

REV. H. A. MEAHAN.

Funeral Took Place Yesterday.

Large Gathering of Sorrowing People—Sermon by Very Rev. W. F. Chapman.

MONCTON, N. B., June 23.—It was at first contemplated to hold the funeral services of Rev. H. A. Meahan on Saturday morning, but his lordship Bishop Casey changed this.

At a meeting of the Moncton city school board on Wednesday evening, J. T. Hawke, the chairman, directed attention to the sudden death of Father Meahan, a clergyman who had been so long a prominent citizen and who had taken so deep an interest in the welfare of the community and who had especially showed such a deep interest in educational matters that he would be generally missed, he said.

On Thursday evening the remains of the deceased were removed from the rectory to St. Bernard's church, where there was a short service at which Bishop Casey officiated.

From the church he loved so well the remains of the late Father Meahan were taken to the Roman Catholic cemetery on Shediac Road and interred. The funeral was the largest ever seen here, and the body of the beloved priest was followed by an immense concourse of people of all creeds.

Last evening Leve du Corp took place in the late priest's residence, and was conducted by His Lordship Bishop Casey, assisted by Very Rev. General Hebert, sacristan; Very Rev. W. F. Chapman, St. John; Fathers Savage, Sussex; D. LeBlanc, Kingsclear, York; St. Ann, and Cormier of Moncton. His lordship and the rest of the clergy preceded by the choir, chanted the Miserere while the body was borne on a bier to the church, where in the center aisle it was placed on a catafalque just outside the sanctuary rail.

Long before the hour set for the last ceremonies this morning, people began to assemble in the church. The interior of the edifice presented a solemn appearance. The white columns were draped black, the altar and sanctuary were covered with folds of royal purple, everything was dark and gloomy and suited well the feelings of sorrow and gloom which filled the hearts of the people. A pathetic feature during the ceremony was Rev. Father Meahan's vacant chair, the seat of which was on either side of which sat the deacon and sub-deacon. The ceremony consisted of pontifical high mass of requiem, celebrated by his lordship Bishop Casey, high priest. Very Rev. W. F. Chapman, V. G.; deacon of honor, Very Rev. John Hebert, V. G.; sub-deacon of honor, Rev. W. E. White, C. S. S. R.; deacon of office, Rev. Father Ryan; sub-deacon of office, Rev. Father L. G. LeBlanc; master of ceremonies, Rev. Father L. Archiveque. There were thirty-one priests in the sanctuary from different points of the provinces. At the close of the mass Rev. Fr. Chapman, St. John, preached an eloquent sermon in English.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS IN BLOOMFIELD SCHOOL.

Miss Julia Buchanan, B.A., Will Take Charge of the Advanced Department.

BLOOMFIELD STATION, June 23.—The school here even under the old system was one of the best in the county, having among its teachers such men as G. U. Hay, R. C. Wilson and Frank Hayes. There is still the determination to keep up with the times, as at the annual school meeting votes were taken in favor of manual training and school gardening, also consolidation when the districts are ready.

Both teachers sent notice of resignation some time ago, but Mr. Charwood, the principal, has been induced to remain. As, however, he expects to take a course at the Macdonald Institute at Guelph next term, it is understood that his place will be supplied by Miss Julia C. Buchanan, B. A., of the U. N. B., who has just been taking a course in domestic science at the latter college. She is an excellent student with a desire for the primary department a teacher qualified to take up the manual training work.

OTTAWA LETTER.

House Again Struggling With Autonomy Bill.

Hon. Mr. Oliver Placed in a Bad Light—Impressive Speech by L. G. McCarthy of Calgary.

OTTAWA, June 14.—Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away the liberals are not as jubilant as they were last night when the final returns came in from London and North Oxford. It was a great relief to them to know they held the two seats and they cheered like mad. This morning, however, they are beginning to recognize the handwriting on the wall. Never in all Canadian history did a government put forth such strenuous exertions to elect its candidates. For two weeks the business of parliament was practically suspended to enable cabinet ministers to stump and work the two ridings. Laurier sat in his place and made a bluff of explaining estimates of several departments while the heads were seducing or brow-beating the business men of London and Woodstock. To have lost Hyman meant the death knell of the administration, as the revolt would have spread over the country like a prairie fire.

That party is wise which profits by its mistakes and applies the information acquired in adversity to the next campaign. With proper organization, North Oxford could have been carried by the conservatives. Even the liberals today admit they were outclassed and should have been beaten.

On Monday J. D. Hazen, M. P., P. E., went out with Mr. Borden and made a speech at Carp, Ontario. The gathering being a lawn social under the auspices of the local Presbyterian church. Mr. Borden spoke happily, but most of his time was devoted to shaking hands with his constituents. The Ottawa Citizen thus summarizes Mr. Hazen's remarks: "Hon. J. D. Hazen, leader of the opposition in the New Brunswick legislature, in a happy mood, the beautiful women and the staid sons of Carleton Co., and spoke of the benefits of such gatherings. He did not intend to talk politics, he said the people in Carleton would ever remember with pride the time they were represented in the dominion parliament by E. L. Borden, one of the most able and honorable men, one of the most able men Canadian public life has ever had. He closed with a patriotic reference to the future of Canada under the British flag."

Mr. Fowler of Kings and Albert, took a prominent part in the debate that exposed the government's plan to prevent the bribery oath being put to the returning officers in North Oxford and London, by dropping that part of the instructions to returning officers. He made good Mr. Foster's statement that the statute which was in force at the time referred to was not the principal parts excised by the secretary of states. When Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick attempted to justify this mangling of the law, he was told that the Ontario bribery oath could be read to the elector from the statute book, Mr. Fowler said:

It seems to me that the refutation of the arguments of the minister of inland revenue and the minister of justice is contained in section 7 of form 16. Section 7 says: "That you have not voted before at this election either at this or any other polling station." The minister of justice contended that the old form sent out in 1900, the form which contained the full oath, was adopted in mistake on the part of the returning officers, so when the bribery oath was required to be put to an elector it was not put and there was the form before him, and there could be no such question as to which of the two forms was the one which was wrong to send that out, because it contained more than the qualification—because it contained all the qualification as well—but here we have this oath which set forth by the minister of justice as being the only right and correct thing and it contains the very same objection as that contained in the old instructions of 1900. That is why I asked the minister of justice whether he looked up on section 7 as a qualification or a disqualification. If the acceptance of a bribe by an elector is a disqualification, certainly for him to have voted before at that election is a disqualification as well.

Mr. Fitzpatrick—in one sense it is but in another it is not. Mr. Fowler—I am surprised that the minister would say it is not a disqualification. Mr. Fitzpatrick—I did not say that, I said that in one case it is a disqualification and not in another. I said to have voted before at an election is a disqualification so far as the elector's right to vote is concerned, but not as to his right to be on the voters' list. R. L. Borden—Bribery is not either. Mr. Fowler—I would like to have the minister of justice prove that because a man accepted a bribe that is a disqualification and he should not be on the list. I think the minister will find some difficulty in finding anything in the law to justify a statement like that. As I have said, that is a refutation of the whole argument. If you have a right to have a portion of the law repealed, in an oath you have a right to have the whole thing in that oath, and I cannot quite agree with the hon. gentlemen who have spoken from this side of the house who have so far as I have heard, said that they disclaim the idea that the government have willfully done this thing. I do not know that they have willfully done this thing, but I say an prepared to believe and the evidence shows conclusively that they have done this thing. It is done for a purpose I believe as firmly as I believe in anything. I have listened to the arguments and I have listened with considerable amusement to the minister of inland revenue floundering in his argument. Usually he is very clear, but he had such a base case that he floundered badly in this instance. The minister of justice, stated bad law in order to try and bolster up a bad case, and from all these things I am perfectly convinced that he did not willfully, done for the purpose of making it difficult for justice to be done and for an honest vote to be cast, because the hon. gentlemen know perfectly that the law is the law today, if an honest vote of these two constituencies were cast, the government candidate would certainly be very badly defeated.

Mr. Foster's speech in this debate was one of his best this session. He worried Laurier and had Fitzpatrick on the pentit bench. He twitted the premier and his strong right Quebec arm, the minister of justice, with taking shelter behind the garb hairs of the secretary of state, a cowardly attitude from which they could never morally recover. Mr. Foster said in part: "In 1900, the government of which my right hon. friend is head, and of which the present minister of justice was the minister of justice then, made this up in the year 1900, and reported to be form 15 of the Ontario act, they gave an exact receipt of that form in which appeared these two sections which were omitted from the next form. Why the hon. gentleman should have not received anything, nor has anything been promised you, either directly or indirectly in order to induce you to vote at this election or for loss of time, travelling expenses or any other service connected therewith. "(8) And that you have not directly or indirectly paid or promised anything to any person in order to induce him to vote or refrain from voting at the election."

The debate on the gerrymandering of Alberta put Mr. Oliver in a bad light. Hon. Mr. Foster wanted facts, not partisan harangues, and finally Sir Wilfrid had to give the matter personal attention to the redistribution question. He pointed out that every one of the constituencies which had been altered in the redistribution of the province, and left unaltered for political reasons. As the development of the province had been greater in the north there were 247 electors in the southern and central Alberta, were quite naturally complaining against this treatment. Taking up the question of the recent increase in population in the north, the hon. member stated returns showed that in the last three years there have been 9,941 electors north of the dividing line, and 4,028 south. The proportions are 48 and 52 per cent. The hon. member said, however, many homestead entries in the north are speculative. Further, the heavy sales of lands in connection with the two great irrigation schemes in the south must be considered as an additional indication of heavy settlement in the south. Again, the returns of the government sales of lands showed that 54 per cent of the total sales place in the south, 46 per cent in the north. The cash receipts from the land sales in recent years had been 34 per cent in the north, 66 per cent in the south. By this computation the urban population would be 63,750 of which 42,450 was to the south and 21,300 to the north. Next he made an estimate of the population in the rural population. South of the dividing line he calculated there were at the beginning of the year 365 thirty settled and 288 sparsely settled townships. To the north there were 247 thickly settled and 159 sparsely settled townships. His final calculation was: Population in the south, 102,834; population in the north, 102,834. About eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since."

Of course the bill will go through, as Oliver and Walter Scott have arranged the electoral boundaries, but once the province is constituted it can deal with its own constituencies as it pleases. R. A. P.

ST. STEPHEN NEWS: STEAMER VIKING WILL BE REPLACED.

ST. STEPHEN, June 22.—Thos. H. Campbell, a former efficient town marshal, who has been on the Pacific coast, returned home last evening. Dr. J. Walter Clarke arrived from New York yesterday and left with his brother, Geo. J. Clarke, M. P., to the Methodist pastorate here, where their mother is critically ill. Miss Willa Finley is critically ill with spinal meningitis. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dexter have returned from the South after a long absence. Mrs. Walter Grimmer is soon to sail for England, where she will visit relatives. Rev. J. C. Robertson is in Toronto in connection with his appointment as general secretary of Presbyterian Sunday school work. The appointment of Rev. Geo. M. Young to the Methodist pastorate here gives very great satisfaction to the members of that congregation. T. Burton Abbot, proprietor of the Grand Hotel in the City of Mexico, is a relaxing vacation here, after an absence of twenty years. He is a guest of Mr. and Miss Bixby. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abbot are en route here from Cuba. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tait and daughter of St. John, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crawford. Samuel McConkey, merchant tailor, has purchased the residence of the late J. C. Robertson on Union street, one of the most desirable residential properties in town, and will occupy it at an early date. Mr. R. T. Williams has concluded a deal with the Great Northern and returns to her home in Toronto this evening. The Calais street railway, under lease to this town, is doing excellent work. Races are to be held on the local track on Dominion Day. Service will be held in the Methodist church on Sunday next. The directors of the Deer Island and Campobello Steamboat Co. have practically decided to build or buy a new steamer to replace the Viking before another season. A new boiler is to be put on the boat at once. The Viking is rendering excellent service this summer, but is not large enough for the route. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are to enjoy a supper at the Todd farm, below Calais, tomorrow afternoon. St. Stephen is acquiring quite a Jewish colony. Three young men of that nationality are establishing a junk store at the corner of Eardly & Bridges stable on King street.

Mr. Foster, yesterday, directed the attention of the government to its failure to bring down the copy of the trade treaty with Japan. I noticed, said Mr. Foster, that the communication from Canada's agent, he cites special instances of where products from Canada are charged two and three times as much duty and sometimes more than those from other countries, thus making it absolutely impossible, it would seem to carry on trade in these products with Japan. He points out very strongly how detrimental it is to Canadian trade, and spoke of the difficulty about three weeks ago and the hon. minister said that he would bring down the treaty or make a statement as to the way in which it was being handled. He considered that the adoption or adherence to the treaty by Canada would be prejudicial. Here are actual prejudicial effects in commerce. What are the supposed difficulties or prospective troubles we may anticipate providing we do adhere to the treaty? Mr. Fielding—My hon. friend the minister of agriculture, (Mr. Fisher) who has more intimate personal acquaintance with that question has been giving the matter attention and will be able to make a statement on the subject, or he will bring down the papers at an early day.

THIS VETERAN GIVES REASONS WHY HE PINS HIS FAITH TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Worn Out With Chronic Kidney Disease—The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Banished His Pains. ACADIE SIDING, Kent Co., N.
