FOREST PRESERVATION

The bill relating to the better preservation and protection of New Brunswick forests, which Hon. Mr. Tweedie introduced in the legislature yesterday, is a most important measure, and will no doubt receive the hearty support of the house. The premier stated in his speech that when these laws were first introduced in the legislature, it was discovered that the province possessed many more square miles of land than had been estimated. It is important that the government should know the relative value of different areas, determined by the quality and quantity of forest growth in the different sections. This can only be determined by a careful survey.

THE WINTER PORT

The value of 75 cargoes for the winter port at St. John this season was estimated at $18,188,000, or more than $2,500,000 in excess of the total of last season for 90 cargoes. Already over 3,500,000 bushels of wheat have gone forward this season.

MONEY IN COBALT

So much has been printed of late concerning the riches of the Cobalt region in Ontario that the following article from an Ottawa paper is of timely interest. The announcement that the Cobalt region has discovered a new use for the mineral cobalt, and is buying up large quantities of it for use in storage batteries will tend to enhance the value of the discoveries in the Cobalt region. Until the mineral was unearthed there in large quantities the production was limited and it ranged in value over a dollar a pound, its use being largely confined to pigment purposes for staining glass etc. It resembles nickel and could be used for steel hardening processes if it were less expensive. Since the New Ontario field was opened the price has fallen very much, but even at 85 cents a pound it would be a commercial success for mining where the output is large as in the Cobalt region. There is little doubt that new uses will be found for it which will again enhance the price as soon as manufacturers are convinced that a steady supply of it can be guaranteed. It is understood that the proprietors of the Larose mine have been guaranteed $1 a pound for their output by a large French firm. Hitherto practically none of the cobalt in the district has been sold owing to the slump in the price which followed the opening of the mine, and in the ore shipped to Jersey City for smelting the smelter there only allowed the Canadians the value of the silver and appropriated the cobalt and auxiliary minerals. Edison's discovery will have the effect of making Cobalt properties more valuable.

FOR A SANITARIUM

A bill relating to a sanatorium for consumptives was before the Manitoba legislature this week, and was given its second reading. The following extract from the speech of Dr. McInnes is of especial interest in view of the effort to secure a sanatorium for New Brunswick.

At Gravenhurst there was an institution that was doing excellent work, and which called for the support and sympathy of all Canadians. In 1902, of the 134 cases of tubercular consumption treated at Gravenhurst, 78 were discharged cured, 38 with the disease arrested, 10 with the disease stationary, and 2 patients died. In 1903, of the 141 cases of tubercular consumption treated at Gravenhurst, 78 were discharged cured, 38 with the disease arrested, 10 with the disease stationary, and 2 patients died. In 1904, of the 141 cases of tubercular consumption treated at Gravenhurst, 78 were discharged cured, 38 with the disease arrested, 10 with the disease stationary, and 2 patients died. In 1905, of the 141 cases of tubercular consumption treated at Gravenhurst, 78 were discharged cured, 38 with the disease arrested, 10 with the disease stationary, and 2 patients died.

DOCTORS SAY ERYSIPELAS IS ONE OF HANKIN'S DEADLIEST FOES.

Acute, somewhat contagious, and often fatal, Erysipelas is much to be dreaded. It is supposed to be due to the presence of a particular germ in the system. Chills, fever and intense local redness of the skin are the principal symptoms. There follows an eruption, dark spreading patches, itching and burning skin. No remedy can prevent this disease. Dr. Hamilton's Pills which cleanse the system of the germ, earth the blood, stimulate the bowels to regular, effective action.

Fatal As Consumption

A valued contemporary says St. Patrick was a Scotchman. Our neighbor probably means St. Andrew.

Prince Arthur of Connaught sailed yesterday from Japan for Canada.

The Inglenook Philosopher of Kennebecasis Bay.

What matter if the year grows old, What matter if the leaves turn brown, What matter if the winds blow cold, What matter if the snows fall down, If we have pockets filled with gold, A country home and a home in town?

What matter if our neighbors shake Under misfortune's early frown? If they have naught to boil or bake— Are clothed in tatters from sole to crown?

Why should we worry for their sake In our country home or our home in town?

The gods do well and the gods do ill— On these they smile—on these they frown— 'Tis not for us to haulk their will So long as they our pockets fill, And give us homes in country and town.

Gold is the god of this generation; It is worshipped alike by the intellectual and the ignorant, the rich and the poor. If a young man devotes himself to any scientific or artistic pursuit he is not prompted to do so by love of science or art, but by a desire to profit by their aid. If a young lady makes herself distinguished in any womanly department of knowledge the dollar is the only source of human happiness and that by the accumulation of dollars, and by that alone, can the coveted end be attained. This impression is of comparatively recent origin.

Stephen Girard, born in 1750, had no such impression. He was active, just and saving. It was a passion with him to be useful, not for himself, but for what he could do with it. When he died at 81 years his benefactions amounted to more than $7,000,000, besides a liberal provision for his relatives. He was known during the latter years of his life as "Honest Old Girard." George Peabody, born in 1795, without a single stain upon his reputation, accumulated an estate of $12,000,000, of which he gave away during his lifetime about $8,000,000. Like Girard, he was without a family. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who died in 1877, aged 83 years, had accumulated an estate worth about $120,000,000, was perhaps the last of the multi-millionaires to preserve their honor unspotted through life. The principle of the money grubber today is to get it honestly if he can, but to get it by any means. The man who hoards wealth and brands them "No. 6" is no less a criminal than Hyde; the man who makes syrup out of beet sugar and sells it as maple syrup is no less a criminal than Alexander; the man who uses short weights and measures in selling and long in buying is no less a criminal than the McCurtys; and the man who adulterates foods, fabrics or anything else and sells them as pure is no less a criminal than McCall. Is it because we are all in the same boat that each thing is more honest? I leave the question unanswered.
