Crescent was one of the most successful ever held in Halifax. The decorations were on a most elaborate scale, the ball room being profusely decorated with flags and bunting. The walls were covered with white bunting, festooned with flags and designs made from light implements of war. At the northern end a hure star was displayed made of swords, tomahawks, revolvers, cleaning rods and cutlasses. A life buoy, studded with ministure lights formed the centre peice, and the handles of the cutlasses were so arranged inside the buoy as to form a sparking steel crown from which flashed a very powerful electric light. On the wall under the music balcony was a circle made of electric carbines and muse revolvers. Over the circle was the motio: "If you want peace prepare for war." Over the side entrance was a circle made from cutlasses, swords and cleaning rods while over the main entrance at the south east corner of the hall were two Nordenfeleit guns, and a first is etting. The ball was held on Trafalgar day. On the wall at the southern end of the room was a very large white life buoy suspended by a golden cord and on it gold was the inscription "Trafalgar, October 21, 1805. The supper room was elegantly decorated. Candelebra made of pistols were placed at both ends of the table and these were fashioned after the candle holders made by Napoleon while in captivity at St. Helena. through all its varying moods if you have your clothing interlined with Fibre Chamois. This wonderful fabric is so light that you never notice its presence in a garment till you get out into the wind and cold, then you realize that you are cosily warm even tho' lightly clad. Fibre Chamois tho' lightly clad. Fibre Chamols is a complete non-conductor of heat and cold, not the strongest wintry blast can penetrate it, nor can the natural warmth of the body escape through it—This explanation and the fact that it sells for 25c a yard gives the whole story, and easily proves that for health and comfort's sake you can't do without it.
