Sir Starr Jameson used to tell this story of Mr. Andrew Carnegie. He was spending the night at Skibo Castle, and at dinner the author of "Triumph Democracy" had ridden his hobby very hard. "Monarchies were of no use," and all the rest of it. Later on, when the others had retired, "Dr. Jim" was invited by his host to a quiet hour in his study, to see some of his treasures. They were many, and his greatest was kept to the last. From his safe Mr. Carnegie produced a dainty box, and from it, in turn, a half-smoked cigar. "Well, and what is there in that?" asked Sir Starr in answer to Mr. Carnegie's triumphant gesture. "That," was demagogue's reply, "is the remains of a cigar which King Edward smoked once when here at Skibo."—"Morning Post," London.

The Windrow

The town of Framingham, Mass., says Pictorial Review, has, in three years, by deliberate and systematic effort, made itself the healthiest spot in the world, and is now known as the "Health Town." It consists of 16,000 inhabitants. The first step was to set up a Community Health Station, with committee to act as "go-betweens" for the health workers and the community. The second step was to get a health census, taken by volunteers who made a house-to-house canvass, after which a clinic was held and an examination made of practically every citizen. This was not compulsory, but was splendidly responded to. No charge was made for examination by the experts. Medical treatment was advised for those who could afford it and supplied for those who could not. A full-time physician and two nurses were placed in charge of the public schools, regular medical and dental clinics established for the children, and hot lunches supplied during the winter months. Other items were a summer health camp for undernourished children, a pre-natal clinic for expectant mothers, and the establishment of hospital rooms for the largest factories. A sanitary survey of all wells was made, and garbage disposal, mosquito and fly extermination were made subjects of investigation. In addition a health campaign was carried on through pamphlets, placards, lectures and newspaper articles. The expense, by using as much volunteer help as possible, has been about $2.00 per year per capita. The results, already, have been very marked, and from all over the United States, local health boards are sending "pilgrims" to learn the methods

Veterans Protest.

A large number of veterans of the Army and Navy in No. 1 Military District have sent in a protest to District Headquarters against the indiscriminate wearing of the King's uniform in public, also against the wearing of symbols of service, wounded stripes, etc., by those not entitled to wear them. Recently young boys, young girls and women have been wearing service badges, ribbons, etc., without realizing what these articles represent. The veterans say that the indiscriminate wearing of these badges of service tends to belittle the individual who alone may be allowed to wear them, and adversely reflects on the legitimate veteran. They ask that the attention of the public be called to this matter and their co-operation requested that the King's uniform be worn only by those who have authority to wear it and only on suitable occasions, and secondly, that the wearing of service badges, badges, medal ribbons, wounded stripes, etc., by those who have not seen service, cease.

Compulsory Saving

How many of us, young people especially, can systematically save money? It is so perilously easy to fritter away small sums.

Here is seen one of the most valuable functions of Life Insurance. A Life Policy compels systematic saving, or the benefit of previous payments is lost. It is well to recognize one's limitations, and if only for the sake of saving money to advantage, it is wisdom to insure.

The Great-West Life Policies provide Insurance on most attractive terms. Their wide popularity is based on the solid foundations of low premium rates and remarkably high profit returns to Policyholders. Details gladly given on request.
