Sox Follow Up Saturday's 2-1 Win By Beating Giants on Sunday 7-2

FELSCH'S HOMER WON FIRST FOR SOX

E. Cicotte Pitched Wonderful Ball, But Had Very Little on Slim Sallee.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Eddie Cicotte, pitcher extraordinary to the Chicago Americans, piloted his team to victory today over the New York Nationals by a score of 2 to 1 in the first game of the 1917 world series played at Comiskey Park, and at that he had very little on Slim Sallee, who worked for the Giants.

An even 32,000 spectators paid admission to the field of the club, with a result that $73,152 was divided among the players, clubs and the national commission. Of this amount the players received $39,502.08, each of the clubs $13,167.36, and the national commission $7315.20.

While the box score showed little advantage one way or the other between the two teams, the fact remains that the White Sox for the day at least, showed a fester and better machine than the Giants. Both the infield and the outfield worked with perfect judgment and harmony and the players collectively and individually co-operated to a higher degree than was the case with the National League. The men of Rowland with Cicotte on the mound appeared to have a psychological edge on the Giants and even in the most uncertain moments of the contests played with a dash and vim which was an outstanding feature of their work.

They were first to score, gathering in their initial run in the third when, after Schalk had been retired at first by Zimmerman, Cicotte singled thru second. John Collins followed with another to right and Cicotte was thrown out at third by Robertson while Collins took second on the throw across the diamond. From the midway sack he was able to score easily when McMullen doubled over second. The second and deciding run of the contest was a home run drive of remarkable power and length by Felsch in the fourth when the Sox centrefielder caught one of Sallee's sweeping curves on the end of his bat and sent the ball soaring more than 400 feet into the left centre bleachers.

It is doubtful if a Justier home run blow has ever been delivered in world's series.

It is doubtful it a library was blow has ever been delivered in world's series.

The Giants' lone tally came in the following inning when Catcher McCarty hammered out a three-base hit between Felsch and J. Collins which might have gone for a home run also had the Giants' backstop been able to run faster. Recently recovered from a broken leg, however, the best McCarty could do was to reach third from which point he scored easily on Sallee's following single. There were several other times when the Giants threatened, but in every case sensational plays turned them back. The outstanding example of these wonderful defensive p'ays was a shoestring catch by Jackson in the seventh when he swept in on the run and caught McCarty's drive just off the grass and finished with a loniers and could be sensited to the control of the play was the fact that Cicotte was forced to work harder as the winning pitcher than Sallee, who went down in defeat after hurling a creditable game in every respect.

Totals lee, who went down in defeat after hurling a creditable game in every respect.

The tendency of the White Sox to hit anything that looked good instead of waiting out the coposing pitcher was illustrated by the fact that Sallee threw only 86 balls in eight innings. Cicotte's total for the nine innings was 101.

Each pitcher was a bit off in the third finning. Cicotte threw twenty times in that session, nine of his offerings being balls, two clean strikes, three foul strikes, two fouls, one hit safely and three hit to fielders. In the same inning Sallee sent up five balls, five clean strikes, was found for three safe hits and had two pitches hit to fielders.

In the sixth inning neither pitcher had a ball called and Cicotte repeated this feat in the ninth. In the whole game the totals of the various kinds of pitches were as follows: were as follows:
'Balls—Sallee 24, Cicotte 30. Strikes—Sallee 19, C citte 22. Foul strikes—Sallee 12, Cicotte 15. Fouls, after second strike—Sallee 4, Cicotte 4.

Giants Fighting at Home With Backs to the Wall

The Giants and White Sox play Tuesday and Wednesday in New York and thus far Chicago has only used two pitchers against New York's five. Therefore the Giants are fighting at home with their backs to the wall. The teams go back to Chicago on Friday for the fifth game, and the sixth, if necessary, is in New York on Monday.

The white Sox roued over the Giants today like a baseban juggernaut, leaving disaster and dismay in uneir wake. The second victory in two days was far more impressive than the win of yeaterday, and when the teams left the field the Chicago club was surcharged with confidence, while the New York combination was badly shattered, both physically and in morale.

and doubling Jackson off second unassisted.

The failure of Schupp to baffle the White Sox was a severe disappointment to the Giants, for the players had figured that their star left-hander was the equal of Cicotte and would prove a winner when McGraw elected to start him. His downfall, followed so closely by that of Anderson, completely disorganized—the New York Club pitching staff and none of the players would venture a prediction as to who would take up the burden against the Chicago stick wielders when the battle is resumed in New York on Tuesday.

Chicago—Robertson took Gandil's fly. Weaver was safe bn an error by Fletcher and went to second on Schalk's out, Zimmerman to Holke. He took third on Faber's single; the latter advancing to second on the throw to third. Faber then concluded to steal third, while Weaver was on that bag. Faber was out on the queer play. No runs. One hit. One error.

the initial meeting of the teams, there were several sensational fielding features and double plays in which the White Sox specialize. These, added to the spectacular, short, but effective hitting of tacular, short, but effective hitting of the winners and the shifting train of Ciant pitchers, furnished a panorama extremely exciting and satisfying to the followers of the White Sox. All nine fullowers of the White Sox. All nine fullowers of the contest came in the early innings.

The New York club opened and closed their scoring in the second session. After Fletcher had been retired Robertson leaf to the first base line. Meanwhile Herzog hit to Gandil, who, on a fielder's choice, threw Burns out at second. Kauff's high wind-blown fly in short right was unfortunate for Herzog. J. Collins came in at top speed from right had been afraid to lead and was easily thrown out to Eddie Collins. One hit. No runs. No errors.

Great Local Interest In the World's Series

Sox victory was depicted on the Paragon Score Board. The theatre was packed, and prior to the baseball the crowd enjoyed the splendid burlesque, as invariably displayed at the Star.

The fans ate peanuts and rooted just like at a regular ball game. They were equally divided and familiarly called the players by their front names when coming to bat or making some good play. The game tomorrow in New York will also be given.
