EVIDENCE IN THE LOU DILLON TRIAL
NEW YORK, April 2.—Millard Sanders, the former trainer of the trotting mare, Lou Dillon, was the first witness called today in the trial of the suit brought by the Memphis Trotting Association to recover the gold cup won by F. P. Smathers' horse Major Delmar, in 1904.
It was testified yesterday that George W. Spear, a former trainer for Smathers, negotiated with Ed. Sanders, a brother of Millard to have Lou put in such condition that she would not win the race.
Millard Sanders testified for the plaintiff that at the Lexington, Ky., race track about ten days before the race at Memphis, when Major Delmar won the cup, he overheard Smathers tell Ed. Sanders that he would "beat the mare on the square."
Millard Sanders said that his brother told him they would get $5,000 for making Lou Dillon lose the race. Witness said he told his brother not to mention the subject to him again, but two days later Ed. Sanders told him it would be an easy way to secure the money.

STICK TO THE SIX INCH GUN
Not an Obsolete Weapon Says
Jap Gunnery Experts
Mikado's Men Have Not Copied the English In Discipline, Strategy and Tactics.

LONDON, April 2.—The Chronicle's naval correspondent writes:—"Japan's gunnery experts who watched the recent prize firing of the British Chinese squadron, and who had the admiral make a mistake in treating the 6-inch gun as an obsolete weapon. They hold that battles will be fought at sea as much as on land, and that the bursting of shells outside as by the material results of shell fire in a heavy sea. They must occur when light and also of physical punishment, such as the firing of shells into a zone of 6,000 yards. It is understood that the Japanese dreadnought will carry 12 6-inch guns.
"Japanese naval discipline is a marvelous thing to English eyes. There is no cog of punishment. An officer reprimands with a faulty man. He reminds him of his ancestors and appeals to his love of country. If the man is recalcitrant the officer slaps his face once or twice, however, there has been a slighter greater tendency to drink on the part of seamen.
"It is a mistake to think that the Japanese have copied the English navy in other than mechanical points in construction, and the arrangement and dress of material. They think for themselves on higher discipline, strategy and tactics. The arrangements for the straits of Tsushima victory were worked out by a lieutenant on the staff of Tokio. Admiral Togo, to his eternal honor, accepted the plans of his junior, who has since been promoted to the rank of commander.

A few minutes later Fred Tenant, an employee of the Yale team, was kicked by one of the horses drawing the omnibus and Tenant's leg was fractured. Both men are under treatment and the club left for home tonight without them.

OLEAGINOUS LAKE PUTS SPIRIT TEST TO NAUGHT
Eludes Diggers Who Delve 6000 Feet Under Medium's Guidance.
BLOSSBURG, Pa., April 2.—However spiritualistic mediums and clairvoyants are able to see things, locate lost objects and children and cast the horoscope generally, there is one thing that they evidently can't do: locate the pool that feeds the oil territory around Galesburg, Pa.
Both spirit and matter have sought in vain to do this. Oil is being pumped there right at the rate of 10,000 a day, and the opinion that it comes from a pool, to locate this oil lake has been the object of the Standard Oil Company's efforts for several years. Finally, a woman spiritualistic medium in Elmira one night had a vision. It showed the precise location of this much-sought subterranean oleaginous lake, and so thoroughly was she convinced that the spirits had told her right that the sum of $10,000 was raised without much difficulty to put down a well where the spirits said. Through long days of labor the tools have been lost down this crater, chug! chug! until a depth of 4000 feet was reached, the deepest ever drilled in this section; the appropriate machinery exhausted, and no oil was forthcoming. Still undeterred, $2000 more was raised, and the resumption of drilling took place (ill 6000 feet of cable was swallowed up in the journey downward, yet no oil. For more than a year the tools have been lost down this crater. The spiritualists have been paying $15 a month rent for their lease, till that of March has been, it is said, defaulted in payment, which indicates that the well of the spirits has been abandoned.

SON OF KAISER TO ENTER HARVARD
Said to be in Line With His American Policy
Will Probably go to the United States in Time for the Opening of the College Year.
LONDON, April 2.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the Kaiser's decision to send his fifth son, Oscar, to Harvard University is a continuation of his majesty's American policy, which began with his dispatching his brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, to the United States in 1903, and which has been kept up meantime by a series of compliments, such as the donation of statues, buying American yachts, the exchange of professors by German and American universities, and by conspicuous hospitality to distinguished American visitors.
Nothing definite is known as to when the Kaiser's son is going to Harvard, but it is known that the German Foreign Office or the American Embassy at Berlin. The Kaiser first expressed his intention to educate one of his sons at Harvard at a dinner at the American Embassy last year. He at the time had in his mind his fourth son, Prince August Wilhelm, but as he has since become engaged to be married, the Kaiser apparently decided that Prince Oscar, who will be 19 years old in July, should be the one to receive the advantage of a thoroughly democratic university training. It is probable that he will be accompanied by a military attaché. He will go to the United States in time for the opening of next college year, in September. He is now an undergraduate of Bonn University.
The Kaiser determined the emperor in his choice of Harvard. First, it is the alma mater of President Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt, who is extremely popular at the German court, and, secondly, it is the American university which makes a specialty of German subjects. Furthermore, it is the seat of that small American cult which opposed the Monroe doctrine.

ENGLAND MAY ABOLISH HANGING
Bill to be Shortly Presented to Parliament
The Latest Reprise is Horace Rayner Who Shot William Whiteley, the London Merchant.
LONDON, April 2.—Horace C. Rayner, the young man who shot and killed William Whiteley, the well known merchant, on Jan. 24, and was sentenced to be hanged, has been reprieved. Mr. Gladstone, the Home Secretary, having advised the King to commute the sentence to penal servitude for life. The newspaper editorials this morning generally approve the action, although the ground of the Home Secretary's decision is admittedly based more on sentiment than law. The opportunity is taken advantage of to discover phases of similarity between the Rayner and Thaw cases. The sheriff of Hull is quoted as saying: "Thank God for a Thaw and a Rayner, who are prepared to give their lives to rid the world of such pests to society as White and Whiteley."
The reprieve has raised the question of the abolition of capital punishment, a bill for which is expected to be shortly presented to Parliament.
Lloyd's Weekly News suggests that the numerous reprieves in recent years cancel the early abolition of capital punishment in this country.

Four hundred teachers will have met, and their applause evidenced thorough accord with the spirit of the organization.

TORONTO, Ont., April 2.—The school teachers of Ontario will form a union, though they prefer not to call it by that name—with two main objects of raising salaries and elevating the status of the profession. A draft of the constitution was submitted this morning to a meeting of the public school teachers held in connection with the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association, which began this morning at the University of Toronto. Four hundred teachers will have met, and their applause evidenced thorough accord with the spirit of the organization.

ENGLAND MAY ABOLISH HANGING
Bill to be Shortly Presented to Parliament
The Latest Reprise is Horace Rayner Who Shot William Whiteley, the London Merchant.
LONDON, April 2.—Horace C. Rayner, the young man who shot and killed William Whiteley, the well known merchant, on Jan. 24, and was sentenced to be hanged, has been reprieved. Mr. Gladstone, the Home Secretary, having advised the King to commute the sentence to penal servitude for life. The newspaper editorials this morning generally approve the action, although the ground of the Home Secretary's decision is admittedly based more on sentiment than law. The opportunity is taken advantage of to discover phases of similarity between the Rayner and Thaw cases. The sheriff of Hull is quoted as saying: "Thank God for a Thaw and a Rayner, who are prepared to give their lives to rid the world of such pests to society as White and Whiteley."
The reprieve has raised the question of the abolition of capital punishment, a bill for which is expected to be shortly presented to Parliament.
Lloyd's Weekly News suggests that the numerous reprieves in recent years cancel the early abolition of capital punishment in this country.
