Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Ouch This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnatiauthority, who claims that a few drop of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn dries up and iffts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from che's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

WHALE HUNTING IN SMALL CANOES.

Wooden-Handled Harpoon and Bomb Gun Used in Chase. Whale hunters do not all have to range the seas in ships waiting for the lookore in the crow's nest to how! "Thar she blows!"

How the Esquimo whalers capture the oceal leviathans almost on the shore is take the workers of the Episcopal Chu. th mission at Point Hope, Alaska, in reports on work which they expect to have alleged through the aid of the nation-wide campaign of the Episcopal Church now in progress. This campaign to mobilize the church's resources and extend its missions, religious education and social service at home and abroad contemplates greater activities among these dwellers of Uncle Sam's northern territory.

As the ice begins to break up in Spring the Esquimo men form themselves into canoe crews, each with a comilik or captain. Six or seven men compose a crew. They work on shares remaining constantly on duty through the whaling season for six or seven weeks. They take turns sleeping on a sled drawn up on the ice, with four or five men constantly on watch. When a whale is sighted, the crew making the discovery launches its canoe and makes for the victim's head. The sled drawn up on the ice, with four or five men constantly on watch. When a whale is sighted, the crew making the discovery launches its cance and makes for the victim's head. The whale cangt see directly abead because his eyes are in the sides of his head instead of in front.

On nearing the whale's head the combik, with a sweep of the paddle, sends the craft to the side of the leviathan. The boat leader throws a woodenhandled harpoon with a long line. To the harpoon a bomb-gun with a trigattached. It is released on percussion, and from six to ten seconds after the whale is harpooned the 12-inch bomb explodes in the whale's interior. As it dives to escape, its progress under water is marked by the seal bladders attached to the end of the line, which remain above water. The comilik then hoists a flag, which is a sign for the other cances to join in the hunt. If the whale is killed its body is drawn upon the edge of the ive and the whale bone extracted. In the mouth of one large whale are 375 slabs of balaena, or whalebone, attached to the upper jaw. The slabs are 12 inches and 11 feet long in the large species and weigh 3,000 pounds, worth about $3.25 a pound.

The Point Hope Esquimo ace good whale hunters, and the influence of the missionaries has been so marked that whaling velssels put in there to obtain part of their crews. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Artic explorer, also went to Point Hope to get men for the Karluk and other vessels of his little fleet on his last expedition into the frozen North because of the good reputation of the Esquimo there. The Episcopal Church hopes as a result of its nation-wide campaign to expand its various activities all over the world, to extend undertakings among the Alaskan Equimo—especially in the establishment of schools for which they are asking. Hospitals also are needed for there are many accidents a mong those who are engaged in whaling.—St. Paul News.

I was as proud as anything over it, and watched over it like a mother. I would start up after I had gone to bed and watch my husband to see that he didn't drop a nail file on its shiny surface, or set a glass of water where it would make the slightest mark. I didn't realize that I was acting the part of detective over my husband, and he took it more or less as a joke at first, for he was just as proud of our nice new things as I was. He used to say that I followed him round with a polishing rag and a dust pan and I did almost. "But the habit grew upon me until I flaved all day to have every thing at the highest pitch of eleanliness and I fretted all evening for fear my husband would scratch anything or spill ashes. I would watch this like a hawk, anticipating everything he intended to do if it threatened to bring any muss into the house. "One evening he returned from a walk very elated because a stray dog had followed him. I cried out in horror when he brought it into the sitting room. I had a vision of my sofa pillows all covered with dogs hair. My husband quietly took it out and put it at the front door, and sat silently down in his chair. I knew that his silence was more significant than words, but I didn't guess How seignificant. Alcoholic Insanity Disappears

Our Foremost Alienist Says It Has Now Practically Vanished

"CINCE the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared, says Dr. C. K. Clarke, Canada's foremost Alienist.

Dr. Clarke's statement to the Ontario Referendum Committee continues:

ALCOHOL is one of the important factors among the causes of insanity, especially indirectly. Since the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act certain forms of insanity in this province have practically disappeared.

"The abolition of the bar has undoubtedly had a wonderful effect in protecting the weaklings in the community from temptation and inevitable degradation.

"It is much too soon to determine how far-reaching the benefits of prohibition have been, but doubtless police and jail statistics will bear testimony as to the diminution of crime.

"The removal of the bar must be regarded with satisfaction by every right-thinking person in the country, especially by those who know how easily mental weaklings and neurotics fell into deplorable habits through its malign influence.

"It was not that these persons suffered alone, but that many of the next generations lost whatever chance they had of living down the curse of a bad heredity.

"Alcohol simply intensified the defects of the parent and thus made hopeless the lives of the children."

DR. C. K. CLARKE

The Menace of Insanity

"Insanity is the Mad Son of Alcohol, Idiocy is its Driveling Daughter," says Vance Thompson.

ONTARIO maintains 6,000 patients in the Insane Asylums at a cost of about $1,000,000 a year and an indirect cost of many millions more.

Ontario has one insane patient to every 417 peoplenot including the feeble-minded. Kansas, pioneer "dry." state of the West, has only one case to every 873 people.

The menace of insanity has alarmed government authorities and brought about the recent appointment of a National Committee for Mental Hygiene, of which Dr. C. K. Clarke is the Medical Director.

Read what he says:

"Since passage of the Ontario Temperance Act, Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared."

Next to "mental strain, overwork and worry," "Alcoholism" is the chief assigned cause of insanity, according to the yearly reports issued by the Ontario Government. Since the Ontario Temperance Act went into force private hospitals for alcoholics, "Gold Cures," etc., have been closed.

Remember what experts on insanity say when you answer the questions on the Referendum ballot and vote for sane legislation by marking your ballot with an X after each question under the word "No."

The Beret Highly Fvvored In Paris These Days-Huge CollapsibleCrownsofSoftFabric Above Small Roll Brims-ClippedOstrich is a Winter Trimming That Minds Not Wet Weather.

LL procrastination must come to an end now; it is high time from day to deep, making her summer headers "do" until she has definitely made up her mind what she wants in sutumn millinery must now face the question and buy something or other even if it is only a go-between hat to tide over until a more satisfactory one has been selected. And there seems to be pretty wide choice in the new millinery. There are shapes and styles to suit everybodyand every type; it will not be difficult to pick out a becoming fall hat this year.

Soft Beret Styles Becoming.

Paris is making a great vogde of the little draped turban called the bere and two hats of this type are pictured. One is suggestive of the tall Cossack turban with high draped veivet crown and close breast trimming of gree gree feathers. Grebe and hackle are much used for all-around trimming and nothing is more becoming than these soft feathery hands above the face. The Cossack turban is in gray and black—a medish combination this seaseh. More emphatically of the beret type is the velvet turban with olds and folds of soft material over and under a rather wide rolling britten that standing up from it separately. This beret is made of blue velvet and the cog feather that droops at one side is blue gray. Oddiy placed feathers and wings make the autumn hats unusual and distinctive. One never knows just where a feather wild appear next—slanding across the crown, shooting out from the brim or drooping over one ear and resting on the wearer's shoulder.

Huge Bows Of Lace Topple Over Brims

An instance of the oddly placed trimmings of the season is instance in the illustration showing a wide brimmed sailor adorned only with a mammeth lace bow, adroitly wired, and posed on the front of the brim, the lace loops projecting toward the front. Were this bow tied in a conventional manner and attached at one side of the crown the hat would not be half so chie; it is the odd and unusual position of the bow which gives the big hat its individual character and its smart distinction. As you have guessed, this big hat its black, and the bow is made of black lace.

Another large hat pictured is trimmed quite differently—with a garland of flowers flattened tight against the crown. Here again is the unusual rather than the conventional? Or dinary flowers in conventional arrangement would not be half so smart as these embroidered chenile postes that high the material of the crown. The hat is a drooping-brim sailor of the conventions with the crown. The hat is a drooping-brim sailor of the practice of th
