NEW YORK FIRE.

our Lives Lost in a Pelham Street Blaze.

ork, Nov. 3.—Several lives in a fire which started about the second floor of the building at Pelham owned by Weil and Meyer as a sweat shop. Three and almost unrecognizable taken from the ruins, and who jumped to save his life flames was so badly injured ed soon afterward.

Dirchner jumped from a second window and died in the hospital of a fractured skull, which originated from some cause, spread with great rapidity the building and the blazing.

U. S. ELECTIONS.

Massachusetts Still Adheres to Republican Principles.

Woman Suffrage Question Snowed
Under in Nearly Every Town.

New York City Goes Democratic, But the State is Carried by the Republicans.

Boston, Nov. 5.—The political battle of 1895 in Massachusetts is over.
The ballots have been counted and the result is as pleasing to the republicans and as disheartening to the democratic party. The question from the first was one of majority since the democratic leader admitted the election of Governor Greenhalge. However, his endorsement would be the point upon which the two parties differed. The results show that the claims of the republicans made prior to the election were well grounded.
The election was carried by the republican ticket is endorsed by a plurality practically the same as that of 1894. The legislative department of the government is also solidly republican, 33 of the 40 senators elected being of that political belief. This is a slight gain for the democratic party, the senate last year having stood 36 republican to 4 democrats. In the house of representatives the republicans have practically the same majority as last year, which was an overwhelming one. The governor's council will contain but one democratic advisor in the executive chamber. In brief the result is a clean sweep for the republican party in the state, it having suffered in no material way from the supposed defection caused by the A. P. A. movement. The ticket elected:

Gov. F. T. Greenhalge of Lowell, rep.; Lieut. Gov. Roger Wolcott of Boston, rep.; Sec. Wm. M. Olin of Boston, dem.; treasurer, Edw. P.
Shaw of Newburyport, rep.; auditor, Jno. W. Kimball of Fitchburg, rep.; attorney general, Hoses M. Knowlton of New Bedford, rep.; congress, 60th district, Wm. H. Moody of Haverhill, rep.; councilors, first district, N. F.
Ryder of Middleboro, rep.; second district, B. S. Lovell of Weymouth, rep.; third district, F. H. Raymond of Somerville, rep.; fourth district, John H. Sullivan of Boston, dem.; fifth district, B. F. Southwick of Peabody, rep.; sixth district, John M. Harlow of Woburn, rep.; seventh district, Chas. E. Stevens of Ware, rep.; eighth district, Chas. A. Towne of Orange, rep.

Boston, Nov. 6.—The city of Boston gives Greenhalge 30,785; Williams, 33-287. The same precincts last year gave Greenhalge 30,951; Williams, 33,145, a gain of 755 for Greenhalge.

New York, Nov. 5.—The republicans have carried New York state above the Harlem for the head of the state ticket by a plurality clearly estimated at 100,000. The democrats have carried New York city by a plurality of 40,000 for the head of the state ticket, and have carried Brooklyn by 6,000, giving the state to the republicans by probably 54,000, showing a net republican gain over the election of two years ago of nearly 30,000.

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 5.—The state officers elected two years ago by the republicans have been re-elected, and the two branches of the legislature remain as before under the direction of the republicans.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5.—Mayor Pingree is elected for his fourth term by upwards of 10,000 plurality over Goldwater, democrat. His majority is over 5,000 greater than two years ago.

Mississippi, Nov. 5.—North Carolina and Kentucky remain democratic, the latter by a close majority.

Boston, Nov. 6.—The most remarkable republican victories were in Maryland and Kentucky, where a democratic defeat has hitherto been unheard of. In Maryland, Lowdres, republican, is elected governor by 17,000 plurality. The forces led by United States Senator Gorman were complet-ly routed, Gorman even failing to carry his own town of Laurel, where he has lived from his boyhood days.
His defeat created great surprise in Washington circles.

The latest returns from New Jersey indicate the election of Griggs, republican, as governor by a majority of 25,000. This is a republican landslide, as the present governor is democratic.

The senate will be 13 republicans and three democrats. The assembly 42 republicans and 15 democrats.

Nebraska went republican by 25,000, and Drake, republican, has been elected governor of Iowa by over 80,000 plurality.

The republican plurality in Pennsylvania is 161,914 for Haywood for state treasurer, according to later returns.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

By the Women's Christian Temperance Union of St. John.

Trust the people—the wise and the ignorant, the good and the bad—with the gravest questions, and in the end you educate the race.

The W. C. T. U. convention of St.
John county will be held Tuesday, Nov. 19th, in the parlor on Canterbury street, St. John, at three o'clock sharp.
A good programme has been prepared and a large attendance is desired. The ladies who promised papers for the convention that was to be held in August, but which it was thought desirable to postpone, will read them at this meeting without further invitation from the county superintendent. There will be a public meeting in the evening, for which the visiting members are invited to remain.

Today (Friday, Nov. 8th) is the day set apart by the St. John W. C. T. U. as Yountans' Band crusade day, as the one suggested in the crusade letter sent out by the president, Albert Corresponding secretary of the N. B. unions was not convenient. We hope soon to hear that those who undertook the work of securing signatures to the pledge cards have been most successful. It is a good idea to have our banners all ready to pin on, as the don-ing the ribbon not only causes the new member to understand that she belongs to the White Ribbon army, but affords the crusader opportunity for speaking of the importance of always wearing the white ribbon. As it will be impossible for the county superintendent to visit today, she with a Yountans' band worker visited Silver Pails on Wednesday and secured the names of four ladies who are willing to become identified with the W. C.
T. U. work, and we were encouraged to believe that more would follow.
We also received from the Methodist minister on that circuit, and from a number of the ladies, a cordial invitation to cooperate with the W. C. T. U. to go out and unite with them in a social temperance meeting. This we propose to do at an early date. We hope soon to have a large number of Yountans' band members, not only in St. John, but in other neighboring districts, and that we may not only meet them at such gatherings as that spoken of above, but in our own W.
C. T. U. local and convention meetings, where they will be entitled to all the privileges and honors of the organization. The afternoon is now so short that it was impossible to see every one desired on Wednesday. We shall hope for success at our evening meetings. The pledge cards read as follows:

YOUNTANS' B. C. T. U. BAND.
Motto—"If God be for us who can be against us?"

I HEREBY Promise, God helping me, to abstain from all distilled, fermented and malt beverages, including beer, wine and cider as well as from the use of tobacco and to discourage the use of and traffic in the same.

Each member shall pay an annual dues of twenty cents to the local society.
The superintendent for the benefit of the general treasury.

Each member shall wear the White Ribbon, and pray daily, at noon, if possible, for God's blessing on his and his neighbor's work.

The duke and his bride apparently took a light breakfast, and the duke then appeared for a few minutes on the veranda.

The duke's private secretary met all comers and informed them that the duke and duchess had come to Idle Hour to rest, and would remain as quiet as possible during their short stay. The secretary said he did not know who had been invited to come to Idle Hour aside from William K.
Vanderbilt, the bride's father.

The prominent persons having summer residences near Idle Hour are: W.
Bayard Cutting, F. G. Borne, S. E.
Roberts and R. P. Cutting.

The bride's chamber is in the second floor of the house, and is elegantly appointed. It is the room formerly occupied by the bride's father and mother. The duke and duchess, it is announced, will remain at Idle Hour for one week. Then they will start either on a southern trip or for Europe.

W. E. BURNETT MISSING.

William H. Burnett, who came on from Colorado to visit his relatives at Central Norton, Kings Co., disappeared about ten days before the opening of the St. John exhibition, and his brothers are now extremely anxious to obtain some intelligence of his whereabouts, alive or dead, as they fear some terrible calamity has befallen him. He did not return to Colorado, as several letters have recently come to hand addressed to him by his children. When he left Norton, he told his brothers that he intended to go to Woodstock, but would not be absent over ten days or thereabouts.
He was driven across country by one of his brothers to Edwin Wilson's on the St. John river at Wickham, Queens Co., presumably to take a steambat there for Fredericton. Since then no trace of him can be found. Whether he left the place, and if so by what route, has not yet come to light, although his brothers and others wrote to friends in Wickham, who replied that they could find no clue to his whereabouts. Letters to Woodstock have elicited equally alarming replies. Mr. Burnett was about 5 ft.
7 or 8 inches in height, quite stout, of dark complexion, with greyish hair, moustache and chin whisker and somewhat bald. He wore a suit of dark clothes, a dark overcoat and a dark felt hat. At the time he left Norton he had about two hundred dollars on his person.

abouts will be thankfully received by to the Evening Post from Harrisburg, Ky., says: Gen. Hardin, who is a brother's home in this city, concedes Bradley's election and returns received. He takes his defeat cheerfully and says he did his duty. It is probable that he will open a law office in Louisville, Frankfort or Lexington.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—A special to the Evening Post from Lancaster, Ky., says: Col. Bradley is receiving congratulations from all over the state this morning. At three o'clock he resented himself to the Evening Post correspondent as certain of election with 15,000 majority. This estimate is received from a message to Chairman Hunter of the republican committee, Baltimore, Nov. 6.—The people of Maryland have recovered from the surprise caused by yesterday's political avalanche, and are beginning to inquire how it happened and what the result of it is going to be. Congressman George L. Wellton, chairman of the republican state committee, sums it up in a few words as follows:
"The people of Maryland are tired of German and Germanism and Ratsinism, and have backed their sentiments with their ballots."

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—"If W.
O. Bradley is elected governor of Kentucky," said John C. New, proprietor of the Indianapolis Journal, this afternoon, "it will probably make him the republican nominee for vice-president next year."

Kansas City, Nov. 6.—Kansas returns today show that the republicans made practically a clean sweep of the state, carrying a majority of counties and electing many of the officers of the state.

London, Nov. 6.—The Post (conservative) will say in an editorial tomorrow of the election in the United States: "The general result confirms the opinion that the reaction against the democrats, which was so conspicuous last November, is still in operation. The democratic success in New York city was truly remarkable, and was undoubtedly partly due to the intolerance of the reforming party."

London, Nov. 7.—The Daily News (liberal) says of the result in the United States: "The elections are so markedly in favor of the republicans that the presidential seat is all but safe for the next year. The Tammany success in New York city is of no real importance and will not stop the reformers."

The Chicago (liberal) says: "It is quite clear that there is no real re-actional revival. We regret, but are not surprised, at the victory of Tammany in New York. It carries an important lesson for our too extreme temperance friends."

THE DUKE AND DUCHESS.

They are Spending Their Money at W. K. Vanderbilt's Residence, Idle Hour.

New York, Nov. 7.—The Duke of Marlborough and his bride, the duchess, are still at Idle Hour, the country residence of William K. Vanderbilt, the bride's father, at Oakdale, L. I.
This morning the country folk from the surrounding villages in large numbers came on foot, on wheel and in vehicles, and passed along the road in front of the Vanderbilt villa, with the hope of getting a glimpse at the couple.

The duke and his bride apparently
the veranda.

all comers and informed them that

The Trial of Engineer Farr, Who is Charged With Arson and Murder.

Winnipeg Clearing House Returns—Trouble in the 90th Battalion.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 7.—The assizes court today was again occupied with the case of the engineer, William Farr, charged with attempted arson and murder. The line of the defence seems to be that Miss Robinson, to whom Farr had engaged himself, was the guilty party of attempting to burn up Farr's wife and family.

The returns of the Winnipeg clearing house for the week ending today show the heaviest work since the establishment of the clearing house here, there being an increase of $700, 000 for the six days as compared with the same period last year. The figures this week were, clearances, $2,351,555; balances, $624,559.

There is trouble in the 90th Battalion here. The men have never received their money, but it has been retained by the officers for a regimental fund. The men claim that they cannot get an accounting and demand an investigation. The officers say they invite inquiry.

Mr. Richardson, editor of the Tribune, against Mr. Beaton, a well known local journalist, who attacked him in an article headed, "A Manufacturer of News," was thrown out of court last night by the grand jury. The alleged libellous article had been published, had made an apology, and this, it is said, the grand jury considered insufficient, where the great wrong brought in no bill, however, there was considerable surprise.

Rapid City, Nov. 7.—E. Gardner's hardware store was completely destroyed by fire tonight. The second story of the building was occupied by the Salvation Army and county court clerk. All county court records destroyed. The building was owned by J. M. Hall. The building and stock were insured.

HOLMES' PARENTS.
Are Told of the Fate That Awaits Their Son in Philadelphia.

New York, Nov. 4.—A special to a local paper from Boston says: Over hills and precipitous paths, a correspondent drove to the early home of E. H. Holmes, the convicted murderer, to give to his anxious family as tenderly as possible the news of the trial in Philadelphia.

"Old Mr. Mudgett answered the knock on the door. He led me into the parlor, where his own wife and convicted son's first wife were sitting.
Mrs. Holmes looked haggard and careworn. I have brought news to you about the result of the trial of Herman, will you permit me to tell you about it?"

"He is discharged, I suppose," said Holmes' mother, "but they won't let him go free. They will take him for something else now," she added.

"He is free, I suppose," said old Mr.
Mudgett. "I wish to ask you, my friends, to prepare yourselves for the worst," I answered, Holmes' wife became pale. She closed her eyes and lay down on the lounge, seemingly in great agony and almost hysterical.
Mr. Mudgett simply mumbled to himself, as if absolutely overwhelmed by his great sorrow. Old Mrs. Mudgett at length said: "The newspapers have done us great injustice in this awful outrage. I want you to say that if Herman let us, some six years ago, he was the cleanest youth in town.
We are not responsible for his conduct now."

"I think," said his wife, "he must be out of his mind."
The elder Mudgett was now shedding tears. Holmes' mother maintained to all appearances the stoical indifference, while her daughter-in-law appeared childishly simple. The reporter took dinner at Morrison's, in Tilton, with Holmes' fourteen-year-old son Robert. The young man was ignorant of the verdict. "Robert," said after dinner, "you might as well learn now that your father has been found guilty of murder."
Robert said nothing, but hung his head and shed tears copiously. "Oh, my poor papa," he said, "do you think he will hang him?"
"The scene was pitiful and pathetic in the extreme."
On Wednesday afternoon at Charlotestown, in the residence of Rev. D.
Sutherland, occurred the marriage of
E. T. Carbonell, editor of the Prince Edward Islander, and Miss Catherine McDougall, daughter of Captain Nell McDougall. The groom was supported by Harry Jencks, while Miss Ina Carbonell acted as bridesmaid—

SUICIDE AT SEA.

A Sailor on the Bark Nellie Troop Wearies of a Long Voyage.

Two Hundred and Nine Days From Manilla—Spent a Whole Month in Doubling the Cape of Good Hope.

New York, Nov. 5.—A remarkable passage like that of the St. John bark Nellie Troop is seldom chronicled in maritime lore. Just 209 days ago today the vessel left Manila, the Philippine Islands, with a cargo of hemp and sugar, consigned to Rall Bros. of this city. Her agents, J. W. Parker & Co., of Beaver and Broad streets, reported the vessel several weeks ago to be making a long passage. She came to port today with a crew as disgusted with seafaring as any of recent years.
Captain Young is the commander of the vessel, and he had his wife and two children with him on the trip.
Good luck attended the efforts of the bark at the beginning of the passage, and it was not until the cape of Good Hope showed ahead that trials and tribulations assailed the sailor.

First it was a calm, in which the bark lay for five days like an iceberg calmed on a motionless sea of green; then it was a snow storm, which filled the deck with myriads of flakes and ices, and finally the climax arrived, when a hurricane, fierce as it was long in duration, swept out from the east and drove the craft back seaward four inches by inch. There was no use trying to breast this hurricane, Master Young said, and at times the vessel was under bare poles to escape its violence. In all thirty days were waited before the wind jammer finally succeeded in doubling the cape.

In the height of the storm one of the sailors, James O'Brien by name, attempted suicide. He had no reason to take his life, unless it was that he preferred dying any other way than as he supposed, through shipwreck.
On June 18, on a call for all hands, O'Brien was found lying in his bunk with his throat cut. He was still alive, in sewing up his wound, but he had lost so much blood that he died a week later. O'Brien was 28 years old and a native of Hobart Town, Tasmania.

The Norwegian bark Norda also came to port today after a hard passage. She left Cochin, China, 163 days ago. She was thirty-nine days trying to round the Cape of Good Hope. She and the Nellie Troop encountered a hurricane finale in the Gulf of Aden, which did some damage to the vessel, and both are slightly damaged in consequence.

THE VICTORIOUS

Launch of the Latest Addition to the British Navy.

London, Oct. 21.—Accustomed as are inhabitants of the old town of Chatham to ceremonials appertaining to the floating of warships, the extraordinary and unanimous interest manifested by the multitude on the morning of Saturday last, preparatory to the launching of the latest addition to her majesty's fleet, was sufficiently marked to have inspired any stranger within their ancient gates with the belief that some unusual event was about to occur. The occasion was an entirely new and wholly original character. "The bustle, the excitement, and the enthusiasm were such, indeed, that wanderers from afar might well have imagined that the good folk in the miles of fresh fallen snow on steep hills and precipitous paths, a correspondent drove to the early home of
E. H. Holmes, the convicted murderer, to give to his anxious family as
trial in Philadelphia.

convicted son's first wife were sitting.
Mrs. Holmes looked haggard and care-

something else now," she added.

"He is free, I suppose," said old Mr.
worst," I answered, Holmes' wife be-
great agony and almost hysterical.
Mr. Mudgett simply mumbled to him-
outrage. I want you to say that if Herman let us, some six years ago,
he was the cleanest youth in town.
We are not responsible for his conduct
now."

be out of his mind."
ding tears. Holmes' mother main-
law appeared childishly simple. The
reporter took dinner at Morrison's, in Tilton, with Holmes' fourteen-year-
ignorant of the verdict. "Robert,"
head and shed tears copiously. "Oh,
he will hang him?"
in the extreme."
On Wednesday afternoon at Char-
lotestown, in the residence of Rev. D.
Sutherland, occurred the marriage of
E. T. Carbonell, editor of the Prince
Edward Islander, and Miss Catherine
McDougall. The groom was supported by Harry Jencks, while Miss Ina

27 feet 6 inches, while her displacement is 15,000 tons. Her armour consists of hardened-steel solid steel plates, the central citadel, which practically includes the main body of the ship, having 8 in. plates over its sides, and 14 in. forward and 12 in. after bulkheads right across the hull, which resembles in every particular that of her prototype. The barbettes are clad with 14 inch, and 7 in. armour, while the protective deck plating within the citadel has two thicknesses respectively of 1 1/2 in. and 1 in., the protective plating of the fore and after parts of the deck, outside the citadel, being of the same two thicknesses. It may be mentioned that Messrs. Cammell Sheffield have the contract for the ship's armour, the government having adopted their hardened-steel armor-plates at the trial of "Harvey-ed" plates in 1893. The vessel's armament will consist of four 46-ton guns, the machinery for working which will be supplied by Lord Armstrong's company; twelve 6-in. quick-firing guns, sixteen 12-pounder 12 cwt. guns, two 12-pounder 8 cwt. boat and deck guns, two 3-pounder quick-firing guns, and eight 0.45 in. Maxims. Of torpedoes she will carry twelve 15 in. diameter, and five of 14 in. for boats. Her engines will be built by Messrs. Hawthorne, Leslie & Co., and will include the overhead triple-expansion type, and are to develop, working at 156 lbs. to the square inch, 12,000 indicated horse power, which, it is calculated, should give the vessel a speed of 17 1/2 knots under forced draught. The coal capacity of the ship is 4,800 tons, or double that of the ill-fated Victoria. Finally, it should be recorded that the Victorious is lighted throughout by electricity, three dynamos, each of 600 amperes and 60 volts, being provided.
