

labors of love are not to be forgotten. It seems as yesterday when Dr. McLeod was traversing the country on evangelistic tours, proclaiming the Gospel with a tongue of fire; when Mr. Wilson, all meekness and gentleness, was known as the "Apostle John" of Cape Breton; when young Farquharson well proved himself heir of his father for zeal, self-sacrifice and love to God and men. We are sure that, not only in Cape Breton, but in Pictou Presbytery and P. E. Island, this memorial will be welcomed."

St. Andrew's Manse, Sydney Mines, 1904.