distance work, but it is a self-deceptive habit and not at all to be advised.

An only too common fault in making a golf swing is swinging the body instead of the club. The body should be turned at the waist and the club-head should be swung.

Another very common error is dipping the clubhead below the shoulders; that is overswinging. Hitting the ball prematurely before we are comfortably set is another mistake we are likely to make.

Another thing to avoid is playing too much off the left foot, and care must be taken not to crouch over the ball too much. Of course one must be somewhat bent, but it is a case in which judgment must be used. Gripping the club in the palms instead of the fingers I consider a very serious mistake, for golf is a game of touch and that sense lies in the fingers; it is an extremely difficult thing to place a shot with a palm grip.

My idea of teaching a player would be to give him large, general ideas, and then let him practice and adapt them to his individual peculiarities. The commonest errors are the violations of the general fundamental idea of golf strokes. I was watching a man swing the other day, and the are described by his club was impossible from a golfing standpoint. The upstroke and downstroke should be along the same lines, at least for the sake of smoothness.

A thing for every golfer to avoid as he would the plague is tension. Any stiffness is bound to be disastrous, for it is impossible to strike the crisp blow with tight muscles. In the lexicon of golfers the word RELAX should be written over and over again in shining letters. Football is a fighting game with tense muscles; golf is a game of individual skill demanding relaxed muscles and rhythmic movement.

"Not how cheap, but how good, is the way to consider an ARABELA Cigar."
