

Opening the New Rockies

MOUNT WARREN, ALBERTA

This is probably the first picture ever published of this magnificent unconquered mountain in the Maligne Lake section of Jasper Park, Alberta. It attains an altitude of 10,000 feet and offers, as additional attraction, a splendid glacier, which may be seen in the illustration swelling round the lesser peak, a little to the left of the centre of the photograph.

Mount Warren may be reached, easily, from Jasper, Alberta. An excellent trail leaves the new transcontinental line of the Canadian Northern Railway at that point. It leads from the town, and tent city, to mysterious Maligne Gorge, and on to Medicine Lake. At the latter place an adequate shelter has been built by the Jasper Park authorities, and a motor boat has been provided. Cruising is effected over the head of Medicine Lake and the Maligne River is followed to the lake of the same name. The return journey to Jasper may be made without retracing any portion of the outward route. Leaving Maligne Lake, the way lies, by Shovel Pass, over the Maligne Range. From the eastern entrance of the Pass, at an elevation of nearly 8,000 feet, a magnificent view of Mount Cavell, and of other snow-clad peaks to the number of almost a hundred, is to be had. The trail then leads down the foothills into the Athabasca Valley, and on to the destination at Jasper.

Mount Warren is but one of a group of magnificent mountains rendered accessible by the newest of Canadian cross-continent lines.

GRIT MACHINE IN VANCOUVER HAS BEEN FOUND GUILTY

Victoria, B. C., May 31.—The Vancouver election plugging committee closed the taking of testimony at noon today. The report was presented in the legislature at four o'clock and was adopted without comment or division. The House then adjourned until nine o'clock this evening, when formal dissolution occurred.

The report of the committee signed by the three Conservative members finds that an extensive conspiracy to "personate" was carried on, on behalf of the Liberal candidate in Vancouver. J. T. Scott is found by the committee to be responsible for the carrying out of the conspiracy. Scott said his staff were paid by the provincial Liberal organization, of which M. A. MacDonald was president and A. M. Pound, treasurer. Prior to the election Scott employed his staff to prepare lists for personating, and cards were handed to the personators with instructions to vote for MacDonald. H. H. Pearce, an employee, who was active in conveying the personators to the polls, was induced to go to Seattle by motor car.

There he was kept practically in dress for three weeks, in order to prevent him appearing before the committee. In view of the fact that one phase of the evidence connecting M. A. MacDonald personally is in dispute and is before the courts, the committee makes no finding thereon.

The trial of the charge of perjury laid by M. A. MacDonald against R. Godden will proceed tomorrow in the assize court.

didates met this afternoon to plan an offensive and defensive combination to combat the Roosevelt and Hughes amendment but the story was vigorously denied by representatives of all the candidates. Another report circulated around headquarters was to the effect that at least some of the candidates now in the field would formally withdraw before the convention meets.

Chicago hotels are gradually filling up with delegates and visitors to the convention and the lobbies of the Michigan Avenue hotels, where the candidates make their headquarters, are crowded with politicians and workers.

Chicago, May 31.—Members of the Republican National Committee will meet in the Coliseum at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning to hear forty contests, involving the right of sixty-two delegates to sit in the convention.

The committee will hold daily sessions, and expects to conclude its work Saturday, so that the temporary roll of delegates may be prepared by Secretary James B. Reynolds, of the National Committee. Four years ago the seats of nearly half of the delegates in the convention were in dispute, and the national committee was obliged to sit for more than three weeks to decide the contests.

Final plans for the convention were approved by the sub-committee of the committee on arrangements of the Republican National Committee, which held its last meeting today. The convention will be called to order eleven a.m. Wednesday, June 7, by Charles D. Hilles, of New York, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Mrs. A. Funk today opened headquarters for the American Woman Suffrage Association, to work for the insertion of a plank declaring for national women suffrage in the Republican platform.

"All we will ask is a simple declaration endorsing the proposal," explained Mrs. Funk.

It was reported that the campaign managers of four "favorite son" can-

SAYS 100,000 PARCELS EVERY WEEK TO BRITISH PRISONERS IN GERMANY

London, May 31 (5:53 p. m.)—Discussing in the House of Commons today, the condition of British prisoners in Germany, Baron Newton, under-secretary for foreign affairs, said the condition was much better than at the beginning of the war, and that it was unjustifiable to contend that Germany discriminated against British prisoners.

Moreover, Baron Newton added, it was cruel to suggest as had been done, that British prisoners were literally starved. Every week 100,000 parcels went from England to Germany, which was an average of three parcels per man per week. It was an exaggeration to say that without these parcels they would starve, because there were a million Russian prisoners in Germany who received no parcels.

A vast majority of the German people, said Baron Newton, were probably in a condition of comparative hunger owing to the British blockade, and prisoners naturally would share that hunger.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them.

Easily Acquired Knowledge. First Girl—What's biology mean? Second Girl—Why, it's the science of shopping, I suppose.

Shackleton Arrives Safely at Capital of Falkland Islands

London, June 1.—Lieutenant Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, has arrived safely at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands.

Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which had as its object the crossing of the Antarctic continent, from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea, started from England in August, 1914. Sir Ernest, with one section of the party, went to Buenos Aires and the other section to Tasmania. At Buenos Aires in October, 1914, Sir Ernest sailed for Weddell Sea. The other party also proceeded from Tasmania by the steamer Aurora for Ross Sea, where it was hoped Sir Ernest and his party would join it after crossing the continent.

Early in the present year the Aurora returned to Port Chalmers, New Zealand, having broken adrift in the ice on May 6, 1915. Eight of her men were ashore when the vessel broke away, and nothing had been heard from Shackleton and his companions at the Ross Sea base.

Port Stanley is the capital of the Falkland Islands, which lie in South Atlantic, off the east coast of Argentina.

The fact that the section of the expedition headed by Shackleton returned to its virtual point of departure means that the expedition failed in its primary object. This might have been due to difficulties encountered on the journey to the Pole, or the return of the expedition to South Atlantic may have resulted from failure to meet with the second section of the expedition proceeding from the opposite direction.

Owing to the drifting away of the Aurora, it would have been impossible for Shackleton to complete his journey by the way of the Australian route.

New York, May 31.—Arrangements are being made to ship to Long Island from England some of the pick of the polo pony stable of Lord Wimborne, who in 1914 brought a crack team over to the United States and challenged for the International Cup.

The string of ponies that came here for the International match, was one of the finest ever seen in a polo field. As Lord Wimborne and other British players will not appear for some years to come in International matches, it has been thought best by Lord Wimborne to dispose of the greater portion of his string.

J. Watson Webb, F. S. Van Stada and Devereux Milburn have recently purchased English polo ponies. James C. Cooley returned a few days ago with seven winners and several of the finest cross country hunters that have come from England for some time.

New York.—The sale of the H. B. Duray Estate horses imported from France took place in the paddock at Belmont Park prior to Saturday's races. The bidding was spirited from start, and so eager was fashionable breeders to get the stock that sixteen head of two-year-olds brought a total of $66,100, an average of a trifle more than $4,131 each. The sale indicated that there will be more breeders in the business at an early date.

Parrr, of Baltimore, bought Crimper, the star of the sale, for $16,500. After the purchase Mr. Parrr stated that he had bought the horse with the intention of racing him and then starting a breeding establishment with Crimper at the head. One of the principal bidders was A. J. Joyner, who bought four for M. L. and A. C. Schwartz, for whom Joyner will train them